BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Newspaper men filed into the President's office today expecting to hear a presidential pronunciamento on the Roosevelt drouth policy, but instead they heard only that the administration is not changing one whit in its agricultural program.

Everything is progressing, the President declared, in exact conformance with the program started a year and a half ago, and the only effect of the drouth, as he sees it, is to accomplish in a single year what the Wallace-Tugwell crop curtailment program was expected to accomplish in two or three years.

Declares War on Profiteers.

The President declared war on profiteers and repeated his oft expressed declaration of war on speculators, particularly those speculators who are operating in grains and other foodstuffs on the Board of Trade at Chicago.

But he insisted there was plenty of food in the country; that there would be no shortage of food; that food prices had thus far gone up only 6 per cent since a year ago; that he did not expect them to go up inordinately next year.

He indicated that the immediate problem before him and his advisers is to devise a permanent program for federal control of agricultural surpluses, so as to create a balanced production and a balanced carryover of crops which would keep prices at levels fair to both farmers and consumers.

As to what steps should be taken to set up this program, and what action should be planned against profiteers or speculators, Mr. Roosevelt was most vague.

Asked twice just what would be done against price kiters, Mr. Roosevelt replied that there were plenty of things he could do. He denied needing any new legislation, saying that his present legal powers were ample.

Control Over Surpluses.

On the matter of maintaining "reasonable" surpluses of agricultural commodities over periods of years, Mr. Roosevelt declared this was still in process of planning. But it is freely known that he and his agricultural advisers are charting out a scheme for imposing a rigid federal control over surpluses, either by loaning federal funds to farmers and keeping stores on thousands of farms under padlock or by outright purchase of surpluses by the government for storage in government granaries.

It has also been indicated at the department of agriculture that Mr. Wallace favors the extension of licensing powers over all sellers of foodstuffs as the means of preventing profiteering. Under such powers the government could try to limit profits on foodstuffs to a "reasonable" rate. Discouragement of such a theory is voiced by lawyers who declare it to be impossible of enforcement and of the most dubious constitutionality.

No Drouth Statement.

After declaring to newspaper men that despite the promises of Secretary Wallace and the White House secretariat that a general statement of drouth policy would be forthcoming at today's conference he had no intention of making such a statement, the President was subjected to a barrage of questions on the subject.

He then declared that food prices were going up in the headlines of newspapers—which he called an unconscious effort to instill fear—and that actually prices of food have gone up very little.

Voicing a belief that the great majority of dealers in food are decent Americans who will not be chiselers and profiteers, the President said means would be found to deal with the miscreants. Then he declared that the department of labor statistics

BROTHER HEARS FROM KIDNAPER OF RICH BREWER

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (Thursday).—[Special.]—Contact with the kidnapers of the millionaire Canadian brewer John S. Labatt, who is being held for a $150,000 ransom, was made early today by his brother, Hugh Labatt. Three telephone conversations were held with the abductors.

Shortly after the third call, which took place at 3 a. m., the corridors of the hotel in which Hugh Labatt is making his headquarters were cleared of newspaper reporters. It was indicated that the brother might leave his room for a rendezvous with the kidnapers.

Hurry to Brother's Rooms.

The first two calls, which followed closely upon one another, brought snatches of dramatic conversation to those listening outside. The first call brought the inspectors of the Ontario provincial police hurriedly to the brother's room.

"I can't get out alone this morning," Labatt was heard to cry in his second conversation. "The corridors outside my room are full of people."

Police officials who listened attentively while the first two conversations were being carried on used the term "New York gangsters" in referring to the kidnapers. They spoke of a man named "Massey from Detroit" as the gang's leader.

The first call apparently consisted of a request from the abductors for Hugh Labatt to meet them with the ransom money.

It's 200 Miles Away.

"I can't get there until 2:30," Labatt said. "That's 200 miles away."

This time obviously was wrong for the kidnapers, for they hung up for a few minutes and then called back again. The time "5:45" then was mentioned several times, apparently the time of the new meeting.

Chief Inspector Miller of the provincial force held a hurried conversation with Chief of Police D. C. Draper of Toronto and they both urged Labatt not to meet the kidnapers. But Labatt, who had asked the kidnapers: "Will I see my brother?" during one of the conversations, ignored their advice after the third call and by his action of clearing the corridors showed that he intended to meet the men somewhere.

Enlist Aid of U. S. Police.

The police search for the abductors took on international aspects earlier in the night when the Ontario police enlisted the aid of American authorities in a checkup of all fast boats used to run whisky and beer across the Michigan-Ontario border.

The view is strongly entertained that the brewer has been whisked across the American border and that the rendezvous with the kidnapers is likely to be held somewhere in the United States.

Pleads to Be "Let Alone."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15.—An appeal to the public and police to "for God's sake leave me free to make contact with the kidnapers" was made today by Hugh Labatt, who is in Toronto seeking to deal with the gangsters who yesterday seized John S. Labatt, head of the Labatt Brewing company, and are holding him for $150,000 ransom.

Hugh Labatt, brother of the kidnaped man, said that, with the 24 hour time limit given by the abductors ending at noon today, his predicament is baffling. Although he met the orders of the kidnapers to bring $150,000 in cash to the Royal York hotel in Toronto this morning, all approaches to his room were so infested with people interested in the case that it was hopeless to look for a contact, he said.

Report New Mediator.

Members of the family were reported preparing some fresh avenue of approach for the kidnapers. Verschoyle Cronin, London insurance broker and nearest relative outside the Labatt family circle, denied reports that he had been named a special intermediary. He said, however, the kidnapers could treat with himself or other close connections of the family, including Maj. Gen. S. C. Mewburn of Hamilton, former minister of national defense. Maj. Gen. Mewburn is an uncle of John and Hugh Labatt and a member of the directorate of the brewery.

Turn Eyes to U. S.

Gen. Mewburn came to London yesterday to attend a directors' meeting for which John Labatt had arranged

THE CHANGING WORLD

When you remember how the war victors carved up and looted Austria in 1919—

it seems somewhat surprising to note how solicitous they now seem to be about Austria.

When we used to witness an event we knew perfectly well we had seen it.

Now we can't be certain whether we really saw it, instead of hearing it vividly described by a radio broadcaster.

Thirty years ago ambition would point the way to many careers.

Now you have to have something besides ambition, but there are dozens of new careers offering new opportunities.

2 Die, 3 Hurt in Crash of Bus and Auto

Two persons were killed and three injured, two of them critically, when a Greyhound bus and an auto containing the five victims collided at Dempster and Ferris streets in Niles Center about 2 a. m. today.

Two of the three injured, all of whom were taken to the Des Plaines Emergency hospital, were reported to be dying. The dead included a young man and a young woman. All the victims appeared to be between 23 and 26 years old.

Only one clew to the identity of the dead and injured was found, a card on the fatally injured young man bearing the name Snow and the fact that the license had been issued to the Master Dental Laboratory company, 162 North State street.

TWO FAMILIES CLAIM MYSTERY BOY AT HOSPITAL

After having once been identified as a runaway St. Louis boy, the "mystery boy" at the Billings Memorial hospital was identified last night a second time—as Michael Joseph Hickstein, 14 years old, 2900 South Wells street.

The second identification was made by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hickstein, and by his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Hosman, 668 West 54th street, with whom he had been visiting when he presumably fell from the rear bumper of an automobile Sunday while "hitching" a ride and fractured his skull. His condition is critical.

Previously Mrs. Eva Schuknekecht, 1460 West Division street, had identified the boy as her brother, Kenneth Warmont, 13 years old, who has been missing since Friday from his St. Louis home. She admitted to police, however, that she wasn't quite sure, as she had not seen him for three years.

The Hicksteins explained they had thought the boy was staying with his aunt for an extended vacation, while the aunt told police she had believed the boy had returned home. Neither had checked with the other as to his whereabouts until yesterday.

Albert B. Dick, Manufacturer, Is Dead at 78

Albert Blake Dick Sr., Chicago manufacturer and inventor of the mimeograph, died shortly before midnight last night in his home at 870 West Deerpath road, Lake Forest. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Dick had been suffering from heart disease for more than a year and last week he became gravely ill. At his bedside for the last five days have been Mrs. Dick, four sons, and a daughter. He had been partly conscious since Saturday.

First in Implement Business.

Born in Bureau county and educated in the public schools, Mr. Dick received his early business training with manufacturers of agricultural implements in Galesburg and Moline. He entered the lumber business in Chicago in 1882 and shortly afterward he invented the mimeograph and originated stencil printing.

On May 5 Mr. Dick celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of A. B. Dick company, of which he was president until last spring. He was a pioneer resident of Lake Forest and as a trustee of Lake Forest college he was instrumental in its development.

Last January, while in Miami, Fla., for his health he suffered a heart attack and was reported to be in a critical condition.

Four Sons Among Survivors.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Henrietta Mathews of Galesburg; his sons, A. B. Jr. of 1050 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest; Edison of 612 East Woodland road, Lake Forest; C. Mathew of Washington, D. C., and Sheldon of New York City; his daughter, Mrs. Thomas W. Swan of New Haven, Conn., and a brother, Herman, of California.

Mr. Dick was active in civic and social affairs of Chicago and Lake Forest and was a member of many clubs.

"But there are ladies present," Johnson said, closing the incident.

Dr. Beebe Sees a Monster on 3,028 Ft. Dive

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A mysterious deep sea fish, 20 feet long and illuminated by myriads of tiny lights glittering like a diamond tiara, was seen today by Dr. William Beebe and Otis Barton, American scientists, during a dive in their "bathysphere" in which they achieved a new depth record.

Sealed in their two ton iron ball the scientists spent five minutes at a depth of 3,028 feet, beating their record of 2,510 feet last Saturday by 518 feet and passing their goal of half a mile by 388 feet.

At 2,750 feet in the descent Beebe observed a large gray shadow. Signaling for a halt, he tried to distinguish what appeared to be an unknown denizen of the deep. He said he was unable to identify it.

Takes Movie of Monster.

It was assumed the lights around the strange creature were from phosphorescent parasites. Dr. Beebe said he thought the monster was the largest he had ever seen in a deep sea dive.

Barton exposed 100 feet of motion picture film in an attempt to photograph the fish, but results were uncertain. All deep sea creatures scuttle away when exposed to the glare of the searchlight played upon them from the bathysphere.

The monster aroused the scientists' curiosity and they said they were anxious to study other specimens in shallower dives. Dr. Beebe said the farther down he went the larger the living creatures seemed to be. There are to be no more attempts this year, however, at reaching a mile depth.

Sealed in Sphere 2¾ Hours.

Today's dive was made at approximately the same spot where they went down four days ago. The daring observers of undersea life were prevented from going deeper only by Capt. James Sylvester, master of the barge from which they dropped into the sea. Capt. Sylvester ordered that no more cable be paid out, although 47 feet remained on the drum.

The scientists were sealed in their big sphere for 2 hours and 46 minutes, 2 hours and 41 minutes of which were occupied in going down and coming up.

At the maximum depth there was 19 tons' pressure on each window of the bathysphere and the pressure per square inch on the body of the device was half a ton.

Later in the afternoon Barton and Gloria Hollister, associate of Dr. Beebe, made a 1,208 foot dive, the third descent for Miss Hollister. She made notes on squids and fishes.

An American flag and a pennant of the National Geographic society were fastened to the cable just above the sphere and thus taken farther down in the sea than any flag has ever been.

John Teevan, Jocelyn Crane, and other members of the Beebe expedition will make dives in the device later in the week.

ROBBERS POSING AS POLICE SHOOT VICTIM TO DEATH

Attempting to resist three men who were apparently intending to hold up his party, Frank Toner, 38 years old, 4518 South Marshfield avenue, a former street car motorman, last night was shot and killed by one of the men.

Toner, with Chester Machnikowski, 25 years old, 2731 West 36th street, and Helen and Margaret Krone, were sitting in an automobile in front of the girls' home at 4858 South Bishop street when a car with five men in it drew up alongside. Three men got out and announced:

"We're police officers."

Ordered to get out, Toner refused. He struggled when one of the men tried to pull him out and the man shot him five times. He died an hour later at the Southtown hospital. The men fled without completing the holdup.

COACHES TO RUN ON SCHEDULE, COMPANY SAYS

Employés of the Chicago Motor Coach company who are members of an American Federation of Labor union last night called a strike against the company, starting at 4:30 a. m. today, when the first buses leave their garages. The company, which says the union represents less than 5 per cent of its 1,260 employés, announced that it will operate its system, transporting 200,000 passengers daily, as usual.

The strike is the climax of a four months' fight between the company and the union, which was the cause of the national labor relations board's recommending recently that the company lose its NRA Blue Eagle for refusal to reinstate 24 members of the union whom it dismissed. The company declares it discharged the men for violation of safety rules, not because they are members of the union.

Gen. Johnson Urges Inquiry.

A few hours before the formal announcement of the strike Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, made a recommendation in Washington that the whole case be reopened. He urged that investigators be sent to Chicago to examine the company's contention that 95 per cent of its employés desire to be represented for collective bargaining purposes by the Chicago Motor Coach fraternity, a company union.

The membership of the federation of labor union authorized its executive board to call the strike at a meeting Tuesday night in Car Men's hall, Ashland avenue and Van Buren street. Last night the executive board made the formal announcement.

Ralph Stoltzman, president of the union, issued a statement asserting that the strike had been called only after the union had exhausted all other means of settling its controversy with the company. Recognition of the union by the company is the principal point at issue, Stoltzman said.

Coaches to Run, Official Says.

The only comment made by Benjamin Weintraub, vice president of the company—who has been in active charge of operations since the president, John A. Ritchie, was injured in an automobile accident a few weeks ago—was that the company would operate on schedule today.

Plans for picketing the five garages of the coach company in a peaceful manner were made during the evening by the executive board of the union drivers at a meeting in Car Men's hall. The picketing is to be done, according to the plans, by 25 men discharged by the company.

Police Assigned to Garages.

The police last night were making preparations to prevent violence. Capt. Ira McDowell, chief of the uniformed force, assigned squads and also patrolmen to each of the company's five garages. These are at 5211 Cottage Grove avenue, 4533 Wilcox street, 4211 Diversey avenue, 1124 Rosemont avenue, and 4711 Ravenswood avenue. Other patrolmen were held in reserve at nearby police stations.

In addition, policemen will be posted at strategic points along the bus routes. They will be reinforced by squad cars from district stations and from the state's attorney's office. These will patrol the routes and escort buses if that becomes necessary.

Background of Strike Call.

The organization which called the strike is local 1022 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America. Chicago street car and elevated lines employés are members of other locals of the same organization. William Taber, international secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated association, has been active in assisting the organizers of local 1022.

At the Tuesday night meeting of the local Taber is reported to have told the members that they would have the moral support of the street car and elevated unions. There was no mention, however, according to state's attorney's investigators, of a sympathetic strike by these unions, which, if it took place, would tie up the city's local transportation system.

Efforts to organize the bus employés have been going on since the national industrial recovery act went into force in June, 1933. They were intensified after the motor coach company signed the NRA code for the transit industry, which contained the usual clause guaranteeing employés in the industry the right to organize for collective bargaining with their employers.

Virtually since the organization of the motor coach company eleven years ago its employés have been members of the fraternity. This was a mutual benefit organization, through which employés received death benefits, sick benefits, free medical care, and loans without interest.

Until the coming of the NRA the management held a majority of the positions on the fraternity board of trustees, although company officials maintain that for some years they left the deliberations almost entirely to the employé representatives. More than a year ago, however, the management representatives withdrew, the employés elected additional trustees, and the fraternity became a full fledged union. The company has since negotiated a wage contract with it.

This action, however, did not stop attempts to organize the federation of labor union. Just how successful these organization attempts have been is hotly disputed between the company and the union. Company officials charge that in addition to the 24 employés which have been dismissed, the union has only about a score of members still on the company rolls.

Claim of the Union.

In announcing the strike last night, Stoltzmann asserted that the union has signed up more than half of the company's employés. The largest attendance at a union meeting has been 67, according to a count made by state's attorney's investigators, but the union officials say that most of their members have been warned to stay away from meetings until the strike starts, for fear they would be discharged because of their affiliation.

It was upon such a charge by the union that the company became embroiled last April with NRA officials. Local 1022 complained to the Chicago regional labor board that 15 of its members, Stoltzmann among them, had been discharged because they had joined this union. Such action is forbidden to employers by section 7A [collective bargaining clause] of the National Industrial Recovery act.

The company denied that union affiliations had had anything to do with the dismissal of the men, declaring they were fired for violating the company's safety rules.

Board's Jurisdiction Denied.

While denying the union's charges, the company refused to participate in the hearing before the regional labor board. It asserted, and has continued to assert throughout the controversy, that under the powers granted it by law, the board is limited to efforts at mediation and conciliation between employer and employés, and that there was no controversy between the company and the fraternity, which the company holds is the proper representative organization of its employés.

After hearings on the union charges, the regional labor board ordered the company to reinstate the dismissed employés, 15 in number at that time, on pain of losing its Blue Eagle if it refused.

While the company did not present evidence in its own defense, having denied the jurisdiction of the board, the fraternity sent witnesses to the labor board hearings. President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, then chairman of the board, gave them but a short hearing, stating that the union's charges were against the company, not the fraternity.

Removal of Blue Eagle Urged.

Subsequently the finding of the regional labor board was reviewed and approved by the national labor board in Washington, and then by the national labor relations board, created by congress to supersede the national labor board.

The national labor relations board sent its recommendation that the company lose the Blue Eagle to Gen. Johnson ten days ago for action by the NRA compliance division. Yesterday Gen. Johnson instructed A. R. Glancy, field compliance administrator, to suggest to Lloyd Garrison, chairman of the national labor relations board, that an investigator be sent to Chicago to examine the company's contention that 95 per cent of its employés are satisfied with representation by the fraternity and do not want to join local 1,022.

In support of this contention the company has forwarded to NRA officials copies of a petition signed by 1,178 of its 1,260 employés stating that they wish to be represented by the fraternity.

Controversy Over Petition.

Company officials and the fraternity trustees say that this petition originated with the men themselves, without any suggestion from the management. The union heads charge that employés were coerced into signing it.

During the labor board hearings the number of discharged employés who belong to local 1022 increased from 15 to 24. The union members who have been fired declare that the safety violations with which they were charged were in many cases frameups, and that the real reason for dismissal was their union affiliation. They say that aside from union members the company has dismissed only one other employé during the last four months.

Company officials say that few employés were dismissed who are not now members of the union, but they contend that a number of the men who were dismissed did not join the union until after they were fired, and that they joined in the hope of getting their jobs back through intervention of the NRA labor boards.

Statement by Stoltzman.

"The company claims that its employés have chosen the Chicago Motor Coach fraternity to represent them," Stoltzman said last night, "but there never has been an open, free election held among the men to determine whether the so-called company union or our own Amalgamated association—which we contend is in the majority—shall have the right to act as spokesman for the motor coach drivers. The company has used every means to suppress our bona fide, legitimate organization, and has spied upon, harrassed, and discharged drivers with excellent service records simply because they believed they could join a union of their own choosing and their rights would be protected by Section 7A of the National Industrial Recovery act."

The union served a series of demands on the company on May 17, which it is seeking to enforce through the strike. Besides recognition of the union, they include reinstatement of the discharged employés, wage increases, an eight hour day with time and a half for overtime, a six day week for every driver except those on the extra list, and provision that on 60 per cent of the weekday and Saturday runs the driver shall work eight consecutive hours, and that on the remainder he shall be given an eight hour work period within thirteen consecutive hours.

All of these demands, except that for recognition, the union is willing to submit to arbitration, its officials announced.

SEE U. S. ORDER FOR MINNEAPOLIS EMPLOYES' VOTE

Firms Ask Roosevelt and Board to Act.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Orders from the national labor relations board authorizing an employés' election in the 166 firms involved in the Minneapolis truck strike are expected here from Washington tomorrow.

The result of the balloting may decide the future of the strike. Employers seem confident that their workmen will not vote to name the union as their agent in collective bargaining. On the other hand, the union has insisted that an election of those on the pay roll on July 16, when the present long drawn out controversy began, will bring them an overwhelming vote of confidence.

A long wire was sent to President Roosevelt by the employers today, in which they recited the history of the first strike in May and the current one, now in its fifth week. They insisted that Gov. Floyd B. Olson has instituted martial law solely to force them to accept a peace plan abhorrent to them.

Clarification Is Seen.

That elections will clarify this long drawn out struggle is agreed on all sides. It is possible that voting can be held before the end of the week in each firm if the formal order is issued tomorrow.

The union has demanded elections in the 166 establishments since the beginning of the strike. They were also recommended by the mediators, but the employers insisted that only about thirty firms had had any labor trouble and declined to accede to balloting in all.

Today the employers asked that elections be held in all firms because "the situation demands they be held in the public interest," they told Mr. Roosevelt.

The union withheld comment upon the demand of the employers, but it was predicted that they want only employés on the pay rolls as of July 16, when the strike began, to be permitted to vote. They may also ask that the men vote as a group or by industries rather than in the individual firms.

Expect U. S. Representative.

Details of the elections are in the hands of the labor board. A representative will probably come here to direct the voting. The question or questions to be placed upon the ballot will also come under the board's jurisdiction.

The board has the power to examine the books of both the union and the firms to determine who has a right to vote.

In the message to the President, th employers declared that the union "does not actually represent our employés," and seeks only to tie up Minneapolis, as it did in May, in the first strike, and again during the present walkout.

Hits at Communists.

"The union," the wire read, "is directed by officers and leaders who are openly communists. By false propaganda, these leaders, ignoring the labor board order, incited a second strike which is still on."

Referring to the martial law instituted by Gov. Olson, the employers asserted that "by his order, permits to operate businesses are being issued only if and when employers in Minneapolis, even those who had no part in the May strike, accept and agree to be bound by the mediators' peace proposal.

"Injunction suits in the federal court failed to give employers relief against these coercive measures, although the opinion of the federal judges upheld the position of the employers as to this method being coercive, but rested their decision upon the statement that constitutional rights had to yield to military rule."

"Minneapolis industry," the telegram concluded, "requests that the power of the national government be now asserted to compel a settlement of the strike on terms that are decent, reasonable, and are within the issues involved. Many firms have been forced to close, thereby forcing thousands more employés out of work who are directly involved in this strike.

"Employés in affected firms have demanded elections. Their employers have consented."

IGNORE WARNING BY NRA; STREET SIGNS ORDERED

Though the low bid for the contract to make 46,000 new street signs in Chicago was in violation of the NRA code, a committee of city officials yesterday signed an order awarding the contract to the offending company.

The low bid of 32 cents a sign was made by the Day-Brite company several weeks ago. Later the company notified the city that it had been warned by the code authorities its price was too low. It offered to withdraw the bid.

But a special committee, appointed by Mayor Kelly, concluded that since the code authority had not notified the city, there was no alternative but to sign the contract. The company now is expected to proceed with the terms of the contract.

MARKSMAN GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE SUPPOSED VICTIM

Robert Taub, 3303 North Lamon avenue, who is being detained by Morton Grove county highway police for questioning in connection with the accidental shooting of Andrew Zulner, 34 years old, 1422 Melville place, last night gave his blood to save Zulner's life.

Zulner was shot in the abdomen while Taub and John Lintz, 550 Surf street, were shooting at a target in the forest preserve on the Des Plaines river near Park Ridge. He was taken to Columbus Memorial hospital in a critical condition.

When it was learned that Dr. Siegfried Jackson had decided upon a blood transfusion Taub obtained permission from the police to donate the blood needed to save his supposed victim.

Minneapolis Residents Learn to Carry Their Own Bundles

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15.—After enduring the hardships of the truck strike for more than a month, citizens of Minneapolis have become reconciled to the curtailments and through sheer necessity accommodation has become a part of their daily lives.

Thus the "cash and carry" method of merchandising is enjoying probably its most thorough test since the phrase went into the language; bootlegging of commodities is already a commonplace, and the surreptitious movement of bulky goods at night is general.

They Don't Like It.

This does not mean that the population is mollified. The longer they are put to inconveniences the madder they get. When Mrs. R. was forced to visit four grocery stores seeking an armload of sweet corn, found none, and was forced to make a long trip to the temporary produce market where she paid a fancy price for it, she went home plenty sore.

Retail grocery deliveries have been resumed now, but that hasn't helped a great deal, for the dealers cannot go to the wholesale houses to replenish their empty shelves.

Many school lads on vacation filled their pockets with coins during the weeks grocery deliveries were not made by the simple process of hanging around the corner store and piping a "Carry your parcels, lady?" when some overburdened housewife struggled out of the screen door and began a weary trek home in the summer sunshine.

Store Stocks Depleted.

The results of a canvass today seemed to indicate that practically every store ran out of something. Canned goods have been tied up in the warehouses. Fresh meats were something of a problem for a time, although the smoked variety held out pretty well, it was said.

Purchases in the downtown department stores fell off considerably. This was reflected by street car revenues, generally the first index of a reduction in trade. They are off about $3,000 a day.

Clothing, furniture and bulky goods have suffered most in the larger stores, for they could not be delivered.

Orders for future delivery are stacked in these establishments. And the people who have waited a long time to afford a new icebox, a chair or some other piece of furniture are chafing because they cannot get it. Those who have automobiles have been making trucks out of their back seats and bringing their goods home, whenever possible, regardless of martial rule or union pickets. This is often done at night, with a blanket covering the offending merchandise. Families with children have errand boys at their disposal, and this has cut into fishing and swimming time at no small expense of juvenile tempers.

Order Halt on Auto Deliveries.

A restrictive order which will further inconvenience citizens was issued by the military today following a conference between Gov. Floyd B. Olson and representatives of the strikers. The strikers claimed that many merchants were "cheating" on the truck embargo by making deliveries in their private automobiles. The new order prohibits such deliveries.

Some laundries, for example, have been trying to serve their customers by delivering clean clothes in their autos, generally driving into alleys and carrying the bundles to the back doors. If the military can catch up with violators, citizens will have both to deliver and call for their wash.

St. Paul Merchants Profit.

St. Paul merchants have profited from the curtailments in Minneapolis. Only ten miles away, it is twenty minutes by car. Exasperated customers often take a pleasant drive and buy what they want when it is not readily obtainable in Minneapolis.

Most of the big transfer houses haven't done a nickel's worth of business, save in interstate shipments, in a month. It was difficult to obtain an estimate of the amount of business lost, but it will run well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, perhaps millions.

The July decline in volume of business, according to bank figures, was most marked in sales in department stores. The index of sales decreased from 71 in June to 61 in July. Carloading fell from 66 in June to 61 in July. Because the strike began July 16, the bank figures at the end of August will give a better picture of the fall in trade.

LAWYER BEATEN BY FARM GROUP AT A TAX SALE

Suffers Cuts on Head in Fracas.

Caruthersville, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A group of farmers severely beat an attorney for a committee of drainage district bondholders today, then watched the owners of 13 farms bid in their property at a public tax sale not attended by the lawyer.

The victim, Charles L. Waugh, St. Louis, was knocked unconscious, received four cuts on the head, but after treatment was reported not in a critical condition.

Sherif S. E. Juden, who conducted the sale following the attack, said Waugh told him he could not identify the men responsible for the beating. No arrests had been made. About 150 men were in or around the courthouse at the time of the assault.

Thirteen Farms Are Sold.

The tax sale disposed of the thirteen farms for about one-tenth of their value, the sherif said. One 400 acre tract was bid in at $178.50. Sale prices adhered closely to the costs in each case.

Waugh said he was in the sherif's office on the first floor of the Pemiscot county courthouse when the sherif left to open Circuit court in a room on the third floor. When Waugh sought to follow the sherif, he said he was accosted by several men in the hallway.

"If you go on with this you are going to get the hell beat out of you," he said he was told after he admitted he intended to bid on property at the tax sale.

A moment later, the attorney related, several men seized him and beat him unconscious.

Sherif Halts Disturbance.

Sherif Juden said he heard the disturbance, hurried to the first floor of the building, and, upon observing the attorney on the floor, asked, "Who did this?"

"After no one answered, I asked Waugh if he could identify the men who beat him," the sherif said, "and he told me he couldn't."

Sales of the farms today were made to satisfy tax judgments obtained by drainage districts.

Farmers in the area have organized a "Taxpayers' league," which opposes payment of the drainage district taxes. Members assert county and state taxes have been made on a fair assessment, but that drainage district bondholders refuse to share losses suffered by the farmers in depression years.

400 Stop Iowa Sale.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—A sherif's sale on the farm of Charles Bush near Moville in Woodbury county was stopped today by 400 farmers. The sherif had been ordered to sell Bush's personal property to satisfy a judgment of $1,320 held by Hellmutt Loschewski for back wages.

The crowd was comprised mostly of Bush's neighbors who did not approve of Loschewski's claim.

Swanson Sues Nash and Sweitzer Over Back Pay

Former State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday filed a petition in the Circuit court seeking a writ of mandamus to compel County Treasurer Nash and County Clerk Sweitzer to pay him $2,217 he alleges is due him as salary. County Controler Michael J. O'Connor said the money represents the former state's attorney's deduction in the 15 per cent economy cut taken by county employés in 1931.

Window Broken by Bargain Sale Crowd; Girl Is Killed

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Impatient crowds, waiting for the doors to open on a department store bargain sale today, surged forward. A heavy plate glass window shattered. Cut in many places, Miss Laverne Wilkins, 22, was rushed to a hospital. She died there tonight from loss of blood.

OFFICIAL BRINGS KOHLER OFFERS TO PARLEY HERE

Kohler, Wis., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Carl Steffensen, secretary of the regional labor board, today received the answers from opposing sides of the Kohler labor controversy to the secret proposal which arose out of two days' conference in Chicago last week.

The answers were sealed, Mr. Steffensen said. He did not even read them before he left for Chicago for a conference there. The proposal submitted by the conference, with the answers, probably will be made public tomorrow, he said.

The situation in this village has not changed outwardly for more than a week. The state guards still are here, while only a minimum of pickets keeps marching before the Kohler plant, which is not in operation. By agreement with the strikers, however, power is kept up to pump water for the residents of the village.

Steffensen arrived at 6 o'clock this morning and received labor's reply.

The answers came from the union's counsel, David Rabinowitz, and from the company. The board official made no effort to bring the opposing interests together here.

If the contents of the two secret messages Steffensen is carrying to Chicago fail to open the way to end the danger of riots here, it is expected Mr. Steffensen tomorrow may also announce dates for a new conference.

Members of the Chicago conference board besides Steffensen are D. M. Compton, representing industry; William Spencer of the University of Chicago, chairman of the board, and Samuel Levin, representing labor.

MAYOR AND WIFE STOP FOR RAID; TOUR BIG STILL

Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly were taken on a tour of an elaborate and illegal alcohol still at 3632 Cottage Grove avenue last night when they happened to pass as a police raid was in progress.

Police had come to the flat in response to a report that a man had been shot there, and attracted by the large number of squad cars in front of the building, the mayor and his wife halted.

They were escorted inside by Detective Neil Rourke, who showed them the 100 gallon still with seven burners, the mechanical contrivances to steal gas and electricity, and the huge barrels of mash. Mayor Kelly looked at the unwholesome mash and remarked:

"I wouldn't drink that stuff."

2 GUNMEN SHOOT AND SLUG OWNER OF BARBER SHOP

Nattalis Passaro, 56 years old, operator of a cut rate barber shop at 4532 Wallace street, was slugged and shot by two men who entered the shop yesterday afternoon. Witnesses told police that a third man waited at the wheel of a small sedan and drove the gunmen north in Wallace street.

Passaro was shaving a customer when the two men entered. One of the gunmen struck the barber with a pistol and the other fired a shot into Passero's body at close range.

The customer fled with the lather still on his face. Police were seeking him to learn what the gunmen said to Passaro before the shooting. Police were stationed at Passaro's bed in Mercy hospital to question him when he regains consciousness. Physicians said that his condition is serious.

Additional Mail Service for City Starts Today

Additional mail service will be placed in operation in Chicago today, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen announced yesterday. Thirty-five substitute carriers have been given regular positions and their places filled by additional substitutes. The same plan has been followed in regard to 22 clerks in the delivery division, 13 clerks in the registry division, and eight laborers.

NAVY ORDERING 24 WARSHIPS; 4 ARE CRUISERS

Half Will Be Built in Yards of Government.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—With the opening of bids by Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson today, 12 more warships were added to the naval construction program, largest since war days. Twelve other fighting vessels are to be constructed in the government's own shipyards, but while this will exhaust all appropriations, it still will leave the United States 78 ships short of its quota under the London naval treaty.

Including ships under construction and appropriated for, Great Britain is only 44 under its treaty limit and Japan has reached its quota with the exception of a single destroyer to replace one sunk last month. The treaty ratio for England, the United States, and Japan is 5-5-3.

Four New Cruisers.

Of the 24 ships still to be constructed under present appropriations 4 are cruisers, 14 are destroyers, and 6 are submarines. The cruisers were authorized by the naval appropriations bill of Feb. 13, 1929, while the 20 smaller boats are to be constructed with funds from the Public Works Administration. The total cost of the 24 ships will be approximately $130,000,000, half of them to be constructed by private shipbuilders and half in the government's own yards.

The Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company of Kearny, N. J., appeared to be the low bidder for the construction of a heavy cruiser, 10,000 tons with 8 inch guns, the bid being $13,389,000.

Florida Concern Bids.

The low bid for a light cruiser, 10,000 tons with 6 inch guns, was $12,600,000, submitted by Gulf Industries, Inc., of Pensacola, Fla.

Bids for two destroyers of 1,850 tons and five of 1,500 tons contained so many alternate proposals and designs that it was difficult to determine which was low, but they ranged from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000 each. The Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn., offered to build the three 1,300 ton submarines at $2,867,000 each, while the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, Chester, Pa., asked $3,857,000 each to build two of the boats.

The navy already has 45 vessels under construction, including two aircraft carriers and seven cruisers, and since the first of the year eight warships have been completed, with the ninth, the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, to be placed in commission in the Philadelphia navy yard on Friday.

The United States now has a total tonnage of 1,092,025, and the present construction program will increase this by 234,000 tons. Great Britain has a tonnage of 1,158,859, with another 171,410 tons under construction. Japan has a constructed tonnage of 756,561.

Britain Leads in Cruisers.

The United States and Great Britain are equal in capital ships, with 15 each, but Great Britain is far ahead in cruisers and has six aircraft carriers to this country's four. Britain has 19 class A and 32 class B cruisers, while the figures of the United States are only 15 and 10.

The United States is ahead in destroyers, with 245 to Britain's 152. Japan has nine capital ships, four aircraft carriers, and 34 cruisers, nine more than the United States.

Naval officials, however, say that the figures on tonnages and the number of vessels do not give a true comparison of the naval strengths, for the United States navy is loaded with antiquated ships, while England and Japan have been replacing their obsolete craft.

GIRL ASKS $50,000 IN SUIT AGAINST 'LUKE' WILLIAMS

Lucien E. [Luke] Williams, former intercollegiate and collegiate tennis star, was named defendant in a $50,000 suit filed yesterday in the Superior court by Miss Irene Margaret Boyce, 22 years old, 6614 Kenwood avenue. The suit charged breach of promise to marry and assault.

It is the second time in seven months that a woman has sought $50,000 from the former tennis star. On Feb. 20 a suit asking that amount in damages was filed by Miss Elizabeth Cornell, 24 years old, 2457 Pine Grove avenue, an artist's model, who charged that Williams struck and threatened her.

Miss Boyce charged in her bill that Williams and she had kept company from Jan. 1, 1931, to Aug. 12, 1934, and that he had promised to marry her. On Aug. 12, however, the bill relates, Williams told Miss Boyce, during her visit to his apartment at 2000 Lincoln Park West, that he would not marry her. The bill charges that Williams struck the girl with his fist.

Attorney Benjamin H. Ehrlich, who filed the bill, said that the incident caused his client to lose her position as a secretary.

Wants to Trade Pearl for Wisdom; $1,000 Worth

Harold John Olsen, 18 years old, of St. Charles, who found a 32 grain button pearl in the Fox river near his home, yesterday was searching for some one who would trade him an art education in Chicago for it. Olsen, who has been spending the summer clamming in the river, found the pearl Tuesday. Experts valued it at $1,000, and said he would be able to sell it without trouble. But Olsen wants to be sure he will get enough to complete his art education before he parts with it.

HOTEL BOMBING STILL MYSTERY; INQUIRY BEGUN

Labor Pickets Quizzed by Police.

Police yesterday launched an investigation into the bombing Tuesday night of the Edgewater Beach hotel, at Sheridan road and Bryn Mawr avenue, but at the end of the day had made no arrests in the case and would voice no suspicions as to those responsible for the outrage.

The bomb was exploded in the doorway of a small printing shop on the ground floor of the hotel, about 50 feet from Sheridan road. It was made of black powder, police experts say, and apparently was loaded with buckshot. Shot struck two pickets who were patroling the hotel as a result of a strike started several months ago.

Three Injured in Blast.

The pickets, Albert Topp and Donald O'Connell, were struck in the legs. Sigmund Schy, 20 years old, 3610 West 26th street, a student at the University of Illinois, was slightly injured by being thrown against an automobile which he had just parked near the scene of the explosion.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, ordered Topp and O'Connell taken to the Bridewell hospital. They were questioned yesterday, but asserted that they knew nothing about the bombing.

Two Unions on Strike.

The hotel management has been involved in labor disputes since last January, when its electricians, members of local 134 of the Electrical Workers' union, walked out, demanding higher wages. Some time later the cooks and waiters' union called a strike in sympathy with the electricians, and the hotel has been picketed since.

Capt. Gilbert held a conference yesterday with Police Commissioner Allman, after which the commissioner announced that appropriate measures would be taken to protect the hotel property against further attacks by bombers.

Capt. Gilbert said he did not expect immediate arrests in the case. He made a specific denial that he had any intention of questioning Michael J. Boyle, veteran labor leader, who is czar of the electricians' union.

CONSTABLE'S GUN USED TO SHOOT HIM, TESTS SHOW

Ballistic tests yesterday revealed that the revolver found in possession of Michael Rosso, 24 years old, 5544 Lexington street, was the one with which John Griffin, 22 years old, Bellwood constable had been shot five times and seriously wounded in front of a Melrose Park tavern Saturday night. The gun was Griffin's. His four assailants took it from him as he sought to defend himself. From his bed in the Frances E. Willard hospital Griffin already had identified Rosso.

The weapon was found in a raid on Rosso's home after Griffin had named him. It was sent to Northwestern university's crime detection laboratory for tests.

A second member of the gang also was definitely identified by Griffin yesterday. He was Joseph Pirano, 24 years old, who was arrested with two other men and two young women in a police raid on a house at 1608 North Luna avenue. Bernice Schroder, 20 years old, 5500 West North avenue, one of the women, admitted that she had been in the Strunewitz tavern, 100 North 23d avenue, Melrose Park, shortly before Griffin was shot.

HOODLUMS RAID 2 GLASS STORES; LABOR WAR SEEN

Two raids on stores selling plate glass for windows last night were blamed by police on a new labor war within the glaziers' trade. In one of the raids a watchman was beaten and $500 worth of glass destroyed, and in the other the men were frightened away before they could do any damage.

The first raid was made on the Berger plate glass store at 3414 Ogden avenue. Four men beat Joseph Mautner, 64 years old, the watchman, over the head with pistols and broke plate glass in the store. The same men, police believe, were frightened away when they encountered three men in the store of the City Glass company at 1354 South Wabash avenue.

HOPE FOR PEACE MEETING TODAY AT SOAP PLANT

Union Claims 92 Pct. of Company's Men.

A conference seeking to end the strike at the Lever Brothers company soap plant in Hammond was postponed yesterday because of the inability of Mayor Charles Schonert of Hammond, who has been asked by the strikers to be an informal mediator, to attend. The meeting probably will be held today, it was said.

The strike started Aug. 6 with a walkout of members of local 18840 of the Soap and Glycerine Workers' union, a union organized by the American Federation of Labor in the Lever plant after the NRA went into effect.

Plant Closed on Monday.

The plant remained in operation until last Monday, when a disturbance between pickets and workmen caused the management to shut down for an indefinite period. The management claims that nearly half of its workers had returned to work during the strike period.

This was denied yesterday by J. L. Longbrake, president of the union. He said that 92 per cent of the 360 plant workmen have been signed up, a number of them since the shutdown.

Wage Increases Demanded.

The principal point at issue in the strike is a demand for a wage increase by the union, 10 per cent for employés getting less than 80 cents an hour, and 5 per cent for those over that rate. This the company has refused.

According to company officials, the minimum wage paid is now 55 cents an hour, to unskilled labor. Union leaders charge, however, that the rates of a number of employés are lower than this, and that the average pay in the plant is between $16 and $17 a week. They dispute the assertion of the company representatives that the employés have all been getting 35 hours' work every week.

U. S. IRRIGATION PLANS OPPOSED BY FARM CHIEFS

Clash Over Criticism of Government Cost.

American Farm bureau federation leaders of eleven states closed a three day conference in the Hotel Sherman yesterday after adopting twenty resolutions commending some policies of the New Deal and condemning others. A demand was made that the federal government cease further development of irrigation projects. The Agricultural Adjustment act was approved with modifications.

The only controversy of yesterday's conference developed when Charles E. Hearst, vice president of the federation, offered a resolution drawn up by the committee, expressing criticism of the cost of government and the size of the federal debt, and calling for a start in paying off the debt and a cessation of "extraordinary expense of recent years.

"New More Cash."

"It is true we want a balanced budget at the proper time," retorted Edward A. O'Neal, national president of the federation, "but there is no money just now to balance it. As farmers, we have received a lot of money from the government, but we must ask for a lot more."

Mr. Hearst replied that the resolution was drawn in accordance with the farm bureau's long advocacy of expenditures and taxation on the basis of ability to pay, and insisted on its passage. However, after a brief conference between the two, the resolution was purged of its critical remarks and amended to "insist" on adequate appropriations for agricultural institutions.

Assail Price Fixing.

The farm bureau heads recommended that farmers' coöperative organizations be no longer forced to defend their rights as processors, distributors, dealers, and manufactures under the NRA codes, and that anti-monopoly laws "must not be neutralized and made ineffective by price fixing and other provisions in codes."

The federation urged a "sound public works program, free from politics, operated on a wage scale that does not upset the usual wages in agricultural communities." The lesson pointed out by the drouth calls for increases in production at times and for certain commodities, by the AAA, the federation held.

POLITICAL WILL OF HINDENBURG INDORSES HITLER

Revealed to Public on Eve of Plebiscite.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—The mysterious and long sought political will of the late Reichspresident Paul von Hindenburg was made public today and contained an indorsement of Chancellor Adolf Hitler and the Nazi movement.

"I thank Providence for permitting me to see in the evening of my life the hour of recovery," the document declared. "I thank all those who in unselfish love of the fatherland coöperated in the work of Germany's resurgence."

"My chancellor, Adolf Hitler, and his movement have taken a decisive stride of historical importance toward a great goal of leading the German people to inner unity regardless of differences of rank and class. I know much remains yet to be done, and from the bottom of my heart I wish that the act of the national regeneration and unification may be followed by an act of reconciliation to embrace the whole German fatherland.

In Midst of Campaign.

Before Von Hindenburg's death Aug. 2 there were frequent references to the testament, of which the first section was even mentioned in the reichstag. Afterward it was asserted that Dr. Otto Meissner, secretary of state to the president, had searched, found no will, and that no testament existed. Afterward rumors arose, one being that a friend of the family was arrested seeking to smuggle the testament out of Germany.

The will now comes before the German nation in the midst of the heated five day campaign for the plebiscite next Sunday in which the people are asked to sanction Hitler's combining of the functions of the offices of president and chancellor. The testament's tribute to Hitler is expected to rally many waverers to his support.

Instructions with the will directed the late president's son, Col. Oscar von Hindenburg, to transmit the document to the chancellor. Col. Oscar entrusted this duty to Franz von Papen, former vice chancellor and Von Hindenburg's most trusted friend in the cabinet.

Hitler Orders Publication.

Von Papen, flying to Vienna to take up his post as German minister to Austria, landed yesterday at Berchtesgaden, Hitler's mountain retreat, and handed the document to the chancellor. Hitler immediately ordered its publication.

Before Von Hindenburg's death there had been much speculation as to whether the field marshal's will would name Hitler or Von Papen as his successor, and many had believed that Von Papen would be the choice.

Von Hindenburg, after praising Hitler and the National Socialist movement, expressed hopes for the future:

"I part from my German people in the firm hope that what I wished for in 1919 and led in gradual process to Jan. 30, 1933 [when Hitler first became chancellor], will ripen to full fruition and completion of the historical mission of our people.

"In this firm faith in the future of the fatherland I can close my eyes in peace.

"Berlin, May 11, 1934.

"VON HINDENBURG."

In Time of Troubles.

Mention of "an act of reconciliation" recalls that at the time the will was signed troubles involving the church, finances, and foreign policy were at a heated stage. Since then, with Hitler's approval, Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller has made himself the dictator of the Protestant church, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, has been made practically a financial dictator by appointment as minister of economics.

Hitler's "purge" of the Nazi party and the assassination of the Austrian chancellor had not occurred, but both were followed by acts of Hitler to placate foreign wrath. The chancellor shifted his reliance from the Storm Troops to the reichswehr, then sought to give assurance of Austria's independence by making Von Papen minister and disbanding the Austrian Legion—exiled Austrian Nazis harbored on German soil.

News Creates Sensation.

A tremendous sensation was created by the publication of the will. The newspapers rushed special editions into the streets and news vendors were stormed by an eager public.

First newspaper comments stress that this is the first political testament in history addressed to the entire world. They also emphasize that "Hindenburg never lost a tittle of his faith in the future of the fatherland."

The Berliner Tageblatt remarks: "Nobody can read his appeal for national reconciliation without the deepest emotion."

All papers stress that the will is an acknowledgement of the goal of Hitler and his administration.

The excitement was intensified because some points in the testament left the public puzzled and mystified. Diplomatic circles ask, "Did Hindenburg to the end desire the ultimate restoration of the monarchy?"

Temporary Government.

They point out that he called for a restoration of the monarchy in the first section of the testament written in 1919. He did not cancel this appeal in the second section, closed and sealed May 11. In the latter section he merely commented that he was "conscious that the basic state law and the form of government which the nation adopted in its hour of dire stress and internal weakness did not correspond with the true needs and qualities of the nation."

"The hour was yet to ripen when this knowledge became public property. Therefore it seemed to be my duty to lead the country through the valley of outward oppression and humiliation, internal distress and self-flagellation without endangering its existence until this hour dawned.

"For this reconstruction the reichswehr [regular army]—the guardian of the state—was to be the symbol and solid basis. Embodied in it the old Prussian virtues of unquestioning fulfilment of duty, simplicity and comradeship were to be the firm foundation of the state.

Reichswehr Must Stay.

"After the collapse [of 1918] the German reichswehr carried on the high tradition of the old army in an irreproachable manner. The army must always and at all times remain an instrument of the supreme leadership of the state which, untouched by all interpolitical developments, endeavors to fulfil the great task of defending the country."

The message then turned to a denunciation of the Versailles treaty:

"In foreign politics the German people . . . were burdened with a terrible treaty which in its progressive enforcement threatened to bring our nation to collapse. For a long time surrounding nations failed to understand that Germany must live, not only for its own sake, but as the banner bearer of western culture also for the sake of all Europe."

U. OF CHICAGO PROFESSOR HIT BY NAZI TROOPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Dr. Albert Lepawsky, a research associate professor of the University of Chicago, was the victim of an unprovoked assault by a Storm Trooper in Berlin, it became known today.

Lepawsky was watching a Storm Troop procession with flags entering Neukoelln stadium Monday for the speech by Minister of Propaganda Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels when a Storm Trooper stepped out of the ranks and struck Lepawsky in the face for allegedly failing to salute the flags, of which hundreds were in evidence.

Lepawsky complained to the American consulate, which immediately made representations in Wilhelmstrasse. It was promised that the assailant—whose identity is known—will be arrested and that the matter will be investigated.

Prof. Lepawsky, 26 years old, received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1932. Since that time he has been connected with the political science department as a research associate. He conducted a study of judicial organization in the Chicago region which was published in book form and was well received in educational circles. He continued his researches under the supervision of Dr. Charles E. Merriam, head of the political science department, until last summer, when he was awarded a social science research scholarship which permitted him to study abroad. His leave of absence at the University of Chicago ends this fall.

PROFESSOR SEES APPROACH OF AGE PENSION SYSTEM

Predicts Many States Will Have It.

Tax aided systems of old age pensions will be in effect within the next ten years in all states north of the Mason and Dixon line, Prof. Paul H. Douglas of the department of economics, University of Chicago, declared yesterday. He spoke at the opening session of the National Alliance of Agencies for the Care of the Aged in the Stevens hotel.

This old age pension system, Prof. Douglas went on, will be financed by income, corporation and other taxes. If federal aid develops, which is likely, he said, the pensions would then be supported by the federal, state and county governments equally.

Sees Need of Support.

"Ultimately, I believe, there should be a contributory system with both the people and industry paying portions, but since for a long time there will be old people in need who have not had a chance to make early contributions, the system will for a while have to be governmentally supported," Prof. Douglas continued.

Twenty-six states now have old age pension laws and within the next ten years many of the rest of the states will follow suit, Prof. Douglas said.

He declared that payment of the pensions should begin at the age of 65 and should be made to those who do not have children or sufficient private income to support them. Pensions should not, he said, exceed $35 a month.

Michigan Woman Speaks.

Mrs. George Cooke Adams of St. Joseph, Mich., past national president of the Daughters of the British Empire in the United States, declared that abroad it has not been found that old age pensions create poverty, but on the contrary mitigate such a condition. Pensions have not, she said, affected privately conducted homes for the aged.

Today the convention delegates will tour old people's homes and tomorrow will conclude their conference.

Code Authority Holds Cost "Too High."

Because electric signs erected for Chicago saloonkeepers by the Joseph Schlitz Brewing company of Milwaukee exceeded the cost allowed by the NRA code authority by a few dollars, the brewery will have to discard 100 of them, purchased at a cost of $36,500. An order to this effect was issued yesterday by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

The NRA code authority cited the Schlitz company Aug. 10 when it was discovered that the brewery was spending more than the $400 allowed by the code for electric signs furnished to dealers selling a company's beer.

Although the Schlitz company had paid only $385 apiece for the 100 signs ordered from the Flashtric Signs works, 3901 North Western avenue, and the code states breweries may erect signs "costing not more than $400," the case was taken into federal court.

Add Cost of Labor.

The NRA based its case on the fact, which the Schlitz officials readily admitted, that cost of the signs, plus the cost of erecting them was slightly more than $400 each.

The code set the $400 minimum on signs erected by breweries for saloons to prevent the large breweries from taking an unfair advantage over smaller breweries in advertising.

This interpretation of the code provision was new to officials of the brewery, and they asserted in court that they had not intentionally paid more than $400 for the signs. They stated also that it would necessitate the dismantling of 22 signs and the discarding of 78 more if the authority insisted on prosecuting the case.

Attorneys for the NRA indicated they would fight for their interpretation, so the brewing company, unwilling to defy the code, allowed the NRA to obtain a "consent decree" from Judge Lindley enjoining the use of the signs.

Deny Code Violation.

After the formal injunction order had been issued, the company, through Edward T. Byron, assistant secretary, made the following announcement:

"In the equity proceeding before the court we did not admit any violation and do not now. There was an honest difference of opinion as to the meaning of the sign provision in the code.

"The Schlitz Brewing company desires to coöperate with the code authority and has accepted their interpretation and complied with their desires."

KERNER BARS SIDEWALK CAFE SALE OF LIQUOR

Chicago's first sidewalk café, opened last month by the Fish Bar and Restaurant at 32 South Michigan avenue, may be its last, it developed yesterday after Attorney General Otto Kerner handed down an opinion that sidewalk cafés cannot legally sell liquor. The opinion was sought by the Illinois liquor control commission.

The café at 32 South Michigan avenue is operating under a permit granted by the south park district. W. I. Bell, south park superintendent, said last night that he would take steps toward the revocation of the permit as soon as he has been formally notified of the opinion.

B. M. Thorud, manager of the Fish Bar, doubted that he would care to operate the sidewalk café if liquor is barred. "That's half our business," he explained.

After May directed her to the rear of 1135 East 47th street, where the machine was found the police seized him. He asserted he learned of the stolen car through a telephone conversation he overheard.

OTTO DINES WITH KING OF SWEDEN; THRONE AID SEEN

Restoration Means of Blocking Germans.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Archduke Otto Hapsburg pretender to the Austrian throne, tonight was a dinner guest of King Gustav V. of Sweden at the king's summer castle of Solliden on the Island of Oeland, southeast of Sweden, according to news reports here tonight.

KING GUSTAV.

King Gustav's chamberlain told London newspaper inquirers over the telephone tonight that the archduke would remain at the castle as the king's guest until tomorrow.

Turned Down Alfonso.

Political circles here regard the archduke's visit to King Gustav, and the fact that Gustav received him, as sensational and consider the fact as giving more substance to reports of plots and plans shortly to restore him to the throne of Austria as a method of blocking the spread of pan-Germanism in the south.

The sensation of Otto's reception by Gustav comes from the recollection that Gustav was unwilling to receive former King Alfonso of Spain on the latter's last visit to Sweden, because King Gustav is known to observe political and diplomatic rules strictly.

Von Papen in Vienna.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—Col. Franz Von Papen, new German minister to Austria, arrived here this afternoon by plane. A big force of police was at the airdrome. Permission to enter was refused to all newspaper men and press photographers were informed that any one taking pictures would be arrested.

Von Papen, who was wearing plus fours, was greeted by Prince Ehrbach, the German chargé d'affaires. In accordance with diplomatic custom, no representative of the Austrian government was present, as Von Papen has not yet presented his credentials.

Large crowds outside the airdrome watched his arrival. Reports that he was greeted with shouts of "Heil Hitler!" were untrue, but obviously many Nazis were among the crowd, as hats and handkerchiefs were waved in an enthusiastic welcome by many. But there was no shouting.

Fascist Militias to Coöperate.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Closer cooperation between Italian and Austrian Fascist militias will result from the visit to Rome of Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starhemberg, the semi-official Reichspost said today. Coöperation will be for "protection of internal and external peace," the paper added.

WILLIAM A. DYCHE RESIGNS POST AS MANAGER OF N. U.

H. L. Wells Will Succeed Veteran Executive.

William A. Dyche, business manager of Northwestern university for the last 31 years, announced his retirement from the position, effective next month.

He will be succeeded by Harry L. Wells, a trustee of the university and vice president and general manager of Bauer & Black, 2500 South Dearborn street. Mr. Wells will be elected at the next meeting of the university board of trustees, late in September.

Mr. Dyche will continue as a trustee, a position he has held since 1894 when he was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Dr. D. R. Dyche. Mr. Dyche was graduated from the university in 1882, and Mr. Wells in 1913.

Elected for Life.

In 1927 the trustees elected Mr. Dyche business manager for life with the privilege of being relieved when he so desired. In his resignation he invoked this clause.

"I have discussed my retirement with Mr. Wells for several years," Mr. Dyche said. "There is no one by whom I would rather be succeeded. I predict great success for him and will always be at his service."

During his long service Mr. Dyche has been identified with civic matters as well as the affairs of the university.

For several years he was an alderman in Evanston, his home city, and was mayor there from 1895 to 1899. Since his identification with the university he has seen it grow from a college of 182 students into a university with an enrollment of 15,000 and resources of $50,000,000.

Many of the present facilities of the university owe their being largely to Mr. Dyche's management. He conceived the idea of McKinlock campus about 1914, and regards its fulfilment as one of his most satisfying achievements. It was he who solicited most of the funds, first for the land and later for buildings.

Built Gym and Stadium.

He also was largely instrumental in the erection of the $310,000 Patten gymnasium in Evanston, and was the chief figure in the planning and building of Dyche stadium, the university's $2,000,000 football field, named for him. He is credited, directly and indirectly, with having obtained some $20,000,000 in gifts to the university.

Born in Monroe, O., in 1861, Mr. Dyche has lived in Chicago and its suburbs for the last 69 years.

Mr. Wells has been on the university board for two years. He has announced his resignation from his present business position, also effective next month, when his new duties will require his full time. As a student at the university he was a star on its varsity football team in 1912.

OUTER BRIDGE PLAN IS PUSHED DESPITE ICKES

Funds Won't Be Granted, Repeats Secretary.

In the face of another rebuff from Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes against Chicago's outer drive bridge, public officials pushed plans yesterday for building the span. In discussing future allotment of Public Works administration funds amounting to $100,000,000, Ickes, as head of the PWA, told a press conference in Washington Tuesday that none of the cash would be given for the Chicago bridge.

On last Jan. 11 Ickes announced that funds would be allocated for the bridge. Then, without notification to Chicago officials, Ickes announced on July 19 that the federal advance, amounting to $6,877,000, had been withdrawn. He said that the securities offered were not acceptable. The bonds of the south park were considered good collateral, while the Lincoln park bonds were adjudged inadequate.

Igoe Pushes Plan.

Michael L. Igoe, south park commissioner, who has made trips to Washington in quest of funds for the bridge, has proposed that a program be worked out to proceed with the south park share of the span.

"It seems to me that plans could be formulated so we could go ahead with the southern part of the project," said Mr. Igoe. "The bonds of our board will be readily purchased by the banks. After we have sold them I hope we can persuade the PWA to grant us 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials."

The south park board is waiting for a decision from the Illinois Supreme court on the legality of the Chicago park consolidation act before attempting to sell the bonds. The banks, it is understood, have offered to buy them at 97, the current market quotation. The south park board will need to sell $5,000,000 worth of bonds to have sufficient funds on hand to complete its share of the project, and it has an unexhausted bonding power of approximately $9,000,000.

Lincoln Park Problem.

Mr. Igoe said he hoped that the financing of Lincoln park's share of the bridge would be solved with the ruling of the Supreme court. Even though the consolidation act might be found invalid, Mr. Igoe said he didn't think Lincoln park's problem would be "insurmountable."

C. M. Osborn, state PWA engineer, said that Chicago would "be in line" for the 30 per cent free cash grant if the park bonds were sold, but would not go so far as to say that the advance would be forthcoming.

It has been noted recently that a political issue over Ickes' granting of PWA funds has begun to loom on the horizon of the campaign for the November elections. Forty-one states have received more in federal easy money than they have paid into the treasury in the form of internal revenue.

Republicans Plan Protest.

Illinois, however, and the states of New York, Rhode Island, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, and Kentucky have received less in PWA largesses than they have poured into Uncle Sam's treasury. On a per capita basis, it is estimated, Illinois is paying $28.14 and is receiving $25.16.

Chicago Republicans are preparing for an onslaught on the treatment accorded their city by the PWA. The status of other projects, besides the outer drive bridge, is as follows:

1. City water filtration plant, application for $22,400,000 from PWA made Dec. 5, 1933. Still pending in Washington.

2. Lake front airport, application for $8,600,000, still pending before PWA. A PWA committee has been formed to survey the proposition. Ickes has personally opposed a shore location for the field on the grounds that the lake front would be used for a commercial purpose. The war department has approved the plans, which are favored by civic bodies.

3. Sanitary district disposal plants, $42,131,040 alloted. [The first news that the cash would be granted was given out by President Roosevelt in a public speech.]

4. Nurse's home, $2,040,500 granted to the Cook county board.

5. Five new high schools; $1,326,000 in PWA cash given to Chicago board of education to complete these buildings.

Ashland Bridge Grant.

6. Ashland avenue bridge, $483,500 granted to the city of Chicago by the PWA.

The $483,000 advanced for the Ashland avenue bridge is the sole grant of PWA to the municipal corporation of Chicago.

On the basis of population it would appear the PWA has been more generous to Chicago suburbs. Suburban grants of easy money have been approved as follows:

Location, purpose.	Estimated cost.
Evanston, water system	$150,000
Wilmette, water system	117,000
Maywood, water system	120,000
Midlothian, water system	40,000
Bellwood, water system	30,000
Des Plaines, water system	103,000
Mount Prospect, water system	18,000
Arlington Heights, water system	50,000
Kenilworth, sewer	340,000
New Trier-Winnetka, school	141,000
Niles Center, school	31,000
Forest preserve, part	35,800
Glencoe, paving	84,000
Total	$1,259,800

The state advisory board for the PWA in Illinois, headed by Carter H. Harrison, was abolished last March. Since that time applications for grants have been sent directly to Washington officials, who, if they desire to learn more about the projects, send word to the state engineer to investigate.

BROTHER HEARS FROM KIDNAPER OF RICH BREWER

Gets Telephone Call in Canadian Hotel.

by long distance telephone from Detroit. The possibility that the kidnaping was engineered from the Michigan city is also engaging police attention, and the Detroit police are cooperating with the Canadian authorities.

The basis for the theory is the fact that the kidnapers' spokesman told of having seen and followed John Labatt in Detroit Monday.

The man first telephoned Hugh Labatt's office and told his secretary that John Labatt had been kidnaped. The girl was unable to believe the story, but was pressed so strongly that she gave Hugh Labatt's home telephone number. A few minutes later the man called the home.

Hugh Labatt scoffed at the story, believing it to be the joke of some acquaintance. The man had no foreign accent and spoke English well, coolly and with determination.

"Your brother was in Detroit yesterday and we were in touch with him there," the man said.

Hunt for Fingerprints on Car.

Hugh Labatt's wife overheard the conversation and, sensing its significance, advised her husband to treat the matter with all seriousness. Labatt was then given the directions to proceed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he was told he would find his brother's car and a note with full directions under the front seat. Rushing to the scene, he found the car and the penciled message, written in book letters and signed "Three Fingered Abe."

A finger print expert from Ottawa is en route to London to inspect the car, which is being held under guard at the Labatt Breweries' garage. Not even the city of London identification bureau was given access to the car lest some mark might be blurred.

The royal Canadian mounted police entered the picture overnight and attention veered sharply to the St. Clair flats. Mysterious rumors came from Wallaceburg that sent police on a sudden chase into that area. The report was that Labatt was being held in swamp lands on the Canadian side of the St. Clair river somewhere between Wallaceburg and Sarnia. The basis of the story was hazy.

Hunt Clew Through Rum Runners.

Working independently of the police and family, the sales organization of the Labatt brewery, under the personal direction of E. M. Burke, general manager, are reviving all contacts of the rum running days along the United States border. Those close to the Labatts say the hope is to reach the inner circles of gangland, find who effected the kidnaping, offer payment of the ransom money, and bring the victim back to his family as speedily as possible.

Mrs. Labatt, socially prominent wife of the missing man, bore the ordeal with amazing fortitude, her friends said. For several hours they feared to break the news to her. Finally, as her home became besieged by crowds, it was decided to tell her. Her brother, William Lynch of New York city, former manager of the Bermuda railways, was selected for the job. He then brought Mrs. Labatt and her three children to London. They remained overnight at the home of Hugh Labatt under guard.

Trace Telegrah Query.

Efforts are being made to trace a querry received at a London telegraph office on Saturday, Aug. 4. It came as a "service" from Detroit, where a patron wanted to know the telephone and telegraph rates between London and Brights Grove. He asked also for distances and directions. The information was dispatched but no message came through.

The speed with which the Labatt family produced the cash demanded by the kidnapers has been a matter of some surprise. John and Hugh Labatt have both known severe financial reverses in recent years. The brewery was founded in 1832 by the first of three John Labatts, an Englishman of French Huguenot antecedents, who played an important part in the early affairs of London. The kidnaped victim's father has been dead for many years, and in the younger days of John and Hugh, the business encountered the shoals.

Prohibition was a body blow, and the Labatt fortune vanished. The family closed its pretentious London residence and the boys for some years roomed together in a boarding house. The brewery had been practically closed and its affairs were admittedly in very bad shape when a new manager took charge and began developing new trade, which led into the brisk years when beer found a new outlet through government dispensaries and also across the international line. The Labatt line again became famous and it is believed this returning prosperity caught the greedy eye of the kidnapers.

MARTIN INSULL TRIAL NEXT ON STATE PROGRAM

Case Is Set for Court Hearing Sept. 17.

Acquittal of Marshall E. Sampsell, former Insull executive, on a charge of embezzlement, will make no difference in the prosecution of the other Insull cases in the state courts, Assistant State's Attorney John O'Hora announced yesterday.

Martin Insull is scheduled to go to trial Sept. 17 on a charge of embezzlement and larceny in the Criminal court. Trial of his elder brother, Samuel, is set for Oct. 22 on the same charges.

MARTIN INSULL.

Prosecutor O'Hora was doubtful that the trial of Samuel Insull would be started on the date set. He pointed out that the elder Insull probably would be placed on trial in the federal court on a charge of using the mails to defraud before that time.

Ready for Martin's Trial.

Trial of Martin Insull, however, will be started promptly at the appointed time, the prosecutor said. All preliminary motions have been disposed of by Judge James F. Fardy, O'Hora pointed out. A new judge will have to be selected to hear the case, however, since Judge Fardy has left the Criminal court bench and will be back in the Superior court by the time the trial begins.

The basis of the charge in the Martin Insull case is similar to that of the case in which Sampsell won acquittal from a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Michael Feinberg Tuesday night.

Insull is alleged to have taken $344,000 from the treasury of the Middle West Utilities company, of which he was president, to protect a personal brokerage account when the crisis appeared in the affairs of the utility empire.

What Indictment Charges.

"The indictment charges that Martin Insull used and lost $344,000 in cash which he withdrew from interests other than his own to back up market losses," Prosecutor O'Hora said. "He will probably use the same defense Sampsell did, namely, that he was trying to save the stockholders of the Middle West Utilities company group but failed. We expect to prove, however, that he tried to save no one but himself."

Sampsell, who was alleged to have taken 4,000 shares of Central Illinois Public Service stock to be used as collateral for personal loans, told the jury that the transaction was an effort to keep the Middle West Utilities company out of receivership to guard Insull stocks. Sampsell was president of the Central Illinois company.

FORMER KIDNAP VICTIM HELPS TAKE SUSPECT AFTER NEW THREATS

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—William O. Urban, a $100,000 victim of a kidnap ride four years ago, helped today in the police capture of a man who came to pick up a package supposed to contain $3,000 in small bills. Urban had received several threatening letters. The suspect is Ralph Davidson, 40, who is said to be a shell shocked war veteran. He is a native of Centralia, Ill., and had been in a Michigan prison.

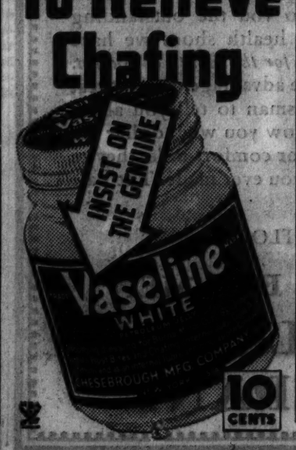

W. O. URBAN.

The package was a dummy. The police say it was taken from a pocket of Davidson's coat. He insisted "that don't belong to me," and, unopened, persisted in saying: "This whole thing is a frameup. I don't know anything about that package."

Davidson said he came here last Thursday intending to spend the night here, but a policeman ordered him to "move on." Since then, he said, he has slept in box cars or wherever else he could find shelter.

The police believe that the extortion letter supplied by Urban is in the handwriting on a veteran's compensation application in Davidson's pocket. The letter was received by Mr. Urban in the mail at his home, 875 Linn street, on Friday. Marked "Personal" on the envelope, it was written on the stationery of the Hotel Pere Marquette.

3,500 IN CHORAL GUILDS WILL SING "THE HOLY CITY"

Music Festival to Revive "Glory of Jerusalem."

GREAT AMPLIFICATION.
No matter where you sit in Soldiers' field Saturday night you'll hear perfectly. Fine amplification has been provided for the Music Festival. Seats are on sale at Tribune Public Service offices.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

The glory of Jerusalem will live again in undying music when the majestic, reverential song, "The Holy City," swells to every corner of Soldiers' field this Saturday night at the fifth annual Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by The Chicago Tribune. Grouped in the center of the field, the 3,500 members of the Choral Directors' Guild will extol the sacred city of the Jew and the Christian in the song that Stephen Adams wrote 42 years ago.

First, the verse will be sung by Mark Love, famous basso of The Tribune's radio station, W-G-N. As it has been heard by so many church congregations, those opening words will come across the night to the great audience:

"Last night as I lay a-sleeping, there came a dream so fair;
I stood in old Jerusalem, beside the temple there;
I heard the children singing, and ever as they sang,
Methought the voice of angels, from heav'n in answer rang;
Methought the voice of angels, from heav'n in answer rang."

And then the chorus joining in:

"Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Lift up your gates and sing.
Hosanna in the highest, Hosanna to your King."

Twice more, Mr. Love will carry the basso verse and twice again the 3,500 voices will blend in chorus.

"The Holy City" was written about 1892, by Stephen Adams, whose real name was Michael Maybrick. Born in Liverpool, England, in 1844, Adams—as he was known in his professional career—became a famous baritone concert singer. He toured the United States and Canada in 1884. He died at Buxton, England in 1913. About 20 years ago "The Holy City" was sung at all festival concerts but in recent years it has not been widely sung and its revival for the music festival will be the first occasion at which it has been given in the presence of so great a throng.

George Tenney to Conduct.

The Choral Directors' Guild will be conducted by George Lee Tenney. Mr. Tenney, who has been president of the organization since its founding three years ago, will be succeeded in October by George A. Carlson, president elect, who is choir director at the Ebenezer Lutheran church.

The guild was founded only for choir directors but its membership has developed until it now includes choristers from 500 churches in Chicago. Mr. Tenney has been musical director at the New First Congregational church for 16 years and also directs the Chicago Lutheran Teachers' chorus of 250 voices.

Among the appearances of the guild singers have been in the opening program at A Century of Progress in 1933; at a performance in the Court of States at the Fair on July 4, 1933, when Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" was given, and at the Pastors' institute convention at the University of Chicago chapel last July 28.

A. J. DREXEL IN VENTURE TO HUNT BURIED TREASURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—[Thursday.]—Still another attempt is to be made to unearth fabulous treasure supposed to be buried in Cocos island, in the Pacific. This morning's Daily Herald declares the 600 ton twin screw yacht Queen of Scots owned by the American millionaire, A. J. Drexel Jr., will leave London Saturday on the venture.

The expedition was due to sail in April, but a fire at the factory where electrical equipment was being made delayed departure. A company known as Treasury Recovery, Ltd., has been formed to sponsor the search, and a prospectus issued earlier this year warned that shares "must be regarded as definitly speculative." The company's floated nominal capital is $375,000, in $1.25 shares. Stratford D. Jolly, explorer, is one of the organizers of the expedition which will consist of about 45 persons, including Commander F. A. Worsley of arctic and antarctic fame. It was originally intended that Worsley would captain the expeditionary vessel, but now Drexel has lent his yacht and her own captain, A. D. Bellingham will take charge. The equipment will include a light airplane.

SON SUES FATHER FOR POSSESSION OF STOCKS, CASH

Franklin R. Lacy Jr., president of the Lacy Products company, 13 Aberdeen street, dealers in soda fountain, hotel and restaurant equipment, filed suit in Superior court yesterday seeking an injunction to restrain his father, Franklin R. Lacy Sr., from disposing of a number of company stock certificates and $5,000 in cash.

The son alleged that his father visited his office on Aug. 6, threatened him with a revolver, and forced him to transfer the stock certificates and cash from his safe deposit box to a box owned jointly by father and son. On the following day, the son charges, his father removed the certificates and cash to another safety deposit box and has refused to return the securities and money to his son.

The suit asks also that the elder Lacy be restrained from interfering with the business and asks that a receiver be appointed for the company.

THREE-DAY FETE AT CROWN POINT TO OPEN TODAY

Centennial Will Celebrate Town's Founding.

The Lake county [Ind.] centennial and homecoming, staged in celebration of the founding of Crown Point 100 years ago, will be held today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Crown Point fair grounds. The celebration is sponsored by the Lake County Old Settlers and Historical association.

A historical pageant tonight will be featured by the breaking of the seal on the association book in which is recorded the meeting held in 1884. More than 50 persons who attended that meeting and registered in the book are expected to attend the present meeting.

Old Timers to Attend.

Among them are A. Murray Turner, Hammond banker; Willis C. McMahon, former appellate judge in northern Indiana, and Jesse Little of Lowell, Ind., who has been active in arranging the present celebration. The association book will be taken from the recorder's office, the seal broken, and signatures of present members added to its pages.

Then it will be sealed and returned to the recorder's office for safekeeping until the next celebration, scheduled for 1894. The pageant, "Milestones of the Years," will depict early pioneer life and progress in Crown Point and Lake county.

Honor Crown Point Founder.

The celebration also will honor Solon Robinson, the first settler and founder of Crown Point. Robinson, after obtaining the land which is now the site of Crown Point in trades with the Indians, donated the land necessary for the public square.

The land obtained by pioneers who followed Robinson to Crown Point was purchased from the government for $1.45 an acre.

Hundreds of former residents of Crown Point and Lake county are expected to return for the celebration. The homecomers will be given a formal welcome tonight at the public square. Band concerts, musical program, and historical sketches will mark the three day program.

SHOOTS GUN: HELD INSANE.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S BOAT STICKS; MAN OVERBOARD IN RESCUE

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Plattsburgh Press related tonight that a motorboat in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was riding on remote Chazy lake yesterday drifted on rocks and was freed only after a chauffeur had fallen into the water. Mrs. Roosevelt and her friend, Miss Nancy Cook, have been guests at the camp of Reinald Werrenrath, baritone.

The newspaper said a party of five went out in a motorboat but ran out of gas. The boat drifted upon a rock ledge and was stuck fast.

Fishing nearby, Dr. John Stone of Albany and Dr. R. Lamb of Harmon saw the party's plight, rowed ashore for gas, and returned bringing Charles Gihon, chauffeur.

When Gihon pulled the motorboat off the rocks, he fell overboard. The boat was quickly stopped and Gihon was lifted aboard.

SUSPECT IN 50 HOLDUPS FLEES FROM CAPTORS

James Lamb, alias Benson, escaped from detectives at Hammond, Ind., yesterday shortly after he had been implicated in more than fifty robberies through a confederate's confession. The policemen fired a volley of shots at Lamb as he fled through an alley.

Rocco Bennett had named Lamb as an accomplice in the robberies, including the holdup of a tavern at Robertsdale, Ind., Tuesday, in which another companion, Charles Sumtimer, 50 years old, was fatally wounded by a railway detective. Before he died Sumtimer supplied information leading to the arrest of Bennett, who in turn informed on Lamb. Sumtimer was a paroled lifer from the Michigan City penitentiary.

ILLINOIS TROOPS ADVANCE ON CITY IN MUD AND RAIN

Militiamen Plan Thrilling Spectacle at Fair.

Marching under conditions as adverse as they could encounter in actual warfare and still keeping to their schedules with mechanical precision, the 10,000 troops of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, yesterday continued their tactical movement upon Chicago and Camp Grant.

Tragedy came amid the martial sound of thunder and the warlike atmosphere of mud and rain which attended the departure from the camp when Private Ernest Schraeder, 26 years old of Kankakee, attached to the 129th infantry, was killed by a bolt of lightning. Nine other militiamen were treated at the camp hospital for lightning shock.

Despite the heavy rain, which continued most of the day, the military sections left the camp on schedule. By noon the infantry, which had marched in mud ankle deep, was half way to its overnight camping spot.

Artillery Well on Way.

With the departure of the 65th and 66th infantry brigades, the camp was practically deserted. Only division special troops and the aviation men remained. The motorized artillery were well on the way to Chicago and the cavalrymen were ready to entrain for Chicago today at Elgin.

When the troops arrive in Chicago today and when they completely assemble tomorrow for the celebration of Illinois day at the World's Fair, they will form the greatest military force seen by Chicago since the days of the world war.

Coming into Chicago by companies and battalions the troops will arrive throughout the morning and afternoon under the command of Major General of Militia Roy D. Keehn. A tented camp will rise in Grant park and the evening will be spent in staf conferences preparatory to tomorrow's maneuvers.

One of the most spectacular warfare demonstrations ever staged in Chicago will be the highlight of Illinois day. Bursting shrapnel aimed at targets towed by airplanes roaring over the lagoons, tracer bullets from machine guns and powerful searchlights exploring the skies will create the illusion of a war time city under an air raid.

Review Before Governor.

Starting at 5 p. m. the troops will leave their encampment and move down Michigan avenue to the Fair grounds. The division will pass in review before Gov. Henry Horner and five of the living ex-governors of the state at the Illinois Host House on the Avenue of Flags. The executives' group will include Richard Yates, Charles S. Deneen, Louis Emmerson, Edward F. Dunne, and Joseph W. Fifer.

Massed bands of the division, totaling 500 pieces, will appear for a concert at 8 p. m. in the Court of States tomorrow night, just an hour before the aerial battle. The massed bands also will appear Saturday night in the Chicago Music Festival in Soldiers' field.

At the conclusion of the show, staged two miles up and two miles out over the lake, nine lighted ships will take part in a dog fight. The finale of the performance will be a power fire dive by a plane piloted by Lieut. William Newhall of the 10th observation squadron. He will dive from 5,000 feet, his plane spurting fire, and will level off only 100 feet above the water.

IRISH CELEBRATE IN RAIN AT FAIR; IGNORE WEATHER

Attendance Record Set for Stormy Day.

Despite lowering skies and a pelting rain, sons and daughters of Erin in festive celebration of Irish day yesterday poured through turnstiles at A Century of Progress Exposition to set an attendance record for a rainy day. And the city's theme song, "Stormy Weather," was drowned out on the lake front by the gay notes of jigs and ballads.

At the time of the opening of the formal program at 3 p. m., the attendance was 87,049. At midnight it was 32,769.

Parade Through Grounds.

Members of 24 Irish, Catholic and labor organizations marched into the grounds to "The Wearing of the Green" and "Garry Owen," led by bands of Irish bagpipes. Among the marchers were children in national costume.

In the formal three hour program at the Court of States speakers hailed Ireland's contribution to the city, state, and nation. The principal address was by Assistant Corporation Counsel Quin O'Brien on "The Irish, the Gulf Stream of Civilization."

Other speakers included Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair; Daniel J. McGrath, consul general of the Irish Free State; Mayor Kelly, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, the Rev. Ambrose M. Grimm, and Albert J. Horan, bailiff of the Municipal court. The Rev. B. J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, delivered the invocation.

Just "Donnybrook Weather."

Natives of Ireland ignored the rain, acclaiming it was typical "Donnybrook weather." Donnybrook for years was the scene of the great annual fair of Ireland. It almost invariably rained on the day of the great fair, oldsters explained.

In keeping with the day, two girls of Irish descent won honor during the day. Katherine Dwyer, 16 years old, of 2823 Warsaw street, was named the healthiest girl in Chicago.

Twelve year old Elizabeth Carroll, 3145 Union street, was the seven millionth visitor to the Fair. She passed through the 14th street gate behind her sister, Nora Ella, 6 years old, and in front of her father, Patrick Carroll. Elizabeth was met at the gate by a Fair official and presented with the customary gifts from concessionaires and exhibitors.

Today, the twelfth in the 1934 series of children's days, will be united with Farm Youth day. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted to the grounds and most concessions for a nickel.

For the rural youngsters, special features will be added. There will be a horse shoe pitching contest at the Brook Hill farm, a spelling bee at the Science Theater and a farm girl's fashion show in the Court of States.

RAINFALL SETS 10 MONTH MARK WITH 1.85 INCHES

Chicago experienced its heaviest rainfall in ten months yesterday and last night. Beginning early in the morning with two cloudbursts and a deafening display of thunder and lightning, rain fell continuously throughout the day. By 8 o'clock last night the precipitation had reached 1.85 inches as the rain died away into a drizzle. This was the heaviest fall since the two day storm on Oct. 20 and 21 last year, when 2.51 inches fell.

With the exception of the Dakotas, the entire central west was benefited both by rainfall and cooler temperatures, bringing relief from the record breaking heat and drouth. Forecaster W. P. Day predicted more showers today for Chicago and the middle west.

First Rain Excess Since October.

For the first month since last October there was an excess of precipitation over normal for the month. The total so far this month is 2.50, while normal for the entire month is 3.21. The excess yesterday was .38 of an inch.

The deluge here served to reduce somewhat the precipitation deficiency which has been mounting steadily since the first of the year. Only 9.73 inches have fallen, which is 11.47 below normal.

With the exception of St. Joseph, Mo., Chicago recorded the largest amount of rain yesterday within a radius of several hundred miles over the corn and wheat belt. The Missouri city enjoyed 3.2 inches, the first time since July 6 enough water fell to be measured.

Deficiency Through Summer.

Yesterday's fall here was the first of more than an inch since Oct. . During the arid summer months but few showers have appeared to relieve the burden of the heat. In May, the total fall was .67 of a inch, a deficiency for the month of 2.87. In June it was a little better, 2.24 inches, representing a deficiency, however, of 1.06. Last month, the driest in the history of the weather bureau, only .43 of an inch was measured, or a deficiency of 2.91.

The early morning storm arrived in two sections. At 3 a. m. blazing flashes of lightning illuminated the sky as torrents of rain flooded streets, causeways, viaducts, and sewers. After raging for half an hour the rain dropped to a steady patter, but suddenly at 5 o'clock increased in intensity accompanied by reverberating peals of thunder and lightning.

Trolleys Are Disabled.

Three street cars were disabled as lightning ran down their trolley poles and burned out transformers. Traffic on the Skokie Valley route of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad and the Niles Center branch of the elevated was disrupted when a lightning bolt broke the trolley wire at the Crawford avenue crossing. Trains used one track during most of the day.

Firemen were kept busy during the early morning hours answering alarms of more than a score of small fires where lightning had struck. The most severe damage was done, however, in the suburbs.

The bulk station of the Hughes Oil company, at Howard street and McCormick road, Niles Center, was destroyed when a lightning bolt hit a garage at the rear. Firemen from Niles Center, Evanston, and Chicago battled for more than an hour, finally saving ten huge tanks containing 400,000 gallons of fuel. Low water pressure hampered their efforts.

A barn, used to house draft animals and implements at the Washington Park race track at Homewood, was destroyed by fire.

The greatest damage within the city limits occurred when lightning ripped most of the tile from the roof of the Church of Christ at 65th street and Woodlawn avenue.

Henry Westerhoff, 72 years old, 5329 South 73d avenue, Summit, a farmer, who was struck and killed by lightning while gathering straw at the Hawthorne race track in Cicero. His son, Richard, standing beside him, was uninjured.

DOWNPOURS AID INDIANA, OHIO CROPS OF GRAIN

Hay Damaged; Garden Truck Improves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Crops in fields, gardens and orchards have been benefited materially by rain that fell slowly for five or six hours in central Ohio and east central Indiana counties today. The rain came in time to save many of the late crops, especially corn, alfalfa, soy beans and truck gardens.

Practically all of the corn still is green throughout central and northern Ohio and Indiana. Before the rain fell it was estimated that the yield of corn in both of those states would be below the crop picked last year.

Corn Outlook Good.

Ohio farmers have a chance of producing a corn crop not far below the 1933 harvest of more than 113,000,000 bushels. Indiana has even a better outlook for a corn crop that will almost match last year's harvest of 127,000,000 bushels, if frost does not come ahead of schedule. In the northern part of Ohio and Indiana millions of bushels of ears already are forming on the stalks and many nubbins will be transformed into fair sized ears as a result of the rain.

Wind has almost flattened much of the corn between here and Columbus. Many fields are left in a tangled mass which will make picking difficult, but some of the late corn will have time to straighten up before it is cut for fodder or silage. A small percentage of the corn on high ridges has been damaged so much by the drouth it will be benefited little by the rains which have fallen in this region within the last week.

Alfalfa, stunted from lack of moisture, is about six or eight inches high in most fields. It has a chance to double its height before normal frost.

Rains Benefit Alfalfa.

Rains may boost the alfalfa in Ohio and Indiana to the point where farmers will cut about as many tons of hay this year as they did last. Before the rains there was almost enough alfalfa hay in sight to reach last year's tonnage of 480,000 for Indiana and 387,000 for Ohio.

One of the greatest benefits from the rains has come to pasturage. Grass has been given a new lease on life during the last few days. With plenty of late summer rains, farmers say their pastures will spring up and avoid forced selling of their live stock. Rains also will save their grain and roughage crops for the winter use.

Today's rain will add many tons to the soy bean crop. Soy beans generally are in better condition in Ohio and Indiana than they were at this time last year. The bean plants in many fields are more than knee high and the branches have spread until the leaves cover the ground.

Most of the small grain, tame hay and other crops normally harvested earlier have been removed from the fields. A few farmers were caught with hay down when it rained here last Friday. This hay turned brown and its feeding value has been greatly lessened.

Couple Killed, Three Hurt When Lightning Hits Tent

Sea Isle City, N. J., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Somers of Philadelphia were killed and three persons were injured this afternoon by a lightning bolt which struck a tent on the beach between this place and Strathmere during a brief, but violent, electrical storm.

14 INDIANS RUN TO WHITE HOUSE; NAMES OPEN ROW

Invite President to Be Guest at Feta.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Fourteen footsore Indians—and their press agent—who ran all the way from old Fort Niagara, N. Y., to give three grains of corn to the President, were visibly upset today by a Smithsonian scientist's charge their names were not true Tuscarora, tribal cognomens.

The three grains of corn were a symbolic invitation to a pageant rededicating Fort Niagara that will be held Sept. 3, but the President has said he can not go.

Seeking rest after 500 miles done on foot in 74½ hours, Lee Trenholm, the press agent, stoutly defended the good names of his 13 Tuscaroras, and 2 Senecas, as follows:

"The idea of Dr. J. J. B. Hewitt saying the name Bird Lying-Down is not Tuscarora! He got it from his grandfather. Why there are only six phony names in the whole fourteen, and the professor didn't pick a single one that I thought up myself in his complaint to us."

"P. A." Coins 6 Names.

The names coined by the press agent were given by Trenholm as: "Long Time Sleep, Thunder Stride, Flying Eagle, Deer Foot, Knocks Off Three, and Young Man Kick-a-hole-in-the-Sky."

All the others, he said, were received by birth or from the other kids on the Indian school playground. [Samples: Horse Meat and Twin Trees and Two Arrows, Seneca brothers, last minute addition to the relay. Trenholm said the great grand-uncle of Twin Trees and Two Arrows was Grant's secretary of war.]

A conventionally clad sightseeing trip around the capital was the sole reward for the 500 miles of loin cloth running, ending in a spectacular real relay sprint from Capitol Hill to the White House. [The preceding miles had been done with one Indian at a jog trot, the rest trailing in a truck.]

Run Out of Way.

Old Pennsylvania avenue has seldom seen a flashier athletic event, timed to high noon by the Indians running 38 time killing miles out of the way, through crossing the wrong bridge.

Bronzed skins shimmered, bright blue and red sateen loin cloths gleamed, reflectors [which are to an Indian runner what head and tail lights are to an auto] flashed brightly in the sun. They wore brand new loin cloths, spares brought along and donned this morning to meet a President, Trenholm, a man of forethought, said. He gave $5 as cost per man for clothes—headband, feather, loin cloth, moccasins.

Trenholm said he burned out a battery every night, making his car crawl at six miles an hour with the runners.

If the grains of corn were symbolic of the invitation, the resting place chosen by the Indians was symbolic of change. The Indians pitched no teepees. They stayed at the Willard hotel.

FIRE DAMAGES SHOW'S SIGN.

Fire believed to have been caused by a short circuit yesterday damaged a large electric sign in front of the Palace theater, 159 West Randolph street.

HEALTHIEST GIRL AND BOY IN CITY CHOSEN AT FAIR

A 137 pound girl and a 131 pound boy were adjudged the healthiest girl and boy in Chicago yesterday in the finals of "perfect health" contest at the World's Fair.

The girl is Miss Katherine Dwyer, 18 years old, 2823 Warsaw avenue, who was a member of the June graduating class of Roosevelt school. Sun tanned, blonde, of athletic build, and 5 feet 7¼ inches tall, she reached without difficulty the perfect health score set up by the Cook county board of health.

Her health was perfect, but when asked how she maintained it, she replied: "By eating everything except potatoes."

Sick Twice in Life.

She swims, rides a bicycle, won her city athletic letter last year at Roosevelt school, and has only been sick twice in her life—first with whooping cough and then with measles.

The boy is Mortimer Foxman, 16 years old, son of Mrs. Gertrude Foxman, 2928 Cottage Grove avenue. Mortimer is also 5 feet 7¼ inches tall, and has reached his sixteenth year without any sickness. He lays his excellent physique to "lots of exercise, good eating, and regular hours." He swims, hunts, and is a junior at Austin High school.

Both Get $100 Prizes.

Both winners, whom the judges termed "outstanding among the city group for general physical makeup," were awarded $100. Today they will be matched with the healthiest farm boys and girls in the United States to decide the question of whether city life or country life is best. A $250 cash award goes to the two winners in this contest.

The farming class will be represented today by three 4H club winners of a contest at the International Live Stock exposition last year.

They are Glen L. Sherwood of Larned, Kas., healthiest farm boy, and Shirley Drew of Columbia, Mo., and Clista Millspaugh of Mt. Pleasant, Ia., who tied for honors as the healthiest farm girl.

World's Fair Notes

Spanish-American day, commemorating the sinking of the Merrimac by Richard Pearson Hobson in Santiago harbor, Cuba, and other naval and military action in Cuba and Porto Rico, will be observed at the Fair Saturday.

A special train carrying more than 350 executives and employés of the Motors Products company of Detroit will arrive tomorrow night over the Michigan Central railroad.

Three one week old pigs were exchanged for four adult admissions and four children's tickets at the Fair gates yesterday by Alfred Dohe, a farmer who lives near Bensonville, Ill. The pigs were taken to the Administration building, where they caused a commotion by escaping and running through the halls.

Guesses on the weight of the prize Aberdeen-Angus steer, Ace of Spades, being exhibited at the Armour building at the Fair, range from 350 to 3,000 pounds. Ten prizes each day will be given by Armour & Co. to those guessing nearest the steer's live weight and the amount of beef he "dresses out" to. He will be slaughtered at the end of the week.

NAVAL RESERVES FINISH ANNUAL LAKE MANEUVERS

Naval reservists of the Ninth naval district yesterday afternoon completed their annual maneuvers in Lake Michigan. Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the area, announced that seventeen ships and twenty-three planes, engaged in a three day sham battle, reached a solution of their "problem," involving the defense and attack of a certain section of the lake near Manitowoc, Wis., late yesterday afternoon. The ships and planes will proceed to Milwaukee, where Admiral Cluverius will review them tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Rear Admiral E. J. King, chief of the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department, arrived at the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday. He and Admiral Cluverius will inspect the planes this afternoon. Accompanying Admiral King as his aid is Lieut. George Moffett, son of the late Rear Admiral William Moffett, former commandant at the station, who was killed in the crash of the dirigible Akron. Admiral King will return to Washington by plane tomorrow.

Last night the 300 reserve marines in training for a two weeks' period at the station were reviewed by Admirals King and Cluverius.

ANNUL MARRIAGE OF FILM, STAGE ACTOR HARLAN

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Kenneth Harlan, stage and screen actor, today was granted an annulment of his marriage here on Nov. 9, 1932, to Phyllis McClure, screen writer and artist now living in Hollywood. The annulment was granted by Judge Rowland K. Adams in Circuit court here.

In June attorneys for Harlan appeared and presented the actor's claim that the wedding was the result of a party at which both he and his wife "had partaken freely of intoxicating liquors."

The couple met, according to counsel for Harlan, while they were appearing with a stock company at the Auditorium theater here. The wedding, it was said, was Harlan's fourth venture into matrimony.

PROFITEERS IN FOOD WARNED BY ROOSEVELT

New Deal Will Stick to Farm Program.

Recent Advances Not Included.

An inspection of the latest release on this subject by the department of labor, dated yesterday and distributed today, verified the President's statement that the average price of all foods has increased slightly less than 6 per cent in the last year.

But the release quoted price ranges on July 31, which is two weeks ago, and since that date there are reported to have been radical increases in food prices.

The report also showed that cereal prices have risen 16 per cent, and that meat prices have also increased by 16 per cent. Dairy products, it is reported, rose about 4 per cent. Then, under the classification of "other foods," the report indicates these staples decreased in price by 8 per cent. "Other foods," it was explained, include sugar, coffee and tea, unaffected by the drouth at all, and vegetables.

Then, within a few hours after the President's conference, the department of agriculture in a formal analysis of drouth conditions reported that "a higher level of food prices on the whole may be expected."

More Drouth Funds Needed.

The President told newspaper reporters that he expected the 525 million dollar drouth relief fund to last until next January, when congress meets again, but he predicted that it would all be spent by that time.

Recalling the adventures of a Louisiana dentist who last year, on a $40,000 start, bought 20,000,000 bushels of wheat on future contracts and boosted the wheat price to $1.25 a bushel, only to have it collapse in a sensational way, Mr. Roosevelt said this hurt the farmers and that he would take steps to prevent it happening again.

This afternoon at a lengthy White House conference attended by Mr. Wallace, Secretaries Ickes and Perkins, Acting Relief Administrator Aubrey Williams, Lawrence Westbrook, chief of the relief administration's drouth section, and Victor Christgau, acting administrator of AAA, the situation was again canvassed.

Emerging from this session, Secretary Wallace declared that the greatest problems of the drouth at present were in finding feed for live stock, and in providing relief for poverty stricken farmers.

For the former, Mr. Wallace indicated, there will be created a "live stock feed commission," which will be given more or less autocratic powers to control, purchase and store forage. This commission would also, he said, watch over the activities of speculators on grain exchanges.

For the farmers Mr. Williams said the administration was eager to give them work relief, but if no work is available they will receive at least $25 a month in cash.

Department's Food Analysis.

The department of agriculture's analysis of the food situation contained in its detailed discussion of the drouth made the following comments, in part, on various types of foods:

"FOOD GRAINS—The large carryover of wheat, together with the new crop, even though the crop is small, gives assurance of ample supplies for the 1934-35 season.

"MEAT—The total meat supply for the remainder of 1934 is expected to be about the same as in the latter half of 1933, since the prospective decrease in pork and the 15 per cent increase in storage stocks of all meats are likely to be about offset by increased supplies of beef, veal and mutton. Because of the large numbers of unfinished live stock being slaughtered this summer, the large decrease in this year's pig crop, and the smaller numbers of cattle and lambs that will be fed, total meat supplies for the first half of 1935, especially supplies of the better grades, are expected to be very much smaller than those of recent years.

"MILK, BUTTER, AND CHEESE—Milk production per cow . . . on Aug. 1 was the lowest for that month in the 10 years for which records are available. The decreased total milk supply will result in a decreased production of butter and cheese, unless prices of these products rise relatively faster than prices of whole milk.

"CHICKENS AND EGGS—The production of eggs in the United States on Aug. 1 was about 10 per cent less than a year earlier and about one-fifth below the average of recent years.

"FRUITS—The combined production of United States fruit crops during 1934, as indicated by Aug. 1 conditions, is expected to be about 6 per cent below that of 1933 and 13 per cent below the average production of recent years.

"VEGETABLES—Because of the larger acreages planted this year the combined production of all important commercial vegetables is expected to be about 14 per cent larger than in 1933 and only 1 per cent below the average of recent years. The condition of most of these crops on Aug. 1 was extremely low and yields per acre are likely to be small, but the larger planted acreages will more than offset these decerases in yields."

Memorial Service

Two memorials to the band of soldiers and settlers who were massacred by Indians shortly after they had set out from old Fort Dearborn just 122 years ago were held yesterday in Chicago.

One of the ceremonies was held at the site of the old fort, which is where the London Guarantee and Accident building now stands at Michigan avenue and Wacker drive. Flowers were strewn about the streets and were crushed under the hoofs of horses from the Black Horse troop.

Participants in the program included the Junior Association of Commerce, which conducted the affair, Boy Scouts, the Fort Dearborn post of the American Legion, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Daughters of 1812. There were a number of speakers.

The other ceremony was held at the World's Fair in connection with Irish day. Three Irish heroes of the unequal battle, Ensign George Ronan, and Sergts. Hayes and Caldwell, who died fighting, were singled out for special mention.

BLACK RESIGNS AS GOVERNOR OF FEDERAL RESERVE

President Gives Him New Bank Contact Job.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of Eugene R. Black as governor of the federal reserve board and appointed him a roving contact man between the White House and the banks of the country.

EUGENE R. BLACK.

Gov. Black's new assignment will be "to muster the strength of our financial institutions behind recovery in America," he explained today shortly after his retirement as head of the reserve system was announced by President Roosevelt.

Observers saw in the President's new move another attempt by the New Deal to thaw out the billions of dollars in commercial credits which are lying idle in banks. Foreseeing the day when the flood of government easy money can no longer supply credit to the country, the President is seeking to reopen the routine channels of private credit.

Creates New Job.

Black's post as liaison officer between the banks and the White House is a new one created by the President today. It will carry no compensation, and Black will hold at the same time his old job as governor of the Atlanta, Ga., Federal Reserve bank, which pays a salary of $25,000.

In a letter addressed to Gov. Black, the President explained the duties of the new office and complimented Black on his record as governor.

The President wrote:

"Dear Governor:

"I have accepted with great reluctance your resignation as governor of the federal reserve board, effective today, as requested by you.

"And now that you are leaving Washington and returning to Atlanta, where you will reassume the post of governor of the federal reserve bank there, I am glad you are undertaking a new and important additional task.

"Can Do Much Good."

"You can do much good by presenting the recovery program to the country's reserve banks, commercial banks, and other financial institutions; by acquainting them with the successive steps taken by the administration which have resulted in the present prosperous condition of these institutions and which make possible their coöperation with the administration in its program of complete business rehabilitation.

"I am pleased to think that your position as governor of the federal reserve bank at Atlanta will give you opportunity to undertake this work and that that bank, together with the federal reserve board, will coöperate with you in its performance.

Expresses Appreciation.

"I want also to express to you my deep personal appreciation for the fine service you have rendered at all times since you assumed the governorship of the federal reserve board. The splendid record you have made entitles you to the gratitude not only of those directly interested in government and banking, but to the millions of bank depositors throughout the country, who owe much to you because of the wise judgment you exercised in the critical times of not long ago.

"The thanks of the entire country should, therefore, be conveyed to you, along with this expression of my own personal appreciation. I am thankful, also, for the reason that, although you are leaving us here in Washington, you still will be as active, or even more active if such is possible, in the discharge of the Atlanta's bank's responsibilities and in taking on new duties which will help the whole country.

"Very sincerely yours,
"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

No Successor Chosen.

Black handed in his resignation as governor of the federal reserve board at noon today. He has been seeking to resign since last winter, but the President has consistently refused to let him go.

Apparently no successor has yet been chosen for the governorship. Several names have been mentioned, the most prominent of which is that of Marriner S. Eccles, Utah banker, who is now a special assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. Eccles is a protégé of Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, radical head of the brain trust.

Black came to the governorship of the federal reserve board on May 15, 1933, to succeed Eugene Meyer, President Hoover's appointee as governor.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The NRA today announced three Blue Eagle removals and one restoration.

The Eagle was restored to the Shawnee Battery Products company of Cincinnati upon receipt of information "the company had made full restitution of back wages to employés."

U. S. WON'T LET MILWAUKEE PUT CASH IN BOXES

Blocks City's Plan to Escape State Charge.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Uncle Sam said "No" today to Milwaukee's plan to store two and a half million dollars in safety deposit boxes to escape payment of the 2 per cent state charge for deposit insurance, and the cash remained in the bank.

"Hoarding and contrary to federal banking regulations," federal bank attorneys called the plan.

Hoarding or not, it is costing the city money to keep its funds in the bank. To thrifty Milwaukee that is poor business. The situation is this:

Two per cent of bank deposits is paid into the state deposit insurance fund. The bank, in this case the First Wisconsin National, pays the city 1½ per cent interest on daily balances, but assesses one-half of one per cent service charge for handling the money going to the insurance fund. Therefore it costs the city 1 per cent to keep its money in the bank. On two and one-half million dollars that means $25,000 a year.

To save this sum City Controler William Wendt planned to put surplus funds in safety deposit boxes and yesterday notified the bank he was withdrawing $2,500,000. The bank applied to the Federal Reserve bank at Chicago for bills of large denomination and was asked for what purpose the money was to be used. Told of the city's plan, the Federal Reserve bank sought legal advice, which resulted in refusal to provide the cash.

John W. Mudroch, city treasurer, said the city has already paid $132,000 into the deposit insurance fund. Now he and Mr. Wendt are trying to evolve some other way to avoid paying for the privilege of banking.

FESS TO BATTLE DONAHEY IN OHIO FOR SENATE SEAT

Ex-Chairman of G. O. P. Gets 301,201 Votes.

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Two veteran politicians will fight it out for the Ohio senatorial seat in the November election, returns tabulated from yesterday's primary vote showed today.

A. V. Donahey, Columbus, who campaigned under the cognomen of "Honest Vic," three time former Democratic governor of Ohio, and Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs former Republican national chairman, arch foe of the New Deal, defeating their respective opponents without great trouble.

Donahey received 257,143 votes while his nearest opponent, Gov. George White, Marietta, received 166,546 and Charles O. West, Granville, administration candidate, 164,673.

Fess Far Ahead.

Fess received 301,201 Republican votes while Walter B. Wanamaker, Akron, his nearest opponent, tallied 107,426.

In the race for governor, Martin L. Davey, Kent tree doctor, will head the Democratic ticket in opposition to Clarence J. Brown, Republican of Blanchester. Davey received 214,105 votes with his nearest opponent, Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, gathering 133,757. Brown gathered more than 128,000 votes than Davey, with a total of 342,986, while Daniel E. Morgan, Cleveland, the runner-up, polled 127,856.

Unofficial total Democratic vote for governor was 602,018; for senator 588,362. The total Republican vote for governor was 623,212; for senator, 543,765.

The total 1932 Democratic primary vote was 468,280; the Republican, 754,610. The 1932 November election was Roosevelt, 1,301,695; Hoover, 1,227,319.

See Break in Nebraska Party Lines.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A bolt of Nebraska Progressive Republicans from the senatorial candidacy of Robert G. Simmons, Republican nominee, was forecast tonight as tabulation of returns ceased in the state's record breaking primarily election vote of more than 300,000 ballots.

Donald Gallagher, friend of Senator George W. Norris, radical Republican, predicted the progressive swing to support Representative E. R. Burke of Omaha, Democratic nominee and "New Deal" advocate, who piled up an amazing plurality of more than 66,000 votes over Gov. Charles W. Bryan in yesterday's election.

"I expect the senator to come into the state and tell the people about Simmons' record in congress," Gallagher said. "It is a bad record. There is no question but that Simmons was backed by the power trust in this campaign."

Bryan's Crushing Defeat.

Burke rolled up 116,364 votes to 50,114 for Gov. Bryan with only 43 scattered precincts of the state's 2,028 unreported. It was the most crushing defeat Bryan had suffered in the nine times he has participated in a state campaign.

Simmons, who assailed the NRA and AAA and charged federal burocracy is threatening American liberty, ran away from two Republican opponents who have been aligned usually with the party's progressive elements. He rolled up 72,939 votes to 40,716 for former State Senator Kenneth S. Wherry of Pawnee City, and 33,053 for Robert Smith of Omaha, old friend of the late Senator R. B. Howell, with only 44 precincts unaccounted for.

Gov. Futrell Renamed.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 15.—(AP)—With Gov. J. M. Futrell assured of renomination by a majority of more than 50,000 votes over his opponent, Howard A. Reed, attention turned tonight to other state races in the Arkansas primary of yesterday, where results still were undecided.

For attorney general, Carl E. Bailey on incomplete returns had 97,763 votes and Hal L. Norwood, seeking renomination, 85,642. For secretary of state, Ed F. McDonald, incumbent, had 99,861, against 80,350 for C. G. Hall.

All but two of Arkansas' congressmen, seeking reëlection, were virtually assured of nomination. Congressman D. G. Glover of the Sixth district was the exception. John McClellan seemed to have defeated him. Congressman Tillman B. Parks, Seventh district, received 7,689, against 4,923 for C. Marsh, attorney. A run-off primary will be necessary in the district, as there were three other opponents.

Ross Named Third Time.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Gov. Ben C. Ross, former cowboy, who is the state's first chief executive ever to campaign for a third term, was assured of the Democratic nomination today as the votes from yesterday's primary came pouring in.

He held a lead of nearly 2 to 1 over Frank Martin, former attorney general, who had 12,816 votes from 452 of the state's 819 precincts.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest Frank L. Stephan, also a former attorney general, held a lead almost as decisive. He had 13,141 votes, against 7,681 for J. Wesley Holden.

JAMES REED OF MISSOURI HITS THE NEW DEAL

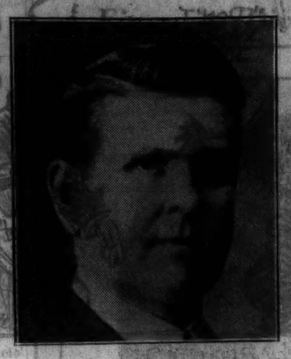

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Detroit News today quotes former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, in an interview as criticizing what he termed "running the nation's affairs by politicians and college professors in Washington."

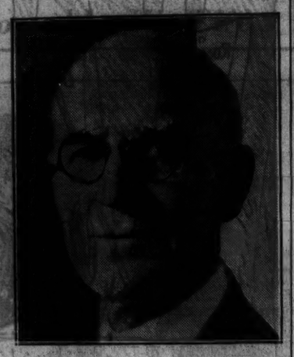

"If the government only would realize," the News quoted Reed as saying, "that the people of this country have brains—business brains—then we might have a chance to get back to normal times.

"What the government should do," he added, "is to repeal these stupid laws and discharge the boards and bureaus interfering with business and give the people a chance to run their own affairs. If they can't solve their problems they are unsolvable.

"If there is any improvement it has been wrought by plunging the country into debt, by broadcasting money. It's just like a man who borrows money and for a time has some to spend, but who in the end must bear the burden of his borrowing."

Carveth Wells Bares Soviet Regard for Tugwell, Moley

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Westport, Conn., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The names of Rexford Guy Tugwell, Raymond Moley, and William C. Bullitt were whispered reverently on thousands of tongues in the soviet union in 1932, long before the vast majority of Americans had ever heard of them, Carveth Wells, noted explorer and lecturer, revealed in an interview today.

When Mr. Wells toured Russia two years ago he was constantly puzzled, he said, by queries about "Comrades" Tugwell, Moley, and Bullitt. Tugwell is now undersecretary of agriculture and known as the head of the administration brain trust; Moley, no longer officially connected with the government, remains one of President Roosevelt's closest advisers, and Bullitt is the American ambassador at Moscow.

Assured He Was Wrong.

"In my innocence at that time," remarked Mr. Wells, "I laughed at the questions. I had never heard of any of the three gentlemen, and I assured my questioners that they were not important figures in American life.

"Our young guides, girls and boys, assured me confidently that I was wrong.

"'Comrade Bullitt is going to get Russia recognized by the United States,' they told me. "'Comrade Tugwell and Moley are friends of the soviet union.'"

"I should have been wiser," admitted the explorer. "Everywhere I went at that time, I saw distorted cartoons of President Hoover labeled 'The Fathead in the White House.' Beside them were pictures of Mr. Roosevelt labeled 'The Next Communistic President of the United States.'

Amazed at Appointments.

"Those soviet girls and boys knew more than I did. I was amazed and horrified when I saw Tugwell, Moley, and Bullitt elevated to their high places of trust under the present administration."

Based upon what he saw in Russia two years ago, Mr. Wells is firmly convinced, he said, that the United States is following steadily in the path of the soviet union.

"Every step taken by the Roosevelt administration is a copy of what the soviet union calls the NEP, the new economic program," he declared. "The NRA is exactly what Russia calls collectivism.

"Most important of all, this administration is liquidating the American kulak. The kulak, in Russia, is the small business man and independent farmer. The aim there is to drive this class out of existence. Last year millions of them were removed to the satisfaction of the soviet government by starvation.

Compares "Cracking Down."

"The 'cracking down' on the small business man here under the codes of the NRA has not yet reached the forceful stage that it has taken under soviet rule, but the American kulak is slated for abolition. Only yesterday we read of the tenant farmer in Greenville, S. C., who committed suicide after being ordered to plow under three acres of cotton he had planted.

"The soviets make no secret of the fact that communism cannot succeed unless the kulaks are wiped out. A kulak is an individual who dares by his own efforts to reach an independent place in life. He cannot exist under the communistic form of government."

The "agent provocateur," the spy who mingles with the crowds in Russia and watches for traitors who speak critically of the government, is being duplicated in America, Mr. Wells pointed out.

Hits New Deal Spies.

"We have spies seeking for violations of the NRA," he declared. "Agents go about trying to buy automobiles under the code price with the object of giving information against dealers and getting them sent to jail. It may not be long, unless something is done, when the man who criticizes the administration will be clapped behind bars.

"I am asked sometimes when I speak of these things if I believe President Roosevelt is in favor of communism. I can only answer that his appointments of such men as Tugwell and Bullitt seem to indicate it. Bullitt, I understand, is the only diplomat at Moscow who has been granted an interview with Stalin and it is well known that Stalin has decreed that he will talk to no person who is not a communist. The British ambassador at Moscow in 1932, who had then been there two years, said that he had never been granted an audience with Stalin."

Tells of Poverty.

The explorer said that the poverty and distress in Russia was so horrifying that Americans could not conceive it.

"When I read of the appointments of men who were soviet heroes to prominent places in government, I became convinced that this country was headed towards communism," he remarked. "I dreaded an era of misery such as I had seen in the U. S. S. R. I purchased this piece of ground in the Connecticut hills and retired to it in the hope that I may retain this much out of the disaster that is sure to come unless the present tendency of the government is changed."

TEXTILE UNION FLAYS NRA AS UNFAIR TO LABOR

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A vigorous attack on the various boards of the NRA as "agencies and associations of employers" was made today at the annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America.

The 600 delegates adopted a resolution declaring that they would rely on unionization and strikes rather than the NRA boards "unless we obtain adequate and fair representation on the code authorities."

The resolution charged that, while the NRA had failed to eliminate unemployment and had forced the wages of skilled workers down to the minimum, it had organized employers and increased their profits several hundred per cent.

Verbal fight centered around whether the union should indorse the unemployment insurance bill introduced in the last congress by Representative Ernest Lundeen, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota. His measure was attacked as "communistic" in inspiration, but the delegates finally indorsed it.

BIG NRA SHAKEUP PLANS REVEALED; JOHNSON TO STAY

New Setup to Relax Grip on Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, promoter of the Blue Eagle, hinted today that he may remain as "chairman of the board of directors" when the NRA in the near future is taken out from under his single dictatorship and reorganized under a commission.

Johnson's announcement of his willingness to remain as titular head of the NRA came when he revealed plans for a sweeping shakeup of the recovery administration. Beside calling for Johnson's retirement as supreme administrator, the plans envisage a greater freedom for industry, a consolidation of existing codes, and a general retreat of the NRA.

"If President Wants Me."

"If the President wants me to stay, I might serve as chairman of the board, provided it did not take all of my time," Johnson said today in discussing his part in the NRA's new future.

Previously the general had said that he preferred to retire completely as soon as the NRA was placed under a commission instead of under his sole dictation.

Johnson said he expected the whole reorganization of the NRA to be completed within the next 60 or 90 days. The first step, he said, will be the formal submission of plans to the President. This is expected to take place before this week-end, at which time Johnson hopes to leave for another vacation of two weeks.

Congress will be asked next winter to enact the revised NRA setup as a permanent government control over industry, Johnson disclosed. It will be the New Deal for business which President Roosevelt will try to fix on the country for all time.

The "Permanent" NRA.

This "permanent" NRA, as sketched by Johnson today would consist of a general governing board, a single administrative officer to carry out the board's dictates, and a long string of government representatives sitting on code authorities as umpires in disputes between employers and workers and between industry and the public. Broadly speaking, the NRA might retreat and allow business greater freedom.

"In general, I think industry ought to be self-governing, but the government always has to see that it doesn't exploit the public," Johnson said today. "There has to be somebody from the government on each code authority to see that industry does not exploit labor and that labor does not unduly hold up industry."

"Then there must be a general policy body of people, who can spread themselves thin enough to cover the whole problem," Johnson explained, turning to the commission which will replace him. "It can't be a cabinet board; it can't be a board of men who have other duties.

Compares With Corporation.

"The best analogy I can think of is the board of directors of a well run corporation with one officer, the president, who is responsible for administration. In the NRA it might be our new NRA advisory council or perhaps a new high court of commerce, I don't know yet."

The advisory council is a body of nine, three members each from the industrial, consumers, and labor advisory boards of the NRA, which Johnson recently set up to pass on all codes. He said today that "it is working beautifully."

Johnson said that code making by the NRA is almost finished and that the new task is code administration. He said he hoped to boil the codes down from 500 to 250.

RIVAL LEADERS ENCOURAGED BY THE PRIMARIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—"The New Deal has taken some hard knocks," said Senator Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Dela.] today, referring to the Ohio primaries yesterday and those recently held in West Virginia. He is a chairman of his party's senatorial-congressional committee.

"A pronounced Roosevelt New Deal sentiment is gripping the voting population of the country," said Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

"Only yesterday Vic Donahey," Senator Hastings said, "independent candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio, wiped off the boards that able congressman, Charles West, who was entered in the race by the Roosevelt administration as an outstanding exponent of the New Deal."

Senator Hastings added that in West Virginia the Democrats beat Clem Shaver, one-time chairman of the Democratic national committee, to nominate Rush Holt, who if elected would be too young under the constitution to take a seat in the senate. He added Farley backed Shaver. He accused Roosevelt of setting up a personal party, including Senator Hiram Johnson and Robert M. La Follette Jr.

Farley declared:

"With a total of 26 states having held their primaries, accounting for 263 out of 435 members, or more than 60 per cent of the entire house membership, the results justify completely the feeling that the New Deal is increasingly popular with the people of the country. We should gain at least six senate seats for the Democrats."

STORY OF NEGRO WILL BE TOLD IN MUSIC PAGEANT

Jungle Scene to Open Aug. 25 Spectacle.

BY VIRGINIA GARNER

The theme and development of a Negro pageant, "O, Sing a New Song," which will be given the night of Aug. 25 in Soldiers' field, was outlined yesterday by Noble Sissle, Negro author of the pageant, at a luncheon given by Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Patrons and patronesses of the pageant who attended the luncheon included Rufus C. Dawes, chairman of the board, of which Mrs. McLaughlin is a member; Willoughby B. Walling, treasurer; Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Bertha Baur, Shreve Badger, Mrs. Henry Lytton, Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr., and Mrs. Charles King Corsant.

Richard B. Harrison, Negro actor who played the part of "de Lawd" in the play, "Green Pastures," read some of the lines he will have in "O, Sing a New Song." This spectacle will feature 5,000 Negro singers, actors, dancers, and musicians, and will be a musical history of the race.

Stage Jungle Scene.

Three principal episodes make up the pageant as outlined by Sissle. The first is laid in the African jungle. Primitive music and tom-tom accompaniments, exciting scenes in which native dances alternate with religious ceremonies and the incantations of witch doctors, provide fast and colorful action. Prince Meendi, a native of Nigeria, Africa, now a student at Northwestern university, is staging the religious ceremonies authentically, Sissle said.

The cotton fields of the south, where Negroes sway under their loads of cotton and sing old plantation melodies and spirituals, are used in the second episode to show the Negro in the new world before being freed. This episode ends with Lincoln's proclamation freeing Negroes from slavery, and a jubilee celebrating freedom.

In the third episode modern Negro music and dancing, religious ceremonies and life are portrayed.

Negro Composers Help.

An impressive list of Negro composers has contributed to the music of the pageant, including Sissle, Will Vedery, W. C. Handy, author of "St. Louis Blues," Will Marion Cook, Harry Lawrence Freeman, N. Clark Smith, Wesley Jones, and James Mundy.

Proceeds from the performance will go toward establishing musical scholarships for Negroes. Directing the pageant will be Thomas Wood Stevens.

"For several years we have been working toward this," said Sissle. "Feeling that the great Negro composers should express themselves in telling the story of their race before they died, we interested the Rosenwald fund, which gave us a start.

"The choruses and actors have been in rehersal for a month. Never before have the Negro people in America attempted a production of the magnitude and significance of this."

Louisiana House Moves to Throttle New Orleans for Huey

New Orleans, La., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long rode the state legislature at Baton Rouge hard today in his efforts to throttle the city administration of New Orleans, headed by his arch foe, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley. The "Kingfish" was put off the floor of the house for "offensive lobbying," but he stood back of the rail and directed his forces.

As their first step Long's legislators by a majority vote pushed through a resolution rendering obsolete the old requirement of a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules.

This was done to enable acts passed by this session of the legislature to be rushed through so as to become effective before the primary Sept. 11.

What Long Did.

With the decks thus cleared, Long's forces achieved the following feats:

1. Passed a bill through the house of representatives after acrimonious debate, authorizing a committee, patterned after the Seabury investigation in New York, to conduct an inquiry into the affairs of the city of New Orleans.

2. Prepared for passage a bill allowing the appointment of special officers at the polls on election day, and prohibiting police officers, not detailed by the board of election commissioners, from making arrests or interfering with electors.

3. Introduced a bill for special officers named by his officials to take the place of deputy sheriffs at the polls.

4. Introduced a bill amending the city of New Orleans' charter to prohibit the city from taxing anything which is not already taxed by the state.

Hits at Courts.

5. Introduced a bill prohibiting any court from having authority to issue orders or writs against the governor or National Guard when acting under proclamation of the governor. This would legalize his "partial martial law" and seizure of the registration office in New Orleans.

6. Offered a bill providing that no court shall have authority to issue any orders taking the books of the registrar of voters from his control. All of the present registrars of voters in Louisiana have been appointed by Long when governor, or the incumbent, O. K. Allen.

If these bills are passed, or even some of them, every parish and every city in Louisiana, observers pointed out, will be under the control of appointees of Senator Long or his governor, Allen.

During debate on the bill authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate the city administration of New Orleans, an anti-Long legislator asked that the bill be amended to include an inquiry into the affairs of the parishes of St. Bernard and Jefferson, which lie just beyond New Orleans. Both of these parishes have voted overwhelmingly for Senator Long, and in them are declared to flourish some of the largest gambling resorts in the south. The Long forces refused to agree to the amendment

CHARITY FUEL BULK GOING TO SOUTH ILLINOIS

Southern Illinois, producing the highest priced coal mined in the state, will receive the largest share of the charity fuel business it was learned yesterday.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission will soon give orders for about three million tons of coal all of which must be mined in the state.

According to present plans of the I. E. R. C. purchasing experts, the southern fields will be given 38.5 per cent of the total, Central Illinois, 34.5 per cent; Belleville district, 22.1 per cent; northern Illinois, 4.5 per cent, and miscellaneous, 1.5 per cent. The apportionment is in accordance with production figures for the first three months of this year.

The relief commission members will be asked to approve the coal purchase plans tomorrow, after having delayed action on the proposed specifications last week, since which time several revisions have been made.

Meanwhile, it was learned that a suggested plan for lowering the cost of the charity coal to the taxpayers has been rejected by the retail coal code authority.

It was suggested that the relief commission could make the huge purchase on the basis of "British thermal units for one cent," instead of by the ton.

It was learned yesterday, however, that the retail coal code authority recently warned the City of Chicago to stop this system of coal buying, which has been used successfully for 23 years.

"The retail code body says that the 'B. t. u's for one cent' basis of awarding bids is a 'pernicious competitive practice that must be stopped,'" said F. C. Martini, city contract engineer.

I will give him the full swing of the patronage of office. I will give him the whole host of ministerial influence. —Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

UNDER A NEW STATE CONSTITUTION.

One of the substantial objections to a comprehensive revision of the state constitution which the proposed constitutional convention would attempt has not been given the attention it deserves. The present constitution is not merely the long and detailed document adopted by the people of Illinois in 1870. It is also the interpretations and applications of its provisions by the courts which have accumulated in the sixty-four years since its ratification. This body of law is embodied in 585 volumes of decisions of the Supreme and Appellate courts of the state rendered in the multifarious litigations of the people of Illinois through more than six decades.

These decisions overlap and repeat. Some of them deal with statutes since repealed, and may be, though not necessarily, obsolete. All Illinois law under the constitution of 1870 might, therefore, be expressed within less than 585 volumes, but making full allowance the scope and variety of the decided law of Illinois is great, much greater than the layman will realize without reflection. It is a vast structure upon which his rights and legal relations under Illinois law rest and this structure itself rests upon the constitution of 1870. To abolish the latter and replace it with a new basic law will require the gradual erection, through years of litigation, of a new structure of law in judicial decisions affecting rights of person and property throughout the state. If and where the new constitution adopts exactly the same phraseology as the present constitution, former decisions may be followed, but in all other cases, and they must be many and important since the argument for a convention is based on alleged need for a general change of the present constitution, the legal rights of the citizen under the new laws must wait upon numberless new determinations by the courts.

Thus a period of uncertainty as to what is lawful and what is not in thousands of cases is the only result certain from the proposed new constitution. It is common sense for every citizen of Illinois to reflect upon this prospect and ask himself whether correction of the faults of the present constitution or benefits reasonably expectable from comprehensive revision at this time justify the proposed convention. He is already in a state of great uncertainty created by radical new laws enacted by the federal congress, laws which are departures from long accepted principles and practices, carrying us into new fields of theory. If these laws are not repealed there will be years of litigation to determine their validity and their application. Do the people of Illinois wish to add to the uncertainties unavoidably consequent upon unprecedented and radical federal legislation the uncertainties which a new constitutional law in Illinois will unescapably impose upon them for many years?

BEHIND THE FACADE.

The Duke endowment, patron of humanitarian enterprises in the south, received a respectful hearing on its protest against the proposed PWA loan of $3,761,000 to Greenwood county, South Carolina. The endowment, it appears, derives much of its income from power properties with which the government proposes to compete, to the ruin of private investors.

The situation is not without its ironies. The professors have paid little heed to the protests of small investors whose savings, like those of the Duke family, built the power services of the south. Under the New Deal, it would appear, an impersonal endowment which did nothing more than inherit a lot of money is entitled to a deference which is not due to individuals who sweated to earn their dollars and deprived themselves of comforts and luxuries to provide for a rainy day.

This is not to say, of course, that the endowment is not justified in its protest. It is; but the outrage the government is contemplating against the Duke fund is certainly no greater than the outrage which is being perpetrated against thousands of other investors, large and small. If the professors have been indifferent to the small investor and respectful to the huge endowment fund, it may be because they think that ten million dollars has a standing before the government which a few hundred dollars does not merit. It is possible, too, that the professors are more considerate of the fund than of the individual because they have been or hope to become beneficiaries of the endowment's largess.

In principle the Greenwood loan is indistinguishable from the Tennessee valley jobbery. The government has planned to waste hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money in power schemes for which there is no need. A handsome façade of noble purposes is erected, behind which the old game of building up a political machine with jobs, contracts, and local benefits is being played.

There are victims, of course, but the propaganda mill in Washington says nothing about them. To make jobs for TVA employés, coal miners must lose theirs. So must employés of existing utility companies. So must railroad employés engaged in transporting coal. Many of these men and women, when thrown out of work, will become a charge upon the taxpayers. And, of course, the taxpayers will have to pay for the construction of duplicate services.

The investors in existing power companies in the south must be puzzled. They gave electric service to the south when it didn't have any and in doing so provided employment and wages for thousands in mines and mills. Instead of rewarding the industrial pioneers for their contribution to national welfare, the government is proceeding to confiscate their property as if they were outlaws. It appears that the constitutional protections of private property do not count for much when they run counter to the administration's plan to build a political party at other people's expense.

JUSTICE TO A SUPER-CITIZEN.

An ordinary citizen who parks his car in a no-parking zone can count himself lucky if he gets off with a fine of a dollar and another dollar for costs. That is the minimum penalty, imposed on the first offender who didn't know the rules. He is supposed to feel grateful to the judge for the show of leniency.

It seems scarcely necessary to point out that Mr. George Basso is no ordinary citizen. He knew the rules governing parking in front of his office at 130 North Wells street and flouted them deliberately and repeatedly. A ticket a day was his motto, but nothing ever happened to him because when he had received a pocketful of summonses he mailed them to his good friend Grecco, clerk in the Trafic court, and there the matter ended.

By accident an envelope containing a consignment of the tickets-to-be-fixed reached Police Commissioner Allman instead of Trafic Court Clerk Grecco. The envelope was torn when it reached the postoffice and as the documents seemed to have something to do with the police the letter was forwarded to the commissioner.

Mr. Basso may have been somewhat annoyed, but retained his composure and a lawyer named Ricker. After a decent interval and a continuance or two, Super-Citizen Basso finally consented to make his appearance in the Trafic court, before his honor Judge Justin McCarthy. Mr. Basso, through counsel, said he was sorry. The judge delivered an oration on this and that and wound up by fining the super-citizen a dollar for each of twelve parking violations.

No costs were assessed. No account was taken of the fact that the violations took place time after time in the same location in open defiance of the law. Nothing was said about the fact that Basso had conspired with the clerk of the Trafic court to defeat justice. If Judge McCarthy had climbed down from the bench, kissed Brother Basso on both cheeks and presented him the keys to the city, suitably inscribed, his honor would not more clearly have demonstrated his conviction that Basso, an organizer for the janitors' union, is above the law, a super-citizen who can defy the police and flout the courts with substantial impunity.

Readers who may be interested in such matters are advised that Judge McCarthy's term expires in 1936.

PORTO RICAN INDEPENDENCE.

The newspaper Correspondencia in San Juan, Porto Rico, has conducted a poll among its readers to determine their views on their future relations to this country. More than 11,600 voted for independence. Fewer than 4,400 voted for statehood. Fewer than 300 expressed themselves in favor of autonomy.

If this may be taken as a fair sample of opinion on the island the grant of independence should be forthcoming. There is no question of this country's ability to get along without Porto Rico; if the islanders think they can get along without us the matter should be easily arranged. We have nothing to gain from an association forced upon the Porto Ricans against their will unless a complex of troublesome problems can be regarded as a gain.

Of course, the granting of independence must mean exactly what it says. An independent Porto Rico will lie wholly outside the American tarif wall and will have no claims upon the American taxpayers and the American treasury for relief or anything else. This country will assume no responsibilities for maintaining order beyond those implicit in the Monroe Doctrine.

The United States can hardly be expected to grant independence and yet treat the territory as if it were still a part of the United States. The Cubans have enjoyed that advantage, but one Cuba is enough. If the Porto Ricans have clearly in mind what independence will mean and still desire it, they should have it.

A GAY DEBUNKER.

[Rocky Mountain News, Denver.]

Col. John Philip Hill, pioneer in the movement to end prohibition by ridicule, is bidding for a seat in the United States senate. The Maryland cavalier has pined to return to public life since he fell victim of the political circumstance that the Democrats were the Free State's wet party the year of prohibition doom.

It was John Philip who declared his Baltimore city residence to be a "farm," claiming thereby the legal right to make hard cider. In his back yard, before the eyes of an invited multitude, he plucked apples that he had tied by strings to shade trees and crushed them in a cider press. Then, to prove that prohibition had not repealed the law of fermentation, he announced publicly each day the reading of the cider gauge that measured the rise of alcoholic content. When fermentation had ceased John Philip again invited the multitude to come and partake.

A gay debunker is John Philip. While he probably will not repeal the law of averages, which foretells election of a Democratic senator in Maryland this year, he is certain to make the campaign entertaining.

THE SOUTHERN WAY.

where the road turns south and there was a smile on the lips of his mouth.

There was a song
at the door of his heart and he waved to her from his wooden cart.

"Where go you, lass, with the sun still low
and the wind ablow?

"Where go you, girl?
and the morning quiet yet and cold."

well I know that."
She hid her eyes
beneath her hat.

"My creaking cart,
my horse and I are bound for the hills

"beyond a town.
You come along and ride with me
and sing my song!"

She thanked him there
her way instead.

And off he went;
and to this day
She never walks

HARVEST MITES OR CHIGGERS.

THE so-called harvest mite is fairly abundant throughout the United States, and in many sections it is impossible to walk across a field or a grass plot without becoming a prey to these annoying parasites. Chiggers that attack man are larval forms possessing three pairs of legs and are various species of the genus Trombidinm. One of the most common is the so-called Mexican chigger.

These mites are supposed to feed upon insects and insect eggs, but they have become parasitic to man and are particularly annoying when they burrow down a hair follicle or a sweat gland. From the bottom of the follicle or of the gland they are able to cut their way through the skin. They do not bore into or through the skin or excavate channels, as is the habit of the female itch mite that causes scabies.

At first the chigger feeds on the surface of the skin, causing marked reddening and irritation. In this situation the parasite is not buried, but if irritated or attacked, as by scratching, it is able to retreat rapidly down a hair follicle or sweat gland. The irritation caused by the mite is greatly increased by the scratching that one automatically indulges in to allay the intolerable itching and thus the skin is frequently infected by the finger nails or the clothing.

Attacks may be prevented by the use of powdered sulphur. This may be dusted over the skin of the legs and a small quantity placed in each stocking. Sulphur is an almost certain preventive of mite infestation. Powdered naphthalene, the substance composing mothballs, may be used with apparently the same effect. Naphthalene has, in addition, the value of discouraging numerous other biting insects.

Great relief from itching may be obtained by taking a warm salt bath or by killing the mites in their lairs by the application of benzine, sulphur ointment, or carbolized vaseline. A drop or two of chloroform may be used at the site of the swelling caused by the bite. This drug will gradually work down the hair follicle or into the bottom of the sebaceous gland and if applied frequently will kill the insect.

Most harvest mites are killed by exposure to the direct rays of the sun, and grass that is kept short will have a lower mite population than that which is allowed to grow. If chiggers are present in considerable quantities on lawns they may be destroyed by dusting the grass with powdered sulphur or by spraying with a dilute kerosene emulsion to which sulphur has been added.

The tropical chigger, Dermatophilus penatrans, is a flea and not a mite. This particular form attacks man and is also known as the sand flea. It is found in sandy regions where there is considerable underbrush. Impregnated females have the very bad habit of burrowing into the skin, particularly under the toenails. The wounds become much inflamed and are very painful, quite distinct from the intense itching of the mite chigger. Frequently ulceration with pus formation results. This pernicious insect formerly existed only in tropical regions, but is now known in many semi-tropical areas.

LEMONADE.

R. P. writes: That the regular drinking of lemonade caused severe cramps during the menstrual period.

REPLY.

Lemon juice, besides containing vitamins, is largely citric acid. This is oxidized in the body to carbon dioxide and water. The use of lemonade is followed by a slight increase in the alkali reserve. Perhaps you are exceedingly susceptible to minute changes in the reaction of the blood. Many people have quite the opposite condition and need alkali.

TRACHOMA.

R. M. J. writes: What treatment would you advise for trachoma? I have tried almost everything without much success.

REPLY.

If you have a real case of trachoma it should be treated by a competent opthalmotorist without delay. Home treatment cannot be relied upon. Trachoma is infectious and may spread to other members of the family. If neglected it may lead to ulcers on the eyeball [cornea] and to other serious eye conditions.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Sir John Gilmour, the British home secretary, is planning very big changes in the police force. Lord Trenchard, commissioner of police for the metropolitan area, and Maj. Gen. Atcherly, inspector general of constabulary for the whole country, have been advising him. He expects shortly to make an announcement of the steps he intends to take. They include:

Establishment of a national detective force, with its headquarters at Scotland Yard and branch offices attached to every police force throughout the country.

One standard uniform for all police forces in the country.

Abolition or severe modification of the system under which army and naval officers are appointed as chief constables.

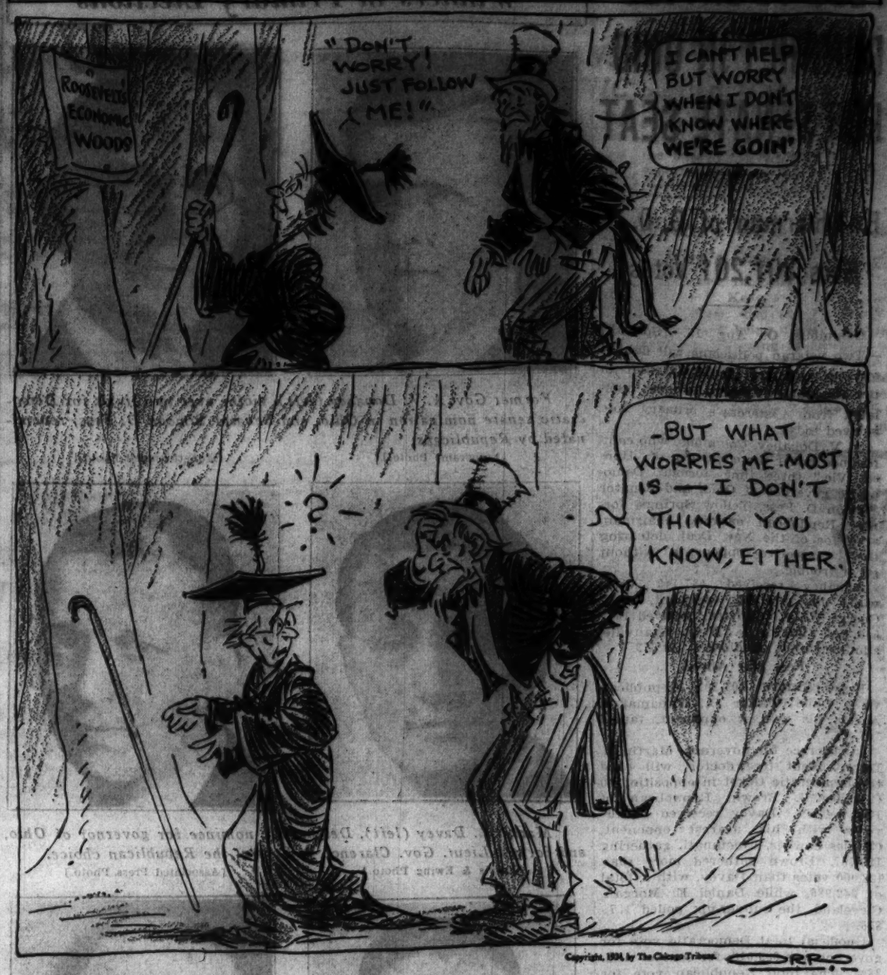

All the appointments to chief constableships to be made in future from serving officers in the force, and especially from the "gentlemen cadets" who have passed through Lord Trenchard's college.

The reservation of the provincial chief constableships to graduates of the Trenchard college is part of the home secretary's scheme for creating an "officer class" in the police force the same as that in the navy and army with a high degree of professional honor and esprit de corps.

The standard uniform that is to be adopted will be smart, with nickel or chromium buttons and badges and a metal spired helmet. It will be much smarter than the uniform at present worn by the London police, but not so elaborate as that used by some of the provincial forces. Those chief constables who at present have swords and spurs will have to give them up.

The national detective force that is to be created will insure the existence of one big crime net covering the whole country, and will make it much more difficult than at present for criminals to slip through. The new proposals will not involve any extra burdens on the taxpayers.

AN UNPAID JUDGMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—I have owned a piece of business property on Lincoln avenue since 1925. In 1929 this street was widened and the city confiscated one-half of my property, leaving me a vacant lot 25 feet wide and 40 feet deep, which makes its value today less than the taxes assessed against it.

The court judgment I received against the city was for $3,300, out of which I was assessed nearly $700 for the widening of Lincoln avenue. Can one have assessments deducted from the unpaid award? No. Can one have taxes deducted from the unpaid award? No. They say that would involve more bookkeeping, but the argument is forgotten when it comes to transferring funds from one department to another to pay off ward heelers.

At one time I received a special assessment for $5 and a letter informing me that if same was not paid within ten days the property would be sold for the assessment. This was after the award of $3,300 had been made by the court, which still remains unpaid today.

It's with a laugh that I read daily of politics trying to regulate business. After my experience I think it's high time they set their own house in order.

Why is it that there have been a number of streets widened in Chicago this summer, and yet there are no funds to pay off awards for property taken five years ago for the same purpose? Could it be that no one would get a cut if the awards were paid?

JOBLESS TAXPAYER.

EMMA'S BOY.

Riverside, Ill., Aug. 13.—I for one am heartily in accord with the sentiments expressed by Thomas C. Fletcher in this column a few days ago concerning an abandoned infant.

Today I celebrate the thirty-ninth anniversary of my abandonment on Aug. 13, 1895. I was then 9 days old.

During all these years I have waited patiently for the woman who cast me aside like an old garment to get in touch with me, but as the years go by it looks like I am doomed to pass out of this life without knowing her. This mysterious person left one thin clew behind her. Her first name was Emma.

SHE PREFERS FORTUNE TELLERS.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—I regret to have read in your paper that the police are molesting the clairvoyants in this town. I am one who enjoys and benefits by a visit to a so-called fortune teller. There have been times of emotional stress in my life when rather than burden friends and neighbors with the tale of my troubles, as many people I know do, I paid a dollar to a private reader and received in return sympathetic attention, comfort, and sound advice.

The police had better turn their attention to the crime and graft that exists in Chicago.

A VICTIM OF THE DROUTH.

Keokuk, Ia., Aug. 13.—The following human interest story regarding the drouth may be of interest: Mr. R., living in Clark county, Mo., has a family of six children, and, even in subnormal times on the farm, has had plenty of food. The end of a normal canning season found them with a cellar full, all the way from 600 to 800 quarts of vegetables and fruits. Last year they canned 235 quarts of tomatoes alone. This year they put up five pints of greens—and they don't like greens—nothing else. While they have, with economy, enough for frugal wants, they would be unable to buy sugar, flour, shoes, and so-called necessities if it were not for the $25 sent them each month by a son in CCC camp. These people are not worthless floaters, but are in the fourth generation on the same farm. An ancestor signed the Declaration of Independence. With no grain for stock it would be impossible to retain any for next year's farming if it were not for the $25 per month of government money.

If some of the crabs complaining of high taxes and government expenditures were in the shoes of worthy people who are on relief they would soon realize the vast good being done. Money resources may be restored, health and vitality for man and beast should be maintained, if humanly possible.

BYRD.

River Forest, Ill., Aug. 11.—In reply to Mr. Bradbury I wish to say that I hope THE TRIBUNE continues to print articles on Admiral Byrd's doings at the south pole, as I for one, and I know others who do, read these articles and care whether Byrd is safe.

Did it ever occur to Mr. Bradbury that Admiral Byrd didn't want to be pensioned for getting his ankle twisted, that he insisted he was physically fit and the navy officials likewise insisted he wasn't?

As for that last remark about what Byrd stands for, I can only say that Mr. Bradbury hasn't read, it appears, many books about Byrd and his life. For his benefit I wish he'd read "Dick Byrd," by Green, and get the true story. Also read more about what he does and his aims. Some people can't see that the world ultimately will get something out of Byrd's explorations. Admiral Byrd is every bit worth the columns THE TRIBUNE gives him.

ATTORNEY'S FEES.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please let me know what an assistant state's attorney can charge for bringing a guardian to court in order to have him make a settlement to a boy 22 years of age. Said guardian was to pay $200 a month to be turned over to a lawyer in another county and each have taken $20 out of $600 they have turned over, plus $120 fee, and expect to take $40 each month. 2. Is that legal?

N. L.

1. We do not see that the service describe comes within the state's attorney's field. We will assume that he was understood to be acting in his private capacity.

2. Its reasonableness would depend on what was said when the attorneys were employed, whether their payment was contingent on success with a doubtful claim, and on the extent of their services. For example, when attorneys handle a personal injury case on a contingent basis, a fee of one-third or one-half the recovery is common.

CHIEF OF CUBAN ARMY REFUSES TO FIGHT A DUEL

Batista Is Called a "Liar" by Political Leader.

HAVANA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Fulgencio Batista, commander in chief of the Cuban army, who was challenged to a duel today by one of Cuba's most prominent politicians, struck back at his challenger tonight with charges of attempting a coup against the government.

FULGENCIO BATISTA.

The former army sergeant said he was "not interested in silly talk about duels which cannot possibly be fought," and called the challenge of Joaquin Martinez Saenz, former secretary of the treasury, "foolish."

Cubans were pitched to intense excitement by Saenz's invitation to meet Batista, with whom he fought side by side in the ranks of the A. B. C. (secret political society) against former President Machado, "any place except in Cuba, where I might suffer the consequences of your protection, as so many A. B. C. members have."

Calls Batista a "Liar."

In a lengthy statement Saenz charged that Batista in numerous statements had "restored to falsehoods" to destroy Saenz's reputation.

The former secretary charged that Batista is disposing of money of the people of Cuba in "fantastic credits which you gulp insatiably to better your armaments as well as your general condition in life."

He charged that Batista lives in a palatial home while soldiers sleep in tumble down barracks.

"I offer you an opportunity to show your chivalry, not by your own affirmation, but with an action worthy of a gentleman," Saenz said in his challenge.

The scholarly former secretary specified that a court of honor, composed of seven men, be appointed to witness the duel and to see that the formalities of such encounters are observed. He proposed that three men be named by each combatant and that these six select the seventh.

Hints at Gold Law Scandal.

Batista in his reply charged that Saenz had tried to enlist his support in a projected coup to overthrow President Carlos Mendieta on June 16 and 17, when the ABC society held a huge demonstration in Havana which resulted in rioting in which more than 20 persons were killed and wounded.

He said Saenz tried to carry off the coup himself after he had learned that Mendieta had planned to ask for his resignation from the cabinet because of his astion in connection with passage of the recent gold decree, which provided that the government buy gold at $35 an ounce, and compelled the government to pay the same price for gold seized from persons trying to smuggle it out of the country. A large amount of gold was seized at Cienfuegos a few days before the decree was passed.

"Saenz came to me and asked me to organize a Facist army," Batista said. "I told him to think reasonably and smoothly. I was surprised to hear such talk from people who fought against Machado, because they were suggesting a return to the same thing they fought to overthrow. All through Saenz's conversation it was understood that he wanted to establish a dictatorship."

Saenz fought a duel several months ago with Oscar de la Torre, another politician. After glaring at each other across a space of thirty paces, both fired into the air.

MOB THREATENS YANKS IN PARIS FLYING NAZI FLAG

PARIS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Two young men described as American college students were menaced by an angry crowd tonight after they had hung a swastika flag, the symbol of German Nazis, out their hotel window as a prank.

A shouting throng which quickly gathered in front of the hotel, facing the Comedie Française in the tourist quarter, was quieted by police who ordered the swastika emblem withdrawn.

The young tourists, whose names were withheld by authorities, brought the flag from Berlin, said members of the hotel staf, and apparently displayed it to see what would happen.

BERWYN MAYOR ACTS TO BLOCK OLD CAPONE GANG

Reports Hoodlums Are Invading Town.

Acting on reports that members of the once powerful Capone gang were invading Berwyn with their slot machines, gambling houses, and outlaw liquor, Mayor Maurice Shay yesterday ordered Chief of Police John Regan to make a thorough investigation of every tavern owner. Should any of them be found to have hoodlum connections, the mayor said, their licenses will be revoked immediately.

For some time reports have been current that the old Capone syndicate has been gradually shifting its seat from Cicero to Berwyn, the suburb directly to the west. Concerted action by the state's attorney and federal agents in seizing slot machines and raiding illicit stills is believed to have spurred the gangsters to seek a more quiet territory for their business.

Taverns Promised Immunity.

Tavern owners are said to have been promised immunity from the 1 o'clock closing ordinance if they took on beer put out by breweries in which the gangsters have an interest. This protection is reported to have been arranged through certain town officials. Mayor Shay said yesterday that he had decided to act on these reports.

"It has been brought to my attention that certain political appointees and office holders are encouraging the migration of the gangsters," he asserted. "While I have nothing definite on which to act, I have ordered Chief Regan to investigate the record of every tavern owner."

War on Gambling.

The mayor and Chief Regan consulted the state's attorney recently on the alleged activities of a slot machine and gambling syndicate in the suburb. After promising his coöperation, State's Attorney Courtney complimented the mayor on his recent action with regard to the Club Ritz at Wesley avenue and Roosevelt road.

The club opened for a few days before a license had been applied for. Mayor Shay said when he learned "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, Capone gunner, and Louis (Doc) Stacey, another well known hoodlum, were reported to be interested in it he closed the club immediately. Recently it was reopened under reputable management, he declared.

Ministers Pledge Aid.

When apprised of the investigation the Rev. Warren N. Clark, president of the Berwyn Ministers' association, promised the coöperation of the organization to keep hoodlums out of the suburb. At a recent board meeting another citizen arose and announced that unless village officials took action, he would see to it that a vigilance committee was formed to take matters into their own hands.

Following the board meeting Tuesday night, Mayor Shay revealed he had asked for the resignations of Frank O. Rettig and David Radcliffe, the two members of the police and fire commission, holdover appointees from the previous administration. "For the good of the community and the departments," was the reason Mayor Shay gave for his action. He said they would be replaced by a board of three.

Neither in Court

Akron, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—On the grounds of "mental cruelty," Mrs. Cyrus S. Eaton, wife of the Cleveland financier, today was granted a divorce here in Common Pleas court.

Neither of the Eatons were present when Judge Arthur W. Doyle granted the decree. The financier was reported to be vacationing at Deep Cove, Nova Scotia, and his wife was said to be in London, England.

Depositions presented on behalf of Mrs. Eaton asserted she and her husband had not lived as man and wife for seven or eight years and that Eaton frequently absented himself at Deep Cove, refusing to take his wife along, although their children sometimes accompanied him. No answer was offered on behalf of Eaton.

Judge Doyle ruled that the couple's seven children, all except one of whom are over 10 years of age, may choose for themselves the parent with whom they wish to live.

CUBAN PRESIDENT ACCEPTS MAYOS' OFFER OF SERUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 15.—President Carlos Mendieta today fervently accepted the offer of Drs. William J. and Charles H. Mayo to send Dr. C. Rosenow to Cuba immediately with unlimited quantities of serum to inoculate Cuban children without cost against an epidemic of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis.

Havana is experiencing an alarming epidemic, which has caused the deaths of 73 chilren in the last six weeks, while twenty-six hopeless cases are confined at Las Animas hospital for infectious diseases. There were six new cases today. Approximately an equal number of cases are reported elsewhere in Cuba.

In spite of strenuous and minute laboratory research, Cuban doctors so far have failed to determine and isolate the germ. Dr. Santiago Verdeja, secretary of sanitation, admitted that he is impotent to check the rapid spread of the disease due to lack of specific treatment. The Mayos, Dr. Verdeja states, have just discovered a specific serum, which he hopes will prove a check to the spread.

HUNDREDS BRAVE RAIN AT TRIBUNE AUTO TEST LANE

Faulty Brakes Lead All Other Defects.

BY HAL FOUST.

Motorists by the hundreds turned out in the rain yesterday for the second day of THE TRIBUNE'S free automobile inspection service at 401 East Ontario street. They included scores who had had repairs or adjustments made since defective equipment was reported in the original tests Tuesday.

There were several World's Fair visitors from distant and nearby states having THE TRIBUNE'S able mechanics go over their equipment preliminary to trips homeward. The service is free to any one who presents the coupon published in a nearby column.

The hours today and tomorrow are from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. and on Saturday from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m. The inspection lane will be closed on Sunday.

Faulty Brakes Commonest.

Faulty brakes continued to be the most common defect. More than 60 per cent failed to pass the equalization tests. With pavements wet, unequal brakes are dangerous; the wheel or wheels getting the most pressure will skid, tending to throw the car sideways.

The second most common defect was misalignment of the front wheels. Approximately a fourth of the cars that went through the inspection lane had this fault. This causes a car to steer improperly. Furthermore, the tire on an untrue wheel is subjected to excessive wear.

Seventy automobiles of 307 that were examined received an ornamental okay windshield sticker as an emblem of the good condition of all equipment vital to safety. Lights, steering gear, horn, or windshield wiper were the other causes for rejection.

Recommends No Garage.

The okay stickers also were issued to those who had made repairs, replacements, or adjustments after failing on the first inspection. THE TRIBUNE does not advise where this work should be done nor how it should be done. The newspaper's mechanics merely report on a form card the condition of the automobile's equipment.

Neither new cars nor expensive cars dominated in number among those that received the okay sticker. There were two old model T Fords that were found to be in good condition. Defective brake adjustment was reported for a coupe and for a roadster in the $15,000 price class.

Business and professional men, laborers and unemployed, housewives, society women, and working girls waited their turn to learn whether their automobiles were in a condition to meet trafic emergencies. If you are concerned about your own safety and the safety of others, clip the coupon and drive to 401 East Ontario street at your first opportunity. The test takes but a few seconds more than three minutes.

FRANCE TO PUT O. K. ON ABSINTHE AFTER 20 YEARS

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 15.—Absinthe will shortly be legalized in France after being banned for more than twenty years, it was reliably reported here today. Government officials are discussing whether it will have its pre-war alcoholic strength of 66 per cent.

Frenchmen who loved their absinthe have been consoling themselves with an imitation flavored with anise which has 40 per cent of alcohol. It is said tests have demonstrated that the new product is more harmful than absinthe was.

The government, by monopolizing the manufacture and sale of absinthe, would be in a position to keep consumption within moderate limits and also obtain a large revenue.

$7,000,000 TAX PENALTIES BOON TO COOK COUNTY

Back Pay Rolls Being Brought to Date.

Collection of penalties assessed delinquent taxpayers has far exceeded the estimates of county officials and has aided greatly in strengthening the county's financial condition, County Treasurer Thomas D. Nash declared yesterday. All such penalties, under the law, go into the county treasury.

During the last 12 months, the treasurer said, $7,123,305 has been collected by his office in delinquent tax penalties. Under normal conditions, Mr. Nash explained, the revenue derived from tax penalties averaged little more than a million dollars a year. Monthly penalty payments during the last year have ranged from $400,000 to $800,000.

The money collected from penalty payments has aided county officials in bringing the back salaries of county employés up to date.

Another Pay Check Ready.

The employés have been paid up to July 15 and another two weeks' pay will be distributed next week, officials said. The county pay roll, including the numerous pensions and juror fees, averages a million dollars a month.

Delinquent tax bills are assessed 1 per cent each month they remain unpaid or 12 per cent a year. Delinquent 1928 tax bills which were due July 10, 1930, and are still in collection, now carry a penalty assessment of 48 per cent of the tax bill.

The county's share of each tax dollar is approximately 7 cents. Tax penalty payments, however, are turned over in full to the county corporate fund.

Money Rolls In.

In making their 1934 budget, the county commissioners hesitantly estimated a revenue of $4,800,000 from the collection of tax penalties, fearing that figure too high. For the first eight months of the fiscal year tax penalty payments have amounted to $4,069,674, the treasurer reported. For their 1925 budget the county board placed an estimate of $500,000 for tax penalty payments.

County officials credited the increase of tax penalty collections to the increased collections of delinquent taxes from income bearing properties under application of the Kerner-Skarda law. This law authorized the appointment of the county treasurer as receiver for properties owing back taxes.

DOUG FAIRBANKS SR. LANDS; HE'S SILENT ABOUT SELF, MARY

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Douglas Fairbanks Sr. was one of 1,465 voyagers aboard the Italian liner Rex, which arrived today five and a half hours behind schedule because of fog.

He declined to discuss Lady Sylvia Ashley, in whose company he has been frequently in London and on the Riviera.

"Have you come to this country for a reconciliation with Mary Pickford?" he was asked.

"I have nothing to say about that," he replied.

"Did Lady Ashley know of your sudden decision to take this boat to the United States?" was another query.

"That is my business," answered Mr. Fairbanks, explaining, "I intended to come to America anyway. I merely changed my mind at the last moment and came on this boat."

With the actor on the Rex were Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl Zanuck, motion picture executives. Interviewed later, the former said.

"It would be a wonderful thing if Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks could get together again. It would also be a wonderful thing for business, what with the purity drive going on and all."

PLEAS FOR ICE AND CAMP AID SENT TO TRIBUNE

The following extracts from letters requesting help from THE TRIBUNE free ice fund and the Camp Algonquin fund are typical of many received daily.

"Please will you help me," writes Mrs. B. T. on West 13th street. "I have a bottle baby, 7½ months old, and three other little children. I am unable to get ice. I'll appreciate anything you do for me."

And from a nurse: "I know ten very underprivileged boys ranging in age from 9 to 15 years who would be greatly benefited by two-week vacations at Camp Algonquin. Three of the boys have no mother and their food is very sketchy. The others come from very poor homes where they have no idea of proper health habits. These boys would be very happy if they could spend a little time at your camp."

Contributions to the ice fund yesterday included 40 cents, the proceeds of a lemonade stand conducted all alone by Edith Jackson. Other gifts were $5 from G. C. and $2 from S. M. Lederer, making a grand total of $6,543.60 in the ice fund.

Gifts to both funds should be directed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

G. A. KINGSBURY DIES; VETERAN OF THEATER WORLD

Identified with Opera; Manager of Stars.

George A. Kingsbury, veteran Chicago theater manager and organizer of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera revivals now at the Studebaker theater, died last night in his home, 643 Grace street, after a brief illness. He was 68 years old, and had been in the theatrical business forty years.

Kingsbury was a leader of the "old guard" of theater executives, and had been associated with many of the great stars and producing magnates of the stage. He had been general manager for Jacob Litt, Henry W. Savage, and John Golden, handling companies on tour. He spent a number of years in charge of the New York Hippodrome.

In Chicago Since 1910.

The major portion of his career since 1910 was passed in Chicago. After the long run of Booth Tarkington's "The Man from Home," which he managed for George C. Tyler, he remained in this city as manager of the Chicago Opera house, on the site of the present Conway building.

Samuel Insull selected Kingsbury to manage Mrs. Insull's dramatic repertory company at the Studebaker theater, and he remained in charge of that house until the collapse of the Insull properties.

In the summer of 1933 he was appointed manager of the Auditorium theater, and he directed the work which rehabilitated this historic opera house.

Brings in New Company.

He ended his connection with the Auditorium when it was leased by Andrew Rebori for use as a theater restaurant and cabaret under the title "The Cascades" last spring.

Kingsbury then formed an association with Wallace Munro and Victor Kiralry to bring the Gilbert and Sullivan Comic Opera company into the Studebaker theater. He was apparently in good health when this venture opened with "The Mikado" about two weeks ago.

He was born in Fond du Lac, Wis., and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Kingsbury, and a daughter, Mary, 16 years old.

WORLD FAMOUS ASTRONOMER FOR 50 YEARS IS DEAD

Providence, R. I., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Prof. Frank Evans Seagrave of this city, world famous astronomer for more than half a century, died here tonight. He was in his 75th year.

Prof. Seagrave was noted for his painstaking observations and his unerring computations and predictions of heavenly phenomena, often against the weight of astronomical opinion throughout the world.

Probably more than for any other revelation he was known for announcing the appearance of Halley's comet in 1910 a year before it came into view and stated the time of its arrival within seconds of accuracy.

During more than 30 years' traveling to view eclipses of the sun Prof. Seagrave refuted other astronomers to announce, several years before, that New England would be darkened in 1932 by a total eclipse of the sun. Besides making his announcement that the eclipse would occur Prof. Seagrave predicted the time, day, duration, path, and varying degrees of totality with great accuracy.

PUBLISH COUNCIL ORDINANCES TO PAY TEACHERS

Publication today of two city council ordinances approving a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan to the board of education is expected to fully clear the way for the payment of $22,300,000 in back salaries to Chicago's school teachers on Aug. 27.

The ordinances, including a trust deed whereby the board pledges more than $35,000,000 in nonschool property as security for the loan, will become law Aug. 26, ten days after publication. This date is Sunday, and board of education officials expect the transfer of RFC loan funds to Chicago to follow on Monday.

The 252,000 checks to be issued to 14,000 teachers are signed and awaiting distribution. They will go to the teachers the moment the loan funds are received in the school treasury, said James B. McCahey, board president.

Thirty-five hundred persons gathered at Pilsen park, 26th street and Albany avenue, last night to honor Congressman A. J. Sabath for his efforts to secure the federal loan with which school teachers will be paid their back salaries. Among the speakers were Mayor Kelly and Ald. John Toman.

The payment of $120,000 to 1,600 teachers employed by the civil works educational service in Illinois will be completed Saturday after a delay of nearly a month, Charles E. Miner, assistant to the executive director of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said yesterday. The June salaries to the unemployed teachers on the CWES rolls were delayed because the administration of the relief work was transferred from federal offices to the state relief commission early in June, Mr. Miner explained.

LEAVES A FUND SO HIS GRAVE WILL BE VISITED

A trust fund to finance annual visits to his grave is provided in the will of Olaf R. Helmstein, 72 year old La Grange jeweler, who died last July 22. The will was filed for probate yesterday with Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge.

It disposes of an estate estimated at $26,000. Eight relatives will share $15,000, a friend was bequeathed $1,000, and $500 was left to the La Grange Public library. To the La Grange lodge of the Royal Arcanum, of which he was a member, Mr. Helmstein left $3,000 as a trust fund, specifying that the proceeds are to be used to pay the expenses of and buy refreshments for at least two lodge members on an annual visit to his grave in the La Grange cemetery for 20 consecutive years. After that the fund is to be dissolved and given outright to the lodge.

The residue of the estate was left to the Eringsboda Socken in Sweden to help needy high school and college students. Mr. Helmstein was a widower and childless.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

More than two hours of the three hour long Chicagoland Music Festival program will be broadcast Saturday evening from Soldiers' field. W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE station, will carry an hour and 35 minutes of the fifth annual presentation of this great spectacle. The National Broadcasting company will go on the air coast to coast for a half hour with the music feast at an hour when W-G-N will be carrying another program.

The broadcasting schedule: W-G-N—7:30 to 8 o'clock—Winning soloists, choruses and mixed quartet; NBC—8:30 to 9 o'clock—Community singing and Festival band; W-G-N—9 to 9:15—Chicago A Cappella choir and the winning juvenile band; 9:25 to 9:45—John Burdette, Clair Malone, and the Negro chorus of 1,000 voices, and Festival band; 10 to 10:30 — "Hallelujah Chorus," sung by Festival chorus of 5,000 singers, the Festival band, Boy Scout spectacle, and Finale.

The singing of John Charles Thomas, baritone soloist of the Festival this year, cannot be broadcast owing to a contract which calls for his exclusive services on the air. To hear him you must see the Festival in person. Bob Elson will announce the entire program for W-G-N.

The equanimity of many a sow, rooting quietly in the back forty, is likely to be upset through the medium of radio about 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon when a score of hog calling aces compete before the WLS microphone at the Fair grounds.

Phil Baker is contemplating a vacation from the radio within a few weeks. With Harry McNaughton [Bottle] and Beetle, his annoyer, and Mabel Albertson, Phil has been doing his Friday evening show over NBC for more than 17 months without an interruption. He feels he needs a rest and that his fans, as well, might enjoy a radio respite. If plans go through, Phil and Mrs. Baker [Peggy Cartwright], former English actress, will make a dash to London. The show will go on during Baker's absence with substitute artists.

An announcement from WOR, New York, sets forth that the station sees no reason why ladies of the air should not face the microphone in shorts if they so desire. The information is added that Joan Lowell "Cradle of the Deep" already reherses in shorts. Must be the bicycle influence.

Frank Buck will be kept on the air by that tooth paste concern after Amos 'n' Andy return. His jungle adventures are clicking with radio listeners. The Goldbergs are not likely to be back. . . . Rudy Vallee will go west in about a month to make another picture for Warner brothers. . . . The Rev. Father Charles Coughlin will be back on NBC for one day—next Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.—when he addresses the American Legion on "Americanization" at the Fair.

Gymkhana at Barrington to Be August 26

Riding Club There Sponsors Annual Event.

BY JUDITH CASS.

An event of social and sporting importance will attract a fashionable throng to Barrington a week from next Sunday. The Riding club of Barrington Hills, that energetic little group that keeps in the saddle most of the year around, is going to hold its annual gymkhana at Revonah farm, the country place of Mr. and Mrs. Jevne Haugan.

Beginning with a parade of entries at 2:30 o'clock, the affair will continue through the afternoon with 14 events, including everything from a potato race to a pole bending contest. The potato polo has been omitted this year since there were so many casualties last summer, but in its stead there are two new children's classes and a galloping race for the grownups.

Many of the children entered in the junior competitions will come from Wayne and Geneva.

Mr. Haugan is managing most of the details of the gymkhana, but he has assisting him a large committee of Barrington residents.

Preston Sisters to Be Debutantes.

The middle of September, probably the 18th, 19th, or 20th, Miss Virginia Preston and her sister, Margery, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Preston of Astor street, will make their formal bows to society at a dinner dance at the Saddle and Cycle club. Setting of the exact date awaits Margery's return from California, where she has gone to visit her friend, Miss Jane Magard.

Miss Margard will be here for the party, for she is coming east this year to enter Sarah Lawrence college just about the same time that Margery goes to Vassar as a freshman. The Prestons have only recently come to Chicago to make their home as the result of Mr. Preston's position as a deputy governor of the federal reserve bank. Mr. and Mrs. Preston lived formerly in both Memphis and San Francisco.

Miss Nancy Brown, who will be among the debutantes this fall, has been spending the last days of her summer vacation assisting her father, Dr. Edward V. L. Brown, in the clinic at the University of Chicago. Tentative plans have been made for her presentation to society on Christmas day. On Sept. 20 the entire family will be motoring east, where Miss Brown will enter her sophomore year at Smith.

Pelouze Debut Date Uncertain.

The William Nelson Pelouzes, who have been vacationing in their lovely summer home at Lake Geneva, Alta Vista, will return to their town apartment Sept. 20. By that time a definite date will have been set for Miss Medora's presentation to society. Plans for a September tea now are being discussed. Miss Pelouze expects to return to Vassar for her sophomore year this fall.

The entire family of Dr. Eugene S. Talbot is expected to return from Charlevoix shortly after Labor day. Plans for a prospective debut will then be up for discussion, since they directly concern the daughter of the family, Miss Margaret Talbot.

Miss Geraldine Foster, the George B. Fosters' daughter, has gone to Cincinnati to visit her sister and brother-in-law, the Lee S. Fetchers, for two weeks. Her plans for the fall are as yet indefinite, especially regarding the matter of her debut. Miss Foster attended school in Les Fougeres, Lausanne, Switzerland, last year, and will be among the cast of the coming Service club revue.

Mrs. Henry B. Stimson of Port Chester, N. Y., who has been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney of Lake Forest, the last fortnight, is winding up her stay this week with a gala round of luncheons and dinner parties. Tonight Mrs. Stimson is coming to town to be the dinner guest of the Charles S. Deweys.

Last night Prince Cantacuzene entertained at dinner for her and the night before Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McGann were her host and hostess. According to her present plans she will return east on Sunday.

Art Colony Fete at Saugatuck.

Tonight up at Saugatuck, Mich.—the Provincetown of the middle west—there's to be a gala fête and ball for the artists that is attracting a number of art patrons from Chicago. It's to be held in the big Saugatuck pavilion overlooking Lake Kalamazoo with its backdrop of dunes, and there's to be everything from life classes with professional models to exhibition dancing in the way of entertainment.

Paintings by artists in the colony, such as Carl Hoerman, Edward Rupprecht, Frederick F. Fursman, and Marge Alexander, are to be given as prizes. Thomas E. Tallmadge and O. E. Hall left yesterday afternoon to be on hand for the ball and spend the week-end at Mr. Tallmadge's cottage.

Others in Saugatuck for the affair are Miss Mary Rend and her sister, Mrs. Thomas G. Wheelock, Ralph Fletcher Seymour, the Alfred Shaws, who have a cottage in the dunes, Mrs. John W. Norton and her daughter, Nancy, and Miss Emeline Bush, who is a member of the summer colony.

Society Folk Aid Street Festival.

Several dozen well known families are giving their support to a street festival to be held the evenings of Aug. 28 and 29 in and about the House of Happiness, the Episcopal church social center in the Stockyards district.

The event will wind up the season for the boys and girls enrolled this summer at the Crowell play center, opened this summer by Miss Bertha Moore as an activity of the House of Happiness, as well at the Christ Congregational church vacation center and the house itself. More than 10,000 mothers and boys and girls

Enjoys Summer of Water Sports

Nancy, the subdeb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings O'Neill, spends much time every day on or in the water for she enjoys equally swimming in the pool of the Lake Shore Athletic club, where she and her parents live, and dashing about in a speed boat on the lake. Young Miss O'Neill, who is a niece of Mrs. Edward F. Garraghan, well known clubwoman, will resume her studies at Immaculata High school this fall. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Scene Is Spoiled as Baby Le Roy Shouts a 'No'

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 15.—Lee Tracy and Helen Mack were engaged in doing a very important emotional scene for "The Lemon Drop Kid" at Paramount. Tracy, who in the story has not seen his child in months, comes into the orphanage and says to Baby Le Roy, "So, you're my little boy!"

It was great, except that Baby Le Roy, instead of looking up sweetly and affectionately and saying nothing, insisted on saying loudly, "No!"

This went on all day with Marshall Neilan, the director, going wild and buying everything from gold watches to ice cream cones to soothe the child. Finally, they got the shot.

Adolph Zukor arrives tomorrow to take active charge of all production on the west coast for Paramount. Emanuel Cohen is still vice president in charge of production, and so far no conflict is anticipated in the new arrangement. Beginning several weeks ago, every foot of Paramount film, from the new reels to the feature pictures, bears on the opening frame the legend "Adolph Zukor presents——"

Zukor, it is felt, is following out his idea that there should be some personality, some definite name, to take the criticism in the censorship campaign for any film produced, and by making this move is undertaking to be the scapegoat, if one is necessary, for any criticism.

For many years Zukor has contented himself with being the New York banker for Paramount, but has wearied of the business arrangements of his position and is returning to Hollywood in the new capacity.

Mary Brian, just getting back her camera legs after an absence of some weeks in a vaudeville act which took her to Boston, Detroit, Washington, and Buffalo, is simply full of her experiences away from Hollywood. Mary, unknown to most folks, has been doing a lot of quiet training in soft shoe and specialty dancing, and in her act that was what she did with Gordon, Reid, and King, dance trio.

"A couple of years ago when a film person went to do a personal appearance act there was nothing to it. Curiosity brought in the audiences. Now that's all gone—a movie star has to give 'em entertainment, or it's too bad," says Mary. "I loved the tour. I got a chance to do a lot of stuff they never let me do in pictures. Vaudeville people are simply fascinating; full of stories, always clowning. The amazing adventures I had!

"There was one vaudeville team which had not been working for seven months. They took turns sleeping in the back and front seats of their flivver so that the steering wheel would not dent one torso too badly. The car had had no gas for a long time, the boys had not had a lot of food either. A wire from their theatrical agent came asking if they would take an engagement in Passaic. They wired, collect, 'We will if it's down hill.'

"Then there were the two colored boys who took a taxi from New York to Philadelphia to go into an engagement on our bill, because they hadn't the railroad fare!"

Frank Lawton, British actor selected to play the rôle of David Copperfield by M. G. M., leaves Wednesday by plane for New York for a vacation before the actual shooting of his scenes. He will meet Evelyn Laye, his countrywoman, who arrives in New York shortly on the Bremen.

THE perfidy of parents when they are trying to be tactful is illustrated in the case of the father of a rural family eating dinner at the Schlitz Palm Garden café during Farm week at the World's Fair.

Peep-peep Show—Resemblance—Apologia—Dedication.

The youngest, a boy of about 10, kept pestering his father to take him to a peep show. The father silenced him finally by consenting. Later it developed that they took him to the Poultry show.

THE other day an old friend of the late Marie Dressler, a woman from Cleveland, about Miss Dressler's age, came into the studio of Cameraman Ralph Phillips, in Chicago. She bore a remarkable facial resemblance to Miss Dressler—or so we are told, and she said that all her life the fact that she could mimic Miss Dressler had been a source of fun to the two friends. She came to Chicago to have movie tests made, and the idea seemed to be that she might fill parts in Hollywood similar to those taken by her lifelong friend. Which would be an interesting phenomenon should it turn out that way.

ONE day recently we printed a disillusionment note sent in the mail that at the Wisconsin tercentennial at Green Bay when the landing of Nicolet was re-enacted there was a little difficulty in teaching the Indians how to paddle, as most of them had never seen a canoe. Harold T. I. Shannon, general manager of the tercentennial, writes that this is just a smart crack.

"Because the historical requirements were Huron Indians to act as Nicolet's guides and Winnebago Indians on the shore to greet him, we went way to Mole lake in uppermost Wisconsin to obtain the only remnants of Hurons available and we imported Winnebagos from Wittenburg and other points and were assured that they were full bloods," he writes.

Is everything oke now, Mr. Shannon?

"THE next number," began the radio announcer, "will be 'I Never Had a Chance.'" Then he chirped into the microphone:

"We are dedicating this number to our good friends, Miss . . . and Mr. . . . who are being married tonight."

Select County Victors of Mixed Groups.

In a stirring contest, replete with splendid singing and colorful costumes, the Chicago Scottish Choral society, under the direction of George Calder, won the Cook county finals in the mixed choruses contest last night in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel.

They will represent Chicago and the county in the all-Chicagoland finals to be held at the Drake Saturday afternoon as part of the Music Festival events. The winner of that contest will sing in the gigantic program at Soldiers' field.

The choir of the Emmanuel Reformed church, directed by Henry M. Baar, was second. Third was the Chicago and North Western Railway Choral club, directed by Harry A. Slater.

The floor of the ballroom was filled with contestants, representing eight choral societies, while the balcony was filled with relatives, friends, well-wishers, and music lovers.

The contestants made the ballroom a riot of color. The Armenian National Chorus of Chicago featured brightly-hued jackets for the men, and gay green and pink veils topping the costumes of the girls.

The Douglas Smith Choral club members were garbed in bright peasant costumes of Italy and Spain; while the Tercentenary choir, whose rendition of "Go Down Moses" was enthusiastically received, were garbed in gray gowns.

Each chorus was required to sing "John Peel," by Mark Andrews, and one selected number. The winning chorus sang "Sea Sorrow," by Granville Bantock.

Judges for the contest, which was in charge of Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, were Edgar Nelson, George A. Carlson, and Harry S. Walsh.

The Cook county Chicago finals for vocalists will be held tonight at 7 o'clock, also at the Drake. Judges will be Richard De Young, Lillian Rosedale Goodman, and Edward T. Clissod. The singers, five from each side of the city, are as follows:

North Side—Contralto, Mrs. Betty Powers, 643 Gordon terrace; soprano, Idelle Pemberton, 1823 North Ashland avenue; baritone, Maurice Sylvan, 4845 North Central Park; bass, John Neher, Albion Shore hotel; tenor, Ralph Sapper, 1118 Main street, Evanston.

South Side—Contralto, Helen Bartush, 10564 South Michigan avenue; soprano, Sara Corrinne Mason, 8409 Drexel avenue; baritone, John Corbin, 8103 Ingleside avenue; bass, Stanley Rimkus, 2506 West 68th street; tenor, Maurice Gilmont, 6227 South Park avenue.

Only two voices will be chosen from the contest tonight, "the best man singer" and "the best woman singer" regardless of voice classification. These two vocalists will compete Saturday morning in the Chicagoland finals to be held at the Drake. W-G-N will take 15 minutes of the contest, 7:15 to 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Following the vocal contests, the Hallelujah chorus and members of the Choral Directors' guild will hold a grand rehersal at 8 o'clock under the batons of Noble Cain and George Lee Tenney. Allan Grant, radio and concert pianist, will be at the piano both for the competition and chorus practice. In order to take care of the crowd expected, the French room in the Drake will be thrown open and the overflow audience will practice in that room.

MISS ELIZABETH ANN RICKER tells why she DRINKS MILK

Miss Ricker, attractive Chicagoan, is fond of swimming, tennis and ice skating. She was educated in Chicago Latin School for Girls and L'Universite de la Sorbonne, Paris.

"I drink an abundance of milk for the same reason that many of my friends do—because it would be so foolish not to—when by simply using this one good food, which is so convenient to take, I can give myself a well-rounded beauty treatment.

"For nutritionists say there are elements in milk that help preserve youth, combat beauty-robbing infections, build beautiful teeth and complexion, keep the figure slender and the nerves normal.

"Obviously, it would be very foolish indeed to pass up such a safe and thorough beauty treatment."

A small flask of lilac perfume does more than a bit to bring some of the freshness of spring to the sartorial and spiritual mid-August doldrums.

If you're looking for something to take you out of the in-between season blues that seem to be abounding at the moment try drowning your sorrow in perfume. You'll feel gay in no time.

Of course if you can you'll rout them completely with one of those mad butcher boy hats and a frock that has a just-off-the-boat air about it, but if you must wait until styles and price tags quiet down a bit, bolster up your spirits with a little flask of some sweet scent.

You know your own tastes and your moods pretty well, but if you want a suggestion let us recommend a lovely lilac. We know it's a spring flower and all that—but don't you have plenty of tra-la spirit right in your own bones in spring? Right now you need just that—and you can give it to yourself with a lilac we just got to know and like very well indeed.

Lilac can't be classed with most other straight floral scents. If you're one who could swoon with delight over them when they do bloom in the spring you know that while they're fresh and airy as the season itself, they do have a certain lush richness suggestive of purple velvet.

This perfume captures all that. It isn't Pollyannish and coy like those perfectly safe, indefinite scents you choose for elderly spinsters whom you don't know very well. It's fresh, and fairly light, but fairly robust, too. Not heavy, though, like the musky fragrance a throaty voiced Hepburn would wear with her backless black velvet. It's peppy without being too high powered, and sedate without being too, too sugary.

Your summer clothes and summer spirits may be a bit droopy at this stage; if they are, a light but luscious scent like our lovely, true lilac is just what you need for the restoration of both. Look it over, anyway. We think most of you will find it just what you need to brighten up your morale at the tag end of August. It's sold in three stores here.

Sister Madeleva to Head St. Mary's at Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Sister Mary Madeleva, poet and essayist, was elevated today to the presidency of St. Mary's college at Notre Dame. The appointment was announced at the annual obedience ceremony at the college when the habit of the Holy Cross order was conferred at Assumption day ceremonies. Sister Madeleva, who recently returned from a year's study at Oxford, is an alumna of St. Mary's, and was for some years president of the college of St. Mary's-of-the-Wasatch at Salt Lake City.

Velvet Prints Stop Trafic at Fabric Displays

Bright Colors Draw Shopper to Counters.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

While you are prowling about investigating new things with a sparkling fall flavor for your wardrobe, try an hour or so in the departments that are filled with big and little bolts of fall dress materials. Undoubtedly the first rolls of dress stuff to make you halt will be the printed velvets and velveteens. Gorgeous loot, every yard of it. The colors are grand and the eye filling patterns and designs something really to lose your mind over.

Roman striped designs in big, bold, blazing combinations; some wild Scotch plaids that shriek with outsize and unheard of color contrasts; some blazer striped material with colored stripes fully an inch wide, plastered against light toned backgrounds; and some nice, restrained, printed criss-cross checks are a few of the unusual velveteen arrivals. These will fashion your smartest one and two piece street and spectator sports dresses, if you are laps ahead of the crowd.

College bound trunks will contain at least one printed velveteen dress, and knowing business girls are going to revel in the circumspect checked lengths for smart everyday wear.

Duvetyn—that soft, lovely, suede-like material—has returned, backed with silk so that the stuff can be reversed and used for trimming. The black is dull, and the most interesting medium for subtly draped afternoon dresses. There is a Spanish rust shade that is stunning.

And returning to the soft, thinner than usual colored velveteens, there is an old gold shade that is good enough to eat. Besides the rusty, reddish browns, so fashionable this season, the gentian blue shades offer irresistible competition, while some ravishing shades of green in wools, velveteen, and amazingly soft corduroy in new narrow wales are alternatives for all fall "make your own" wardrobes.

Her Husband's Fiancee

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.

Cecily Marshall returns after a year's absence to the home in Bellchester, England, where she had lived with her husband, David Marshall, the city's leading merchant prince. Cecily had been a shopgirl at Marshall's. Beautiful Audrey Lowe, who had wanted David herself, bribed an innkeeper to swear that Cecily had shared the same room with Audrey's cousin, Reggie Davies, a night they were marooned due to motor trouble. David won a divorce from Cecily and the custody of their small child, Rose Ann. The child grieves for her mother. Fearing for her health, Nanna, her nurse, secretly wires Cecily. When David, who is about to marry Audrey, discovers Cecily's presence he orders her and Nanna from the house. Rose Ann develops brain fever and David is forced to send for Cecily. Rose Ann recovers. Cecily rejects David's proposal that they remarry for Rose Ann's sake. She takes rooms in Bellchester, with Nanna, and determines to prove her innocence. She sees Rose Ann daily. David tries unsuccessfully to break his engagement to Audrey. Audrey is blackmailed by Mrs. Partridge, the wife of the deceased innkeeper. To get her to leave Bellchester, Audrey gives her a valuable brooch, which was a present from David. Audrey tells David she lost the brooch. He insists on advertising for it. Cecily appeals to Reggie Davies to help her clear their names. He refuses to become involved. As they are about to leave the café where they had met David walks in and Reggie makes a hasty exit. Audrey hears from Mrs. Partridge that the jewels of the brooch are being disposed of separately.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

CHILD PSYCHOLOGY.

Time was getting on now and Christmas was in the air.

Cecily had only four presents to give, to the children, Nanna and Mrs. Leach, but she could not select them at Marshall's. Her presence in Bellchester was causing David quite a lot of inconvenience as it was. Within his lights he had been kinder to her than she could have expected.

Mr. Branchard had been to see her on David's behalf. She was to have the use of the big car and the chauffeur, he told her, and they came to an agreement in terms of money. David wanted her to accept £10 a week from him, but Cecily would only take £5, and even that was under protest. Yet she had to live, as the solicitor pointed out.

She granted that she had to live . . . for Rose Ann's sake. The child was getting to be a handful.

Nanna had said: "It's because the servants will talk—even Mr. Mason. And they are not over careful. The poor little lamb is as sharp as a whisper hardly misses her ears. You see, dearie, Mr. David and his young lady have fixed it up for the 24th, which as you know is Christmas eve, and there's to be a lunch party at the Grange. Almost every day Mrs. Lowe comes buzzing along to make alterations. First there were to be only five people beside the happy couple, but it's grown to twelve now, and goodness knows where it will leave off. I'm to tell you, dearie, that me and Miss Rose are coming to you whilst the master and his bride are away."

Cecily nodded. "Thank heaven for small mercies," she said.

Cecily's face was working, but Nanna pretended not to see.

In another fortnight it would all be over, and Cecily had accomplished nothing. It probably wouldn't have made any difference had she done so. She must try to think of David as one dead to her. Yet he had been almost kind that night when they had walked back together from Levy's.

Rose Ann was a great problem. Her health seemd to be all right, nevertheless she contrived to give everybody connected with her a bad time. She was irritable, noisy and disobedient, and Nanna had to report that she was not sleeping very well again.

Dr. MacDermott guessed what the matter was, but having gained one point and got David to allow the child to see her mother every day, he did not feel that he could press for another concession—no less, that to wholly please Rose Ann, her father should refrain from taking a second wife.

The child obviously had not the faintest idea herself what made her such a live wire of naughtiness. A great deal of it was taken out on Tommy Leach, who got slapped, kicked, and had his hair pulled on the slightest provocation.

Cecily was driven nearly wild with anxiety. And then it all came out.

After one of these scenes, a little more violent than the others, Cecily took her little daughter up to her bedroom and sat her down in the chair which was reserved for such mild punishment. On this occasion, however, it was not turned to the wall. The time had come to discover whether or not Rose Ann was a reasonable human being or merely a bad tempered savage.

"I don't think Mrs. Leach will let you come here any more," said Cecily. "I shall have to make other arrangements. Poor little Tommy—who's so good and only tries to please you. I wouldn't have believed you would make me so unhappy."

Rose Ann wore a lofty and somewhat secretive expression. She was not penitent. There still clung to her fingers a few samples of Tommy Leach's hair and she regarded them almost lovingly.

"You don't understand, mummy," she said.

"I confess I don't. Will you try to tell me?"

Rose Ann squirmed. "You'd only laugh and say I was silly."

"I'm quite sure I wouldn't laugh, and I don't think you are silly. I think you are cruel and unkind."

Rose Ann's lower lip trembled.

"Mummy, I wouldn't hurt Tommy. I love him. Tommy is a dear little boy," she whimpered.

"But you do hurt him. Look what's in your hand!"

Rose Ann looked and began to count the ravaged hairs.

"Stop that at once and listen to me. You say you love Tommy, but the next time you're with him, for no reason whatever, you'll hurt him all over again. But there won't be any next time. I'll see to that."

Rose Ann straightened her legs and stared gloomily at the toes of her stubby shoes.

"Mummy, I'd never hurt Tommy. Honestly I wouldn't. Only sometimes—perhaps you'd hardly believe it, he turns into Miss Lowe. All of a sudden he does it."

Cecily stared at her aghast. Rose Ann had said she wouldn't understand, but she did. A crawly sensation went down her spine and she came all over gooseflesh.

This was necromancy, or close kin to it. Rose Ann had made an effigy of Tommy Leach and in effect was sticking pins into it. Too small and weak to vent her harrowed feelings on Audrey, unable to prevent the impending calamity of her father's second marriage, she had been taking it out on somebody her own size.

Cecily felt helpless to cope with this demonstration of infant psychology, but she kept her head.

"Darling, is that fair to Tommy? You know that he isn't really Miss Lowe."

"Sometimes he is. If I shut my eyes, I know he is."

"But why should you want to hurt Miss Lowe?"

"Because she's stolen my daddy."

"O, my poor baby, it's you who don't understand. If only I could reason with you."

Cecily, who was now sitting on the floor beside Rose Ann's chair, burst into tears. She could not help it. The child had defeated her.

In the end, however, it was her tears which helped to defeat Rose Ann.

The child scrambled down and tried to comfort her mother.

"Don't cry. I guess Tommy isn't Miss Lowe. I'll pretend he isn't, mummy, don't cry. I won't pull his hair or kick him any more. I'll tell him I'm sorry, mummy."

With difficulty Rose Ann kept her word. Tommy, himself, by his timid behavior tempted her to break it. He was always looking as if he expected an assault and Cecily had to keep a careful eye on her unhappy little daughter.

The naughtiness was now explained, for Rose Ann was distinctly unhappy. If David knew, perhaps he would let her come to Mrs. Leach's now and remain there even after Audrey was installed as the mistress of the Grange.

Nanna who went back and forth between the Grange and Standish crescent, was trusted as an emissary in this connection, but David, who had been forced to retire from what you might call the front row of trenches, had dug himself in solidly in his new defense.

He would concede nothing more to Cecily. For obvious reasons, Nanna had not been able to explain the origin of Rose Ann's peculiar behavior. David supposed that Cecily spoiled her. He had a guilty feeling that he spoiled her, himself. In one way or another he was always trying to propitiate Rose Ann, but nothing in this wide world seemed to please her.

Generally he was home in time to sit with her when she had her supper, but these occasions were becoming seasons of trial.

Yes, Christmas was too much in the air.

"But why can't we all be together for Christmas? Couldn't you wait and marry Miss Lowe afterwards?"

"Eat your porridge and don't ask questions," said David.

Mary French Becomes Bride of Rockefeller

Woodstock, Vt., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The marriage of Miss Mary French, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John French and a granddaughter of the late Frederick Billings, early president of the Northern Pacific railroad, to Laurence Spelman Rockefeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr., took place here today in the Congregational church. Afterward there was a reception at the Hill, summer home of the bride's parents.

Miss French was given in marriage by her father and had her sister, Miss Elizabeth French, for maid of honor.

Mr. Rockefeller had his oldest brother, Nelson A. Rockefeller, for his best man. His ushers were John D. Rockefeller III., and Winthrop Rockefeller, brothers, David M. Miltonn, his brother-in-law, all of New York, and G. Vietor Davis of St. Louis.

The new Mrs. Rockefeller attended Vassar for two years after graduating from Rosemary Hall. Since leaving Vassar she has studied sculpture at the Arts Students' league in New York. She belongs to the Junior league and Cosmopolitan club. Her father is a retired lawyer.

Mr. Rockefeller is a grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil company and the late Mrs. Rockefeller, the former Miss Laura Spelman. On the maternal side he is a grandson of the late United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Aldrich.

On his graduation from Princeton in 1932 he was voted the member of his class "most likely to succeed."

Flower Show at Green Lake.

From Green Lake, Wis., comes news of a flower show held there recently in which Mrs. Charles Dering of Chicago, who has a summer place on the lake, won a prize for decorating a Sicilian cart belonging to Mrs. Francis Neilson, another Chicagoan whose summer home is on Green lake. Mrs. Walter Garritt Smith of Evanston, whose enlarged reproduction of Ann Hathaway's quaint cottage is one of the most attractive homes on the lake, was general chairman of the show, and among the Chicgoans working with her were Mrs. Paul B. Skinner, Mrs. Edwin Hadley, and Mrs. Henry Pope.

Mrs. Byron S. Harvey left yesterday to spend two weeks as Mrs. Fowler McCormick's guest at Grande Anse, Quebec, Canada.

Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers and her daughter, Dorothy, are to embark on the Odyssey cruise that will take them to the isles of Greece. They are joining the cruise at Venice and then proceeding on what might be termed a glorified yachting trip.

Convalescent at the Grant hospital is Richard K. Juergens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens of Bellevue place. Young Mr. Juergens went to the hospital last Friday for an appendectomy.

Rawsons to Spend Winter on Coast.

The Frederick H. Rawsons will remain in California through this coming winter. They have one of the cottages on the grounds of the Huntington hotel in Pasadena. One of the pleasantest events of their quiet days are the bulletins every now and then from their son Kennett, who is in Little America with the Byrd expedition.

Friends of the Amos C. Millers will be glad to hear that Mr. Miller is slowly but certainly recovering from his prolonged illness. It was early last spring that he was taken ill in California, where he and Mrs. Miller had gone for a holiday. Recently they took a house in Hollywood, where Mr. Miller is now recuperating.

Society of Jesus Marks 4 Centuries of Order's Service

Four centuries of religious and educational progress were concluded yesterday when the Society of Jesus celebrated the 400th anniversary of its foundation. On Aug. 15, 1534, Ignatius Loyola and his student companions met in the crypt of a small church in the Latin quarter of Paris and took the triple vow of religious life.

Today in the United States alone there are twenty-five colleges and universities as well as thirty-six high schools conducted by the Jesuit order. Loyola university in Chicago was founded in 1869 by the Rev. Arnold Damen, S. J., who had come to Chicago in 1857 and established the Holy Family church at what is now Roosevelt road near Blue Island avenue.

The Society of Jesus is devoted to educational and missionary work. From 1634 to 1773 the Jesuits conducted extensive missionary work throughout the new world, establishing their churches and schools.

Design of Zinnia Pattern Is Rather New in Quiltdom

Zinnia Bouquet.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This design is comparatively new, since no example has been found among old time patterns. The color scheme may be chosen from innumerable gay hues. Orange, reds, and yellows may be used for the flower. The center should be dark, and any blues or purples would combine successfully with the warm shades of the bloom. For variety the quilter may have each flower of a different color instead of a bouquet of the same shade. This also is an excellent way to utilize scraps from previous quilts.

It's ready—Nancy Cabot's new booklet, presenting 96 illustrations of favorite quilt designs, together with one pattern of a popular quilt, "The Framed Rose." Price, 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' JACKET DRESS.

Isn't this a charming little costume? The original model was made of shimmering black satin. While designed for youth, it also suggests the absence of weight and years for the fuller figure through its slimming lines. The neck of the dress is finished with a tied collar of white satin, and the jacket has easily fitted raglan sleeves and is collarless.

The pattern, No. 3210, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

Sally's Guests Have Gay Time Despite Storm

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you think rain can keep my guests from having a good time, you're all wrong! We had a swell time at A Century of Progress yesterday, simply because so many people went out of their various ways to make our party a success instead of the dismal failure it might have been because of Old Man Weather.

Just as we arrived inside of the 12th street gate of the Fair, down came the rain—it poured and it poured—and if Bill Grant of the Greyhound Bus lines hadn't come to our rescue I don't know what we'd have done. But when he heard of the terrible state we were in he magically produced a big bus, with curtains to keep the rain out, and we were comfortably and happily started on our way to Frank Buck's camp.

Reading the youngsters' letters for the last week has convinced me that he is the preëminent hero of today—and he certainly made good! He met us at the gate, took us personally through his perfectly marvelous show, prodded a big poisonous snake, showed us baby monkeys, fed the awfully homely big orang-outang, tossed bananas to the funny, playful little monkeys on the big mountain, autographed books until his finger [which one of those ferocious big bears had taken a bite of] simply ached, ordered root beer, and was simply swell to us all afternoon!

Then that nice Mr. Loveland, who'd been generally helpful all day, and Mr. Buck took us to the merry-go-round, which is next door to the animal exhibit, and we rode gayly around on ferocious looking horses, lions, and tigers, and from there to the Motor-Drome, and if we didn't get a kick out of that—! Round and round, right under our noses, rode two daring men and a beautiful courageous girl on motorcycles, faster than anything you've ever seen. Talk about excitement—that was just thrilling!

Awaiting us as we left the exciting place were numerous boxes of Mrs. Snyder's delicious candy—caramels and kisses and all sorts of delicious tidbits . . . and did we love 'em.

In spite of our grand time we realized that the rain was still pouring down, and once more the bus company came to our rescue and transported us safely and comfortably to the gate.

We enjoyed the afternoon like everything—popcorn, ice cream, etc., and we're really appreciative, because if Mr. Grant, Mr. Buck, Mr. Loveland, Mrs. Snyder, and Mr. Joseph hadn't been so considerate our long awaited party might have been completely canceled—and it was just too much fun to have missed!

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The two daughters of the German ambassador, Fräulein Gertraud and Fräulein Eva Marie, left today for Falmouth, Mass., where they will spend the remainder of the season. They will be joined later by their father and the third secretary of the embassy, Gerrit von Haefton, fiancé of Fräulein Gertraud.

The third secretary of the French embassy, Comte Pierre de Leusse, returned today from a brief visit in Newport. Comte de Leusse will sail the end of the summer for France and join Comtesse de Leusse in Paris, where she is spending the summer. They will return to Washington in the fall.

BY MARY MEADE.

Would you be pleased and tickled to buy from your grocer warm milk and cream, runny butter and heat softened cheese? Hardly. Yet day after day, while the mercury shimmers up and down in the torrid nineties, we post to the store and purchase warm eggs sitting sadly just outside the refrigerated counters from which smile cool milk, meat, butter, and cheese.

There is only one answer and one excuse. Neither the grocer who sells nor the homemaker who buys has yet come to realize that eggs are exactly as perishable as are other dairy and meat products. Because they do not change in outward appearance, we ignore the fact that they are filled with temperamental proteins and fats which are speedily deteriorating and becoming less desirable as hour after hour of heat creeps into them.

But it is not only this indifference, I find, which keeps eggs out of their rightful seat in the refrigerator. It is as much the fallacy which still bobs up among grocers and consumers alike that eggs should NOT be refrigerated; that in some mysterious way it is bad for their little insides. This theory is completely false—has been proved so countless times by men and women who have spent their lives in experimentation on the marketing and cooking of eggs. Storage at room temperature, even for a few hours in the store, produced a steady change in the make-up of the best egg ever laid—a change which no amount of home refrigeration can reverse. While such eggs are palatable and harmless, if caught in time and chilled at home, they simply will not keep as long, nor are they as good for many methods of cooking as they would have been had they been kept chilled.

A shining example arrived today in a letter from Mrs. S. A. W. She has been attempting to hard-cook eggs for devilling and constantly finds that the yolk has floated to the side of the shell, making successful cutting and stuffing utterly impossible. Storage of eggs by the producer and the grocer (perhaps even by Mrs. W. herself) at room temperature is the answer. When an egg is first laid the yolk is held in the center by slim cables fastened at each end of the egg and anchored in the thickness of the white which surrounds the yolk. A day or even a few hours of unrefrigerated storage causes a change in the white. It becomes thin and can no longer cling to the small cords which come from the shell. The yolk therefore frees itself and floats. This yolk is made up of approximately one-third fat and, being lighter than the white, it wanders through to which ever side of the egg is uppermost. Since eggs are usually stored almost vertically in the cartons, it most often floats to one end. This more often happens in summer than in winter, since the temperatures in the stores and en route are higher in the heated months.

Today, as far as I can discover, refrigeration of eggs in Chicago stores is almost entirely absent. But do not blame the grocer for this. It is his business to satisfy his customers in every way he can. But if day by day he finds an increasing number of women arriving with demands for chilled eggs, with remonstrances that warm eggs are bad economy for them and bad business for him, then my faith in the good intentions of these grocers is misplaced if they do not accept the situation as they have every other development in food care and marketing and proceed to store eggs in the future in the chilly cases where they belong.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

MORE SLAM BIDDING.

When the opening no trump bidder's hand contains a six card concealed suit he must beware of making any big bid on the strength of his great suit length, which might be taken by his partner as showing another ace. Never allow confusion to arise between suit length and aces in your rebids. With

Sp. K J Cl. A K x x x x
Hts. K x Di. K Q x

I would bid a no trump for reasons with which you are already thoroughly familiar. If my partner bids three spades I would not bid four clubs, because that would indicate that I held two aces as well as a concealed club suit. My club length must be shown later, if at all, when it cannot be mistaken for a slam acceptance. Three no trumps would be my response. If my partner now shows a second ace by bidding four no trumps I would bid five clubs. He will read this provisionally for a short suit. It is almost sure that it will be his duty to deny it. If he does so by bidding five no trumps I will be informed that he has no second suit and only five spades. I will then bid six clubs on this reasoning: His eight cards other than spades are likely to be divided 3-3-2. I have two chances out of three that he will have three clubs for me, in which event, with so many doubletons in sight, the odds in favor of dropping all the four adverse clubs in two leads will be greatly in my favor. If he has only two clubs, one of them may be the queen. Furthermore, if I cannot avoid the loss of a club trick, I still have a chance if the enemy do not open the suit of which they have the ace. I can take two rounds of trumps, leaving one opponent with the lone high queen, and then take discards on spades. With luck, the player holding the high club may have to follow suit on spades until my last red loser has been shed.

If, after one no trump, three spades, three no trumps, my partner bids four spades or four in a red suit, I will try to sign off at four no trumps. There are now, I know, two aces against us, but four no trumps should be safe. Only if my partner bid diamonds secondarily would I consider a five contract in a suit as safe as four no trumps. Plainly, his diamonds would be five in number, being headed by only A J. Of course, if he could rebid spades, I would pass five spades, as with a six card holding to the A Q definitely announced in his hand, what can we lose but the two aces?

Imagination Also May Be Needed.

When the opener signs off twice the responding hand has to assume responsibility when he holds the key cards and must at times use imagination in visualizing his partner's probable holdings. If your partner bids a no trump and you pick up the bidding goes one no trump, three hearts by you, three no trumps. Now you must make another move, as your partner obviously could not have rebid in different terms, since he has only one ace. His primary values in three suits are limited to K Q (in spades), K (of hearts), K Q (in diamonds), necessitating at least the ace of clubs and probably some jacks or important intermediates. He cannot possess rebid material and can only have had an opening one trump bid if either he is loaded with protective intermediates in a short suited one ace hand, or has A K of clubs, as well as the honors in the other suits named above, or has a long minor suit with protection to bring it in. Having something in every suit, with three and a half tricks in pure primary form and everything promised by your three heart bid, do not be content to bid only five no trumps, showing merely your two reserve aces. Bid six no trumps. You have told your partner of your three aces and assured him that in bidding three hearts you were not cutting any corners. It is just possible that six no trumps may be set a trick, but it is more likely that he may be able to bid seven hearts or seven no trumps for you. With the hand given above he would bid seven clubs, because your jump to six no trumps showed a card as good as a queen in clubs; otherwise, why did you not content yourself with five no trumps? If, after all, you had only x or xx in clubs, you must now bid seven hearts; and if the hearts are 3-3 (assuming that you have only A Q x x x and not, as they should be if your clubs are x x or x, A Q J x x), you will make seven hearts. When you bid six no trumps you have this justification: If your partner's hand is short suited six no trumps is undoubtedly the right contract even if it should by some quirk be set. If his hand holds a concealed long suit you make it solid for him. It must surely be clubs, as that is his only holding that can be headed by the ace-king. If he bids it he has six to A K, since he cannot have A K Q x x, for you have the queen. You must drive him to slam despite his agony at the time.

Sp. A x x x Cl. Q x
Hts. A Q x x x Di. A x

Heavy Chinline Detracts from Otherwise Lovely Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

There's nothing like getting rid of excess thickness around chin, jawline, and the back of the neck to have your friends exclaim: "My, you look so much thinner." You can have a slender waistline, slender hips, and slender ankles, but if you're thick and heavy looking up around that shoulder, throat, and chin area you're doomed so far as the desirable compliment is concerned.

True, you can do some thinning work with the neat head and hair outline. In fact, you can lend the illusion of having been on a successful diet by having thinned out a lot of that hair that widens the face and "bushes" the back of the head. I've seen this happen repeatedly, with happy, slenderizing effect to the whole silhouette. It is usually the shorter woman, with the heavy chin and jawline, the heavy back shoulderline who has that crowded with flesh look to the upper part of her silhouette. In addition to the hair thinning and raising the line of hair in back well off the neck, she will have to get to work to mold the chin and shoulders neatly.

A good diet, of course, is the easiest approach. The chin comes in for whittling and the shoulders when you lose ten, twelve, or fifteen pounds. Often this fat is stubborn as the mischief, and it requires more than diet to remove it. Exercise, in fact, will do it where no diet is followed. I say this with authority because of a recent illustration offered by a friend. It took her practically three months to get her chinline molded into strong, firm tissues and muscle, and the contour of earlier days. She simply concentrated on exercises for the shoulder and neck area. Other spots she said needed reducing, but this upper section was the job she was out to do first. And she certainly did change her appearance remarkably, getting rid of a heavy chinline and the heavy shoulders, back and front. There was nothing especially magic about the form of exercise, but there was magic in the way she kept after them day after day, with no holidays in between.

For the chin and throat line, it was just the ordinary bending forward of the head, backward, to the right and left side and a vigorous gum chewing motion following. A massage with generous patting and cold packs applied along the entire chinline constituted the neck correction. Arms swinging in circles for the shoulder reduction and back massage for shoulder blades is about all that was done. But how it was done! With determined intent to change that upper body silhouette. The shoulder blade massage was lying on the back on the floor and rubbing the shoulders against the carpet, alternating with long stretches of the body from shoulders to toes. The program worked wonderfully in this case, I'm telling you.

Child's World Differs Vastly from Adult One

Time and Duty Don't Exist for the Young Idea.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

She had had to get up early to start her husband off on his long trip to the city.

She began to wash the dishes. There was a window over the kitchen sink and her eyes rested on the little framed picture of dewy grass and trees more than on her work. Suddenly she stopped.

A young—O, almost a baby rabbit—hopped into view and into a patch of clover. He tried two or three pieces of this delicacy, then bit off one stem close to the ground and began nibbling it, letting it twirl round and round as its length diminished until the three little clover leaflets, reaching his mouth, folded up and popped in.

Then he gave an illustration of Christina Rossetti's lines,

And timid, funny,
Pert little bunny,
Winks his nose
And sits all sunny.

And then began a little performance. The baby bunny, all by himself, went on a little "binge" of good spirits. Without any other baby bunny to egg him on he turned little somersaults, and frolicked, and frisked, without rhyme or reason—just for the joy of living. Three or four times that summer the woman who told me was the delighted onlooker of this little show.

There's a young visitor we have who, as I sit writing, often makes me think of that little bunny. He'll be talking most seriously when, without warning, he'll bend double and turn a soft somersault, and chuckle with delight quite to himself—then turn another and another. Then he'll walk around on the grass, singing happily, doing nothing in particular, or holding a clover blossom in a fat hand. Next he'll run a little unsteadily down a gentle grassy slope and at the end let himself fall limply to supply a touch of excitement and abandon, laughing with glee.

Little things—babies or rabbits—how alike they are in many ways. Time—duties—don't exist for them. The joy of living fills them in a way we grownups have forgotten. Their world is a different world from ours—how different we can scarcely imagine. Our values are not their values.

New Natural Mineral Concentrate From the Sea, Rich in FOOD IODINE, Building Up Weak, Run-down Men & Women Where All Else Fails.

Here's good news for "Naturally Skinny" folks who can't seem to add an ounce no matter what they eat. A new way has been found to add flattering pounds of good, solid flesh and fill out those ugly, scrawny hollows even on men and women who have been underweight for years; 5 to 8 pounds in 1 week guaranteed—12 to 15 pounds in few weeks not uncommon.

This new discovery, called Kelp-a-Malt, now available in handy tablets, offers practically all the vitally essential food materials in highly concentrated form. These minerals so necessary to the digestion of fats and starches—the weight-making elements in your daily diet—include a rich supply of precious FOOD IODINE.

Kelp-a-Malt's FOOD IODINE nourishes the internal glands which control assimilation, the process of converting digested food into firm, solid flesh. 6 Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more FOOD IODINE than 486 lbs. of spinach, 1,600 lbs. of beef, 1,389 lbs. of lettuce.

Try Kelp-a-Malt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you sleep, how your appetite improves, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes. Watch flat chest and skinny limbs fill out, and flattering extra pounds appear. Kelp-a-Malt is prescribed and used by physicians. Fine for children, too. Remember the name, Kelp-a-Malt, the original kelp and malt tablets. Nothing like them, so do not accept imitations. Try Kelp-a-Malt. If you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 1 week, the trial is free. 100 jumbo size tablets, 4 to 5 times the size of ordinary tablets cost but little. Sold at all

LAST OF MARINES QUIT HAITI; END 19 YEAR OCCUPATION

Cordial Ceremonies Mark Leavetaking.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Authorities of Haiti were in complete charge of their republic tonight for the first time in 19 years after the departure today of the last of the United States marines.

It was a ceremonial leave-taking, with many manifestations of good will between citizens of the little republic and the American force.

The departure took place a little sooner than was originally contemplated, the time having been advanced after President Roosevelt's recent visit when he gave assurances that the United States would speed withdrawal of the force.

The civilian population crowded the streets as the marines marched to the transport Argonne and the U. S. S. Bridge. The Haitian constabulary band led the procession.

CLOSES BOOK OF INTERVENTION.

By withdrawing the marines from Haiti the United States government carried a step farther its good neighbor policy toward the nations in the south. The evacuation also closed the book of American intervention in Latin America.

The marines took virtual possession of the republic of Haiti on July 28, 1915. The American force was landed after a series of revolutionary disorders, but the American government dispatched the force with mixed motives. The European war was being fought and fears were expressed in some quarters that some European power would obtain a coaling station on the island of Hispanola, within striking distance of the American mainland.

There were stirring times in Port-Au-Prince when the marines landed that July day in 1915. Vilbrun Guillaume Sam had assumed charge of the Haitian government, but was having trouble remaining in the saddle. He fled from his presidential office and took refuge at the French legation.

But disorderly revolutionary forces found him, dragged him through the streets and assassinated him. At the same time 200 prisoners were taken from a jail and bayoneted.

Marines Reëstablish Order.

The marines rapidly reëstablished order and a system of government for the country was worked out. United States naval forces held most of the administrative offices and all affairs of the government were under American scrutiny.

The Americans, to administer the republic, created the office of high commissioner, with the rank of ambassador. Under him were five departments, finance, public works, sanitary service, argiculture, and the gendarmerie. An American loan was made to Haiti and Americans took charge of the customs service to guarantee service on the loan. Most of it has been repaid.

The policy then was to build up the capacities of Haitian officials and to strengthen the Haitian government. The process was too slow, at times, to meet the approval of some Haitian critics. There were several revolts against American authority.

Relations Now Cordial.

In later years the Haitians, eager to speed the departure of the marines, confined their activities largely to the political sphere. Numerous representations were made to Washington, and in the United States there was considerable sentiment for withdrawal of the troops.

But lately the relation of the marines to the Haitians was generally cordial and many citizens of the republic expressed sincere regret at their departure. A flag changing ceremony at Cap Haitian on Aug. 6, when a marine detachment left that point, was the occasion for an exchange of good wishes.

One of the principal duties of the marines in recent years was to train the Haitian gendarmerie. This force, now said to have reached a high state of efficiency, participated in ceremonies at which they bade their instructors farewell.

BARE ELOPEMENT OF HEIRESS AND NEW YORK CLERK

Scarborough-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Ann Whiting, heiress to a large part of the Crowell Publishing company fortune, eloped four months ago, it became known today, with a Minnesotan clerking in a New York store.

It was at a party last winter that Miss Whiting first met her husband, Julian Murray, son of the late Dr. William R. Murray who was a prominent Minneapolis physician.

They were married quietly in New York on April 21—so quietly that for two months Miss Whiting's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gites Whiting, knew nothing about it. Murray's mother, Mrs. William R. Murray, did not learn of the elopement until nearly three months had gone by.

Friends of young Mrs. Murray, who is 20, said they considered her to be radical in her ideas about her own set. She refused two years ago to make a formal debut.

Whiting, an architect, confirmed the wedding today, but declined to say where it took place. Mrs. Whiting is in Geneva, Switzerland, attending the international conference of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Murray's liberal allowance was said to have been stopped for several weeks after her elopement became known to her mother, but will be resumed.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm By Bob Becker

Rain—and Worry!

Aug. 15, 1934.

YESTERDAY'S rain brought a mixture of relief and anxiety to the experimental farm staf. The rain itself freshened up the buckwheat, the test plot crops, the soybeans and cowpeas, and much of the 340 acres of corn. But as the downpour started Louis Thurow came up from the pasture north of the river with a report that he could only count 116 steers and the 117th steer seemed to be missing.

Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, called in five men from odd jobs when Louis said it must be the lame steer noticed several days before, because all of the 116 seemed to be normal. The roundup started in the driving rain, with the men counting heads and searching the brush and timber. Louis, Herman Gunther, and Charles Sleezer found the extra steer across the Rob Roy creek. He took the creek like a high hurdler and came bounding up the hillside like a boy out of school. So there still are 117 steers and the lame one is recovered enough so that he can't be distinguished.

Extra activity on the farm today centered around the laying of a foundation for a 16x60 foot silo that will hold approximately 350 tons of silage. With all the corn that is available on the farm this year, much of it full of foliage but damaged too much by chinch bugs and drouth to make much grain on the ears, silage is going to be an important winter feed for the farm's feeder cattle.

It is estimated the silo will require about seventy-five yards of gravel. All of this is to be taken out of a gravel pit on the farm. The pit is about a quarter mile from the buildings at the old Thurow homestead, where the new cement silo is to be erected near the cattle feeding yards. With the two other silos on the experimental farm the manager expects to have several hundred tons of silage for winter feeding, as well as hundreds of tons of dried fodder and a sizeable amount of ear corn from the better fields.

Nearly a hundred bank swallows which have called the gravel pit their home quarters this summer have about decided to cancel their leases on these comfortable and usually quiet quarters. With picks and shovels, tractor trucks, and men working near them all day long, the swallows are about ready to give up their Kendall county residence and travel south a bit earlier than usual.

John Rawlings made quick work of trapping a groundhog yesterday at the auxiliary farm at Wheaton. At noon he noticed the groundhog burrow in the orchard. So he placed a live trap near the burrow and in two hours the curiosity of the animal had led him into the trap to become the season's latest varmint catch.

The fifty-three turkeys which Rawlings checks up in the woods each day are becoming experts at losing themselves. At least Rawlings gets worried about once a week in trying to find these wanderers. Yesterday he mounted Pieface, the horse, for a ride around the farm. The turkeys weren't in sight anywhere, although he rode clear around the woods. So he had to take another circuit before he located them, busy catching bugs in a far corner. Two old gobblers and three old hen turkeys lead a more sedate life and stay near or in the poultry yard, where easy pickings can be gleaned with the rest of the poultry flock.

BYRD IS BETTER; TAKES A WALK IN 61° BELOW ZERO

Tells How Explorer Faced Hardships.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 15.—(AP)—[Via Mackay Radio.]—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd today had recovered sufficiently from his touch of bad health to take a stroll in the open air at his advance base, 123 miles south of here. The admiral walked in a temperature of 61 degrees below zero.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, second in command of the Byrd expedition, who led the tractor expedition which reached the advance base, reported by radio that he is still uncertain as to when the trip back will start.

Admiral Byrd ordered E. J. Demas, tractor driver, to take his bunk, but the driver refused. The admiral still is occupying the single bunk in the advance base.

Crowded as a Phone Booth.

Dr. Poulter, Demas, and Amory H. White, radio operator, are sleeping in their sleeping bags, their heads around stoves and their feet under tables and chairs.

Dr. Poulter reported that the shack is about as crowded as a telephone booth when only one man is in it, making it exceedingly "close quarters for four."

Dr. Poulter described in more detail the meeting of the tractor party with Admiral Byrd. Ten miles from the end of the journey they marked a light which at first they thought was a star. Then they realized it was the light that Byrd had promised to keep burning for them—a gasoline affair hung from a bamboo pole.

They saw a shadow move across the light. It was Admiral Byrd. He had struggled up from below and had seen the lights of the approaching party. Rather than tax his strength with a second climb up the hatch, he decided to sit and wait for them. He was in furs and wore a helmet which fitted tightly around his face. Demas, who had been at the wheel without a break for 40 hours, drove right up to him.

Apologizes for "Mess."

Byrd moved with an uncertain, fumbling movement. He raised his mitten in greeting, and as the glare of the searchlight happened to catch his face, the three men who ran to meet him were shocked to see how thin he looked, and how ill. His visitors were the first living things he had seen in four and one-half months.

The men helped Byrd down the entrance to the double acting trapdoor, into the vestibule which enters his food tunnel. As they pushed open the door of the shack there was a telltale mound of empty tin cans under the bunk.

"Sorry the place is in such a mess," Byrd apologized. "I couldn't help it. When my strength started to go I hauled in a lot of food. It saved a lot of trouble bringing it in later on. It looks like the sort of thing a wife would expect to find at home after her husband had enjoyed a summer of bachelorhood, doesn't it?"

They sat down to drink the soup Byrd had prepared for them and Demas asked him how he felt.

Like a Joke Without a Laugh.

"Like a joke without a laugh," Byrd said. "In short, pretty flat."

Dr. Poulter asked him why, when he was in distress, he did not ask Little America to come for him at once, and why he did not directly tell them he was ill.

"I didn't think it would be the right thing to do," Byrd replied.

He told his listeners that most of the time during which Little America lost contact with him, he could hear them calling him and reporting on expedition affairs, but his strength was diminishing and it exhausted him to crank the hand generator, even for a little while at a time.

Then, too, something went wrong with the receiver, and he had difficulty understanding what Little America said. He continued tinkering with it, he said, but he was no radio engineer.

Guinea Fowl Wax Fat on Chinch Bug Diet

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—One farmer in McLean county has found a good use for chinch bugs. He is Roy Mays of Towanda, six miles north of here, who reports today that his flock of young guinea fowls are waxing fat on a ration composed almost exclusively of chinch bugs.

FORMER CADET AND 16 INDICTED ON CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM CHARGE

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Norman Mini, identified by police as a former West Point cadet, was indicted today with 16 other persons on charges of criminal syndicalism.

Police said Mini drilled communists in the art of warfare. Pat Chambers, who has been identified with agricultural strikes in the San Joaquin valley, also was indicted.

Charges of vagrancy previously were filed against the alleged communists and seven others held with them.

IRISH FARMERS HALT WORK; RIOT VICTIM IS BURIED

CORK, Irish Free State, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Farmers throughout Munster observed an hour's cessation from work today during the funeral of Jeremiah Lynch, the farmer who was killed in the battle between farmers and police in Cork Monday. Shopkeepers were asked to close their stores for most of the day.

Young boys joined in disorders late last night after several hundred of Gen. Owen O'Duffy's Blue Shirts had escorted Lynch's body from the undertaker's establishment to a Catholic church.

A crowd attacked O'Duffy's car as it was leaving, without any serious result, but individual members of Blue Shirts, returning home, were badly beaten in some cases. Blue Shirts reinforcements rushed to their aid, a pitched battle followed.

$400,000 CABIN THEFTS SAID TO BE CONFESSED

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—A sneak thief who stole jewelry and clothing valued by the police at $400,000 from cabins on several ocean liners in recent months was arrested early today in the Grand Central terminal. According to detectives, he signed a six page confession of his exploits.

As a result of his confession, the detectives said, they recovered a $2,000 diamond ring from a pawn shop, and they hope to recover $15,000 more of his loot within a few days. Apparently, however, the bulk of the booty is gone for good.

RUSSIA DEMANDS MANCHUKUO FREE 17 OF ITS CITIZENS

Face Trial on Charges of Plot Against Japan.

TOKIO, Aug. 13 [Thursday].—(AP)—The acting soviet Russian consul-general at Harbin has demanded of Manchukuo authorities the release of seventeen soviet subjects arrested on charges of plotting against Manchukuo and Japan, a Rengo [Japanese] dispatch from Harbin said today.

The Manchukuo authorities refused to release them, the dispatch said.

The soviet consul, Nikolai Raivid, complained that the action of the Manchukuoan authorities was an oppressive and unjust action.

Those arrested were all Russian officials and employés of the Chinese Eastern railway. All were taken to Harbin for trial on charges of collusion with bandits in several recent attacks on the railway.

The authorities also claimed a plot had been laid to attack a Japanese special military mission to Pogranichnaya.

Moscow Fears Military Rule.

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Mass arrests of Russian employés along the Chinese Eastern railway gave rise to rumors here today that Japanese militarists were preparing to declare military law and take over the railway.

For more than a year negotiations between Russia and Japan over the railway have been in progress at Tokio and in Manchukuo.

Seeking to purchase the Russian interest in the railway, formerly jointly owned by Russians and Chinese, Japan recently made an offer in the nature of an ultimatum, which was not accepted by the Soviet authorities.

American Reported Slain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16.—[Thursday.]—One American, five Japanese and two Chinese were murdered on Aug. 14 when the steamer Yinkow was attacked by pirates on the Sungari river, according to a message from Harbin, Manchukuo. The message did not give the names of the victims.

Chinese bandits also are reported to have derailed and wrecked a freight train at Hengtaohotze, on the eastern branch of the Chinese Eastern railway, and kidnaped the crew.

A Japanese report from Harbin said the Japanese military had discovered large quantities of dynamite stored in cottages occupied by soviet Russian citizens arrested following the breakdown of negotiations for the sale to Manchuokuo of the Chinese Eastern railway.

The Japanese military and Manchukuo police who made the arrests claimed that documents found in the cottages proved that the arrested Russians were responsible for train wrecks on the railway on Sept. 11 of last year and on June 30 and Aug. 5 of this year.

The Japanese allege that the Russians instigated more than thirty train wrecks between May 1 and Aug. 5 of this year.

COLLEGE ALL-STARS START PRACTICE TODAY

SOX LACK THAT PUNCH; BEATEN TWICE BY A'S

Gaston Loses, 7-4; Tietje, 2 to 1.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The touring White Sox came to grief today when they opened their final eastern excursion of the season. They were whipped twice by Connie Mack's young Athletics, who ran their string of triumphs to five in a row by winning the opener, 7 to 4, and the final, 2 to 1, before 6,000 customers. The defeats were Nos. 5 and 6 in the last seven games for the Sox.

LES TIETJE.

Milt Gaston blew up in the seventh inning of the first game when the score was 3 to 3, being shelled for four straight hits. The final one was Jimmy Foxx's 37th home run of the season, with two aboard. Thus Milt suffered his 16th defeat of the campaign, giving him the league lead in that respect.

It Wasn't Tietje's Fault.

Les Tietje gave a fine performance in the nightcap and the game might have gone into extra innings except for an error by Shea in the sixth that allowed the A's to score what proved to be the winning run. The other one came in the first inning, when Williams hit a home run. It was Les' ninth setback against four victories.

The Sox had plenty of scoring opportunities against Bill [Specs] Dietrich, but his pitching in the pinches left a dozen stranded.

FIRST GAME

For a time it appeared that Gaston might escape his sixteenth defeat in the opener, but the A's snapped a 3 to 3 tie with their four run splurge in the seventh, featured by Jimmy Foxx's thirty-seventh homer with two on.

In this fateful inning Gaston got by Cain, but immediately ran into trouble when Cramer, Williams, and Johnson singled. The last hit brought in Cramer. Then Foxx hoisted Milt's first pitch on top of the roof of the two decked left field pavilion, thus eliminating all semblace of a contest.

All Even in First.

Until then first one club then the other had the advantage. Swanson opened the game with a single, advanced on a sacrifice, and counted on Simmons' single to center. The A's tied it in their half on Cramer's single, a sacrifice, and Foxx's one base smash to center.

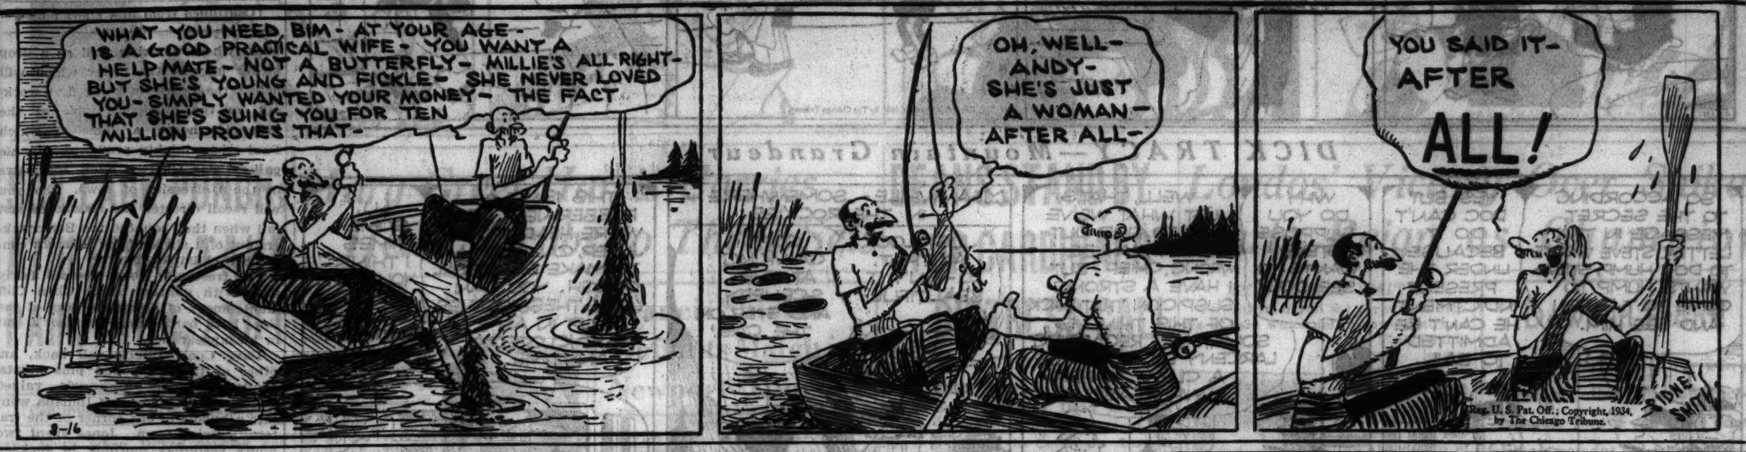

The Mackmen took the lead in the fourth when Higgins walked, advanced on an infield out, and tallied on McNair's single to center. This advantage stood up until the fifth, when Cain lost control, passing Haas and Simmons. Then Appling was credited with a hit when Cain failed to touch first when he took Foxx's throw of his grounder. The Mule scored after Johnson took Dykes' drive near the wall. Then Hayes fanned to close the inning.

Some Fun for Madjeski.

In the sixth the Sox went into the lead when Madjeski ran wild on the Philadelphia infield. His pop fly dropped back of short, between McNair and Higgins, for a double, and Eddie raced to third when he saw nobody was covering the bag. He was credited with a stolen base. Gaston punched a single past Higgins to score his battery mate. Swanson beat out a bunt, but Haas and Simmons couldn't prolong the rally. This was the Sox's last real chance to win, even though they did score once more in

THE GUMPS—RIGHTO!

Tigers' Streak Halted at 14; Yanks Win, 8-2

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The New York Yankees got up off the floor today after their double knockdown yesterday and broke the winning streak of the Detroit Tigers in the third game of their fight for American league baseball supremacy.

The Yankees pounded Tommy Bridges from the mound in five innings, rallying behind the effective pitching of the young Yale graduate, Johnny Broaca, to score an 8 to 2 decision and serve notice that they are not entirely to be counted out of the pennant battle.

Stopped After Fourteen Straight.

The Tigers were stopped after winning fourteen consecutive games. They had equaled the best mark for successive triumphs ever made by a Detroit team, the 1909 champions of Hughey Jennings.

Manager Mickey Cochrane and his crew remained five and one-half games in front of the Yankees, with two more games to be played with New York.

Bridges quickly contributed to his own undoing by wildness. He walked three Yankees in the first two innings, and two of them scored, one on Ben Chapman's single in the first inning and another on Frankie Crosetti's home run into the left field stands in the second inning. This was sufficient to clinch the game, but the Yankees pounded Bridges for three hits and two more runs in the fifth, hammered Charley Fischer's offerings for another pair of runs in the sixth, and finished their scoring off Luke Hamlin in the eighth.

Ruth Shines Defensively.

Broaca yielded ten hits, but he was highly effective in the pinches and in the sixth when the Tigers scored their only runs. The young Yankee pitcher was aided by magnificent defensive work by the aging Babe Ruth.

It looked like a typical Tiger uprising as White, Cochrane and Gehringer led off the sixth with singles. Ruth's fast handling of Gehringer's smash prevented White from scoring for the moment, and then after White finally tallied on an infield force play Ruth raced far up the bank in right center to rob Billy Rogell of a double. It was the most sensational fielding play of the game, and Ruth was given as big an ovation as if he had hit a home run with the bases full. Another run scored after the catch, but the Tigers were held in check thereafter. Score:

CUBS USE LEE, WARNEKE TODAY AGAINST BRAVES

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Lon Warneke and Bill Lee, with their ears nicely straightened out again after having them pinned back by the Cardinals last Friday and Saturday, are panting to get in there against the Boston Braves in this afternoon's double header.

The reason there will be a double header is found in the fact that it rained very persistently yesterday. It was, incidentally, the first washout the Cubs have had at home this season, a reported record for uninterrupted schedules in this section of the country.

Hope for Best.

The necessity of playing a double header casts no fear in the hearts of the present wobbly outfit headed by Manager Charles Grimm. The only games they have won in the last eleven days have been the double headers they swept in Pittsburgh and St. Louis. Neither Warneke nor Lee had any part in these two double triumphs, however. Pat Malone, the black cat fancier, won two of the four games; Jim Weaver, one, and Guy Bush, one. Lee was knocked out in both Pittsburgh and St. Louis. Warneke did not start in Pittsburgh but was knocked out in St. Louis.

The two Boston pitchers will be selected from the trio composed of Cantwell, Betts and Frankhouse, with the odd man being saved for tomorrow's final against Malone.

The Braves, being the only team in the National league which holds an edge over the Cubs in the season series, were said to be very confident of winning both games today, not having been told of Warneke's and Lee's decisions to do some real pitching. Even if Warneke and Lee win today and Malone hangs up his No. 14 victory tomorrow the Braves will leave town tied at nine games each for the season.

Warneke Is Fit.

Warneke is heralding himself as very robust as to health, following reports circulated in the Cubs' favorite hospital to the effect that he was to be hauled in and given the once over. If Lon is bumped again he will not blame it on his physical condition. Lee is in good health, a fine athletic type and a great five inning pitcher. If his courage can be buoyed through the sixth and seventh innings he should be an easy winner.

The Cubs today will receive applications for ladies' day tickets for the game on Aug. 24.

The Giants split a double header with the Pirates yesterday, so their lead over the Cubs remained at 4 games. Cub partisans are beginning to realize that this is a pretty wide margin, a margin of deeper significance in view of Frankie Frisch's quarrel with the Dean brothers immediately following the close of the Cub series in St. Louis. The Deans have handed the Giants eight of the 41 defeats the champs have suffered all year. The complacent calculations of the smug Cubs has included the thought that the Deans would slow up the Giants during their imminent visits to St. Louis.

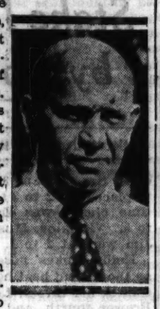

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE new football guide is off the press and for the 18th consecutive year it has a glaring error in its record of drop kicks. . . . The guide states that George Gipp made his 62 yard drop kick against Western Reserve in 1916. . . . Gipp was a freshman that season and made the kick at Kalamazoo, Mich., against Western State Teachers for the Notre Dame yearling team. . . . Ed [Strangler] Lewis, who will meet Jim Londos at Wrigley field Sept. 20 for the heavyweight wrestling championship, stopped off in Thermopolis, Wyo., last week, en route to his home in Glendale, Cal., and he got into a game of poker with some of the local boys. . . . The game lasted for 23 hours and Lewis played steadily without stopping to eat or sleep. . . . Inky Wotkyns, full back at Southern California, had two fingers of his left hand broken the other day when he got in the way of a sledge hammer in an oil field at Bakersfield. . . .

GEORGE GIPP.

BILL KLEM.

The Cubs jumped out of Pittsburgh on 40 minutes' notice recently because Manager Grimm was eager to get to his home in St. Louis after the Pirates' final had been washed out by an early morning rain. . . . Dr. Andy Lotshaw had to dash to the clubhouse to pack his trunks and came to the train soaking wet with perspiration. . . . As soon as the train pulled out the doctor washed out all his raiment in the dressing room, donned emergency garments, and settled down to a heart game. . . . At two hour intervals he went back to inspect his washing, with a view of packing it when dry. . . . Each time he found it still very wet, a condition which he attributed, with some spirit, to the humidity in the new fangled air conditioned car. . . . It was not until he packed his wash, sopping wet, on arriving at St. Louis that it was revealed that Pitcher Jim Weaver had dipped the vestments every time they had showed a tendency to dry out. . . .

Maj. Philip B. Fleming, who for seven years was athletic director at West Point, is now working for the Public Works administration. . . . His headquarters are in Washington. . . . Bing Crosby has shot away a lot of dough on a horse named after him. . . . He has a standing order of ten across the board every time it starts. . . . He got some of it back a few days ago when the horse won at Detroit, paying $56.80 for $2. . . . Soldiers' field, which is the largest football starium in America, has only 23,000 seats between the goal lines. . . . The Pirates have given up Paso Robles, Cal., as a spring training base. . . . Next year they will work at San Bernardino, about 90 miles from Los Angeles in the mountains. . . . Lew Fonseca will entertain coaches attending Northwestern summer school tonight with his illustrated baseball lecture. . . .

There is no word so painful to Umpire Bill Klem as catfish. . . . Ball players know this but seldom apply the term to him because they fear the consequences. . . . An exception occurred in 1926, when Art Fletcher was managing the Phillies. . . . Fletcher previously had trouble with Klem and was prepared for the next encounter. . . . Fletcher was ousted from the game and after the usual delay went to the clubhouse back of center field. . . . Suddenly from a clubhouse window appeared a large, yellow flag on which was inscribed in black letters "Catfish." . . . The crowd roared, the players laughed, and Klem stormed. . . . The flag was withdrawn when Klem took out his watch and threatened to forfeit the game. . . . Charley Hargreaves, former Brooklyn catcher, is a tavernkeeper in Trenton, N. J.

Ten Years Ago Today—Eldridge Robinson of Chicago won the western Junior Golf championship by defeating Donald Carrick, 3 and 2, at Briargate Golf club. . . . Helen Wills and Molla Mallory were the finalists for the national women's tennis title. . . . Barney Friberg's home run gave the Cubs an 8 to 6 victory over the Phillies.

LORD JIM TAKES HAMBLETONIAN AFTER 4 HEATS

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Lord Jim, second choice in a field of eight, won the ninth Hambletonian stake this afternoon in a four heat contest that had a crowd of 35,000 trotting horse enthusiasts in a frenzy of excitement throughout the afternoon. The last race was not concluded until dusk was settling over the historic Good Time park.

Lord Jim, one of the last colts of Guy Axworthy, is owned by E. L. Mefford of Columbus, O. He was trained and driven by Hugh M. [Doc] Parshall, generally considered America's greatest light harness reinsman.

Lord Jim won the second and fourth heats of today's big race to earn $13,506.81, the total value of the purse being $25,845.44, the smallest since the inauguration of the stake. The four heats were trotted in 2:03⅕, 2:02¾, 2:04¼, and 2:04¼.

Muscletone Is Second.

Second money of $3,506.61 went to the bay colt Muscletone, from the Cold Stream farm of Lexington, Ky. He was driven by Daryl Parshall, brother of the winning driver. Third money of $1,929.54 was won by Princess Peg, a filly owned by J. I. and E. T. Lyle of Plainfield, N. J., and driven by Sep Palin.

The greatest crowd that ever gathered for the running of the Hambletonian taxed every facility of Good Time park. The visitors were rewarded by one of the best contests in the history of the stake, richest event in all the light harness world.

Lord Jim Improves.

Lord Jim was one of the dark horses up to a short time before the opening of the Grand Circuit meeting here. He had not distinguished himself in the stake events of last year, starting in few of the big races. He won his mark of 2:05¼ at Lexington, Ky., last autumn.

Parshall has held implicit faith in the colt, whose dam was Selka, she by Peter the Great. Lord Jim came along slowly this year, placing in the money in about half of his starts. He had been recognized as a dangerous contender and in the auction pools this morning he was second choice, selling for $160, behind Emily Stokes, the favorite, which sold for $300. She was never a serious contender, her best effort being in the third heat in which she finished third.

Track Fairly Fast.

The race was run over a fairly fast track, the only slow going being on the back stretch which was soaked by a sharp shower early this morning while other sections of the track escaped the downpour.

As the field entered the homestreach in the first heat, Sep Palin called on Princess Peg and she took command, holding her lead to the wire, winning by a length over Vitamine, which had worked up from far back to place second by a length and a half over Muscletone, with Lord Jim fourth. The time of the heat was 2:03⅕.

At post time Princess Peg was quot-

Bears Start Drill Today for All-Stars

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The big bad Bears, 33 of them, will assemble this morning on the new Lane Tech High school field to take their first step in the two weeks of conditioning set aside for preparation for their struggle with the cream of America's 1933 college footballers at Soldiers' field Aug. 31. It also will be the first move of the pro champions in a long campaign. After the All-Star affair is off their books they'll keep right on rehersing for the regular National league season.

The practice field this morning, not to mention this afternoon and subsequent days, will be no place for gentlemen with that tired feeling. With only a limited period in which to fit themselves for a proper defense of their pro reputation, the well padded giants will be driven through a program strenuous enough to make all previous practice sessions seem like pink teas. Most of the fellows anticipated this so toughened up in various ways before reporting.

What a Life!

The first four days will be devoted to the usual preliminary work. The kickers will kick, the passers will pass, the pass receivers will catch or try to catch, and everybody will have to assault the tackling dummies. If they're still on their feet after this, they'll be allowed to run around the field a few times.

By Monday, possibly Sunday, if the boys have shed their aches, the work will become serious. Scrimmage will be inaugurated. The athletes then will have a chance to exercise their Philadelphia lawyer minds trying to remember the 110 to 120 plays in the Bears' repertoire.

New formations and plays also will be worked on and not without reason. Dick Hanley, Northwestern's coach, has seen just about every Bear home game in recent years and knows their style about as well as if he had devised it himself. Hanley will assist in whipping the All-Stars into a smooth combination.

Bears Sign Kiesling.

After ten days at the Lane Tech field the Bears will pack their dunnage bags and move to the Northwestern practice gridiron to polish up their plays and at the same time get some experience playing under lights.

George Halas, the Bears' head coach and president, announced yesterday that Walter Kiesling, who starred at St. Thomas college, had signed a contract for the season. Kiesling is a former Cardinal who prior to that served with Ernie Nevers' Duluth eleven. He's a 242 pound guard, reputed to be excellent on defense and unusually shifty on offense.

In their battle with the All-Stars the Bears will be in the unusual position of opposing four of their own members who will change over as soon as the regular season practice starts. The four who will take a hand in the job of trying to bowl over their own mates will be Tackles Ted Rosequist and Fred Crawford, Half Back Beattie Feathers and Center Art Krueger.

ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL TEAM MATERIALIZES

Kizer Arrives to Take Charge.

Masker to Referee

JAMES MASKER of Milwaukee, recognized as one of the most competent officials in intercollegiate football, has accepted an invitation to referee the game between the College All-Stars and the Bears.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football team, an imaginary honor awarded annually, these many years, materialized yesterday. Thirty gridiron stalwarts, chosen in a nation-wide poll, recruited from a score of universities, assembled at the Wrangler fraternity house, Evanston. Later they visited Northwestern university stadium, received their equipment and completed initial preparations for their training period, which will be climaxed by the greatest game in football history, a battle between the college All-American and the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Professional leagues at Soldiers' field Aug. 31.

NOBLE KIZER.

The thousands of football fans whose votes were responsible for the presence of these young men, would have thrilled to have seen them together As a group they impressed by their sheer physical fitness.

A Friendly Group.

Their modesty, casual acceptance of one another, and their friendliness augurs success for the efforts of the All-American coaches to weld them into a unit fit to cope with the professionals.

Each represented individual success, yet each, by his actions, gave evidence that his success had been based on cooperation of team mates, a lesson which should make easier the coaches' task.

At lunch yesterday, a hearty meal of roast beef, potatoes, sweet corn, flanked by pitchers of milk and salad topped with fruit, the stars of the Pacific coast met the famous players from the east; the great gridiron warriors of the central states chatted with their compatriots from the south. Any coach in the land would trade his most valued possessions to greet a squad such as this on the first day of practice.

Football Stars Assemble.

Beattie Feathers, fleet black-haired half back from the University of Tennessee, who motored Tuesday from West Virginia, was one of the early arrivals. The Ohio State delegation, veterans of three years' play for the Scarlet and Gray, reported early yesterday. The group included Carl Cramer, quarter back; Mike Vuchnich, center; Sid Gilman, end; Joe Gailus, guard, and big Ted Rosequist, tackle.

The Buckeyes greeted Chuck Bernard and Herman Everhardus, members of Michigan's undefeated Western conference champions.

"We've met somewhere before, haven't we?" Rosequist asked Bernard, in chiding reference to last year's battle between Michigan and Ohio State at Ann Arbor before 90,000, which was Ohio State's only defeat of the season.

The Ohio State boys also had a word for Sebastian of Pittsburgh when they recalled from their series with the steel city university.

3 TIE FOR TITLE IN K. OF C. GOLF; RECORD FIELD

Garrity, Jordan, Scavone Each Shoot 73.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The landing of Columbus was reenacted amid a flock of pesky showers yesterday at Olympia Fields, where the Knights of Columbus Golf league held its seventh annual tournament, but the elements did not deter 600 Knights, representing 60 Illinois councils, from setting a record for the event.

The league is still without a 1934 champion as a result of a triple tie for the Fred B. Snite trophy, emblematic of the state title. The trio who tied at 73, one over par for the No. 1 course at Olympia, included Frank Garrity of St. Augustine council, defending champion; Fritz Jordan of Quigley, and Tony Scavone of Perez. They will meet in an 18 hole playoff over the No. 1 layout, probably on Sunday. The winner of the playoff will receive the Thomas D. Griffin cup and his council a leg on the Snite trophy, the runnerup the Al Horan trophy, and the third place scorer the Edward F. Barrett trophy.

Father Kiley Shoots 70.

Although the three leaders did nobly in getting their 75s on No. 1, it was the Rev. James Kiley of St. Timothy's parish, who shot the golf of the day, a 70 on the No. 2 course, to win the clergy prize. Father Kiley was over par on only two holes, the 12th and 18th, and scored birdies on the 3d, 4th, 13th, and 16th.

The Quigley council quartet, composed of Fritz Jordan, 73; John Jordan, 79; Tom Jordan, 83, and Alex Sullivan, 86, won the Columbian trophy for the low gross foursome with a total of 321. R. W. Hall, also of Skokie, was the oldest golfer competing. Mr. Hall, who is 77 years old, won first place in class D with a score of 100—47—53.

George Dawson of Glen Oak, defending champion, led pre-tournament favorites into the quarter-final round by eliminating Bill Lain and Gus Fetz. Others who came through yesterday's rounds were Bob Baldwin, Bloomington who put out Henry Hafer and Winfield Day; Pick Wagner of Kildeer, who beat Warren Dawson and Hunter Hicks, and Don Armstrong, former state champion who eliminated Elton Hill of Urbana and H. V. Witt, Midlothian.

George Dawson, who had won from Lain in the morning round, 4 and 3, had a 1 up lead at the turn in his second round match with Fetz. Dawson, however, three putted the 12th hole and Fetz squared the match. Dawson regained this ground on the 13th, where he sank a 10 foot putt and also took the 16th. Well Ventilated Martin Houses Cut Mortality

BY BOB BECKER.

Purple martins nested in the usual numbers this summer, but there must have been a heavy mortality among the young birds, judging by the reports from bird fans in the central states. Mrs. A. Genz, of Galena, Ill., is one of the bird fans who tells us about the death of many young martins. She ascribes the fatalities to the extreme heat. Her letter is as follows:

"We have several martin houses in our yard, but this year the young birds died. I believe it was the heat that killed them. They would hang far out of the entrance holes apparently gasping for air. We gave them water with a medicine dropper and then pushed them back in their nest. But it did no good.

"I am wondering if there would be some way to avoid this next year should we have another excessively hot summer. Wouldn't an insulated bird house help? Can you tell me where I could get a plan for such a house? Our local contractor said he would make the houses if I could get a plan for them. I would appreciate your suggestions because I want to continue to get and hold martins in my yard."

There is no doubt that purple martins suffered from the sun this year because martin houses invariably, if not always, are located in the open where they have no protection from the sun on hot days.

The martin house recommended by the biological survey calls for a ventilation and "cooling" system by providing an air passage running through the middle of the structure. This is formed by cutting out the floors of what would be otherwise central compartments. The elevation of the roof with a hole on two sides of the house also permits a current of air to circulate from a central shaft. Bird fans should keep these features in mind when they construct martin houses.

Details of the plan of this martin house are given in two publications which can be obtained at small cost by bird fans. They are: "Homes for Birds," published by the biological survey, Washington, D. C., and may be had by sending 5 cents to the superintendent of documents in Washington. "Birds and Birdhouses," published by THE TRIBUNE, gives details of the "air cooled" martin houses, as well as floor and building plan showing how the ideal martin house should be built. This book also tells where to locate houses in one's yard. "Birds and Birdhouses" is on sale at the public service office of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago. The price is 30 cents by mail.

REXINGER LOSES TO M'ELVENNEY IN PARKS TENNIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The first of the eight seeded players in the men's singles division of the national public parks tennis tournament was defeated today as play progressed to the quarter finals.

The only upset came late in the afternoon when Scott Rexinger of Chicago, former Big Ten champion, was eliminated by Ralph McElvenney of Washington, who at one time was a member of the national intercollegiate indoor championship team. The scores were 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Arnold Simons of Louisville, defending champion, was forced to go four sets to win from Ernest Koslan of New York City, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Dooley Mitchell of Washington won from Eugene Quinn of Chicago, 6-0, 9-11, 6-4, 6-4.

The women's champion, Mrs. Ruth Prosser of St. Louis, made quick work of Myrtle Clausen of Minneapolis, 6-1, 6-0. Helen Germain of New York and Louise Hoffmeister, Chicago, won their way into the semi-finals, Miss Germain, 1932 champion, defeating Elizabeth Kesting, St. Paul, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, while Andre Russell of Cleveland, seeded fourth, lost to Miss Hoffmeister, 6-4, 6-1.

Hambletonian Stake Is Won by Lord Jim

ed in the books at 3 to 1, even money to place, and 2 to 3 to show. The post time choice was Emily Stokes at 4 to 5. Vitamine, Muscletone, and Lord Jim were at 2 to 1.

Emily Stokes' nose was out in front as the second heat began, with Muscletone at her throat, Lord Jim third, Ella Brewer fourth, and the rest bunched. Around the turn Muscletone showed in front of Emily Stokes.

In the stretch drive, Lord Jim, under Parshall's masterful handling, took the measure of Muscletone and then stood off a brilliant challange by Princess Peg, which Sep Palin had worked through the field in the final drive. Lord Jim beat her by a length and a half, Muscletone finishing third, half a length in back of Princess Peg.

To win his heat Lord Jim was forced to step the mile in 2:02¾, which is the season's record for a three year old trotter.

Muscletone Takes Long Lead.

Daryl Parshall, lesser known of the two brothers, further complicated matters in the third heat when he threw discretion to the winds and made a sensational drive on the back stretch with Muscletone to open a lead of ten lengths on the field. It was a daring venture—a case of taking a chance to win or completely wrecking his hopes of ultimate victory.

Muscletone pounded down the final furlong to win by four lengths from Lord Jim, with Emily Stokes finally coming into the picture to place third. Princess Peg was fourth and Vitamine fifth. The heat was trotted in 2:04¼. Before the start of the heat Lord Jim was the favorite at 3 to 5.

Lord Jim Favorite.

Only the three heat winners came out for the deciding heat. Lord Jim continued to be the favorite in the books, closing at 4 to 5. Princess Peg went to the front, trailed by Lord Jim and Muscletone. On the backstretch the latter moved up to challenge the leader and it was a battle throughout the mile.

On the final turn Princess Peg was leading by almost two lengths. Then she went into a break and Lord Jim came on to win the heat and race in 2:04¼, leading Muscletone by four lengths, Princess Peg was a length and a half farther back.

CAMPBELL WINS TWO MATCHES IN CANADIAN GOLF

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Quebec, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Eleven Canadians and five players from the United States, including Albert [Scotty] Campbell, Jesse Guilford and Jack Munger, remained in the chase for the Canadian amateur golf championship tonight.

Campbell, the defending titleholder from Seattle, Wash., defeated John Nies of Beverly, Mass., in the second round, 2 and 1, and then eliminated G. H. Flynn of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3.

Munger beat a former holder of the title, Don Carrick of Toronto, 2 and 1, and then came through with some sub-par golf to eliminate the 20 year old Montreal player, Jack Archer, by the same count.

Guilford conquered K. C. Findlay of Ottawa handily, 3 and 2, but was carried to the 22d green before he could dispose of the former Ontario champion, Phil Farley of Toronto.

Completing the United States representation in the round of sixteen were Henry Palm of Beverly, Mass., and Wilfred Crossley of Boston.

Leading the home forces was C. Ross Somerville of London, four times champion. Somerville eliminated Bud Donovan of Winnipeg, 1 up, and then showed much better form in putting out Gordon Taylor Jr. of Montreal, 6 and 5.

America Wins 8 Events in French Meet

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 15.—(AP)—America's track and field tourists won eight of eleven events against a French team today in preparation for faster company in the final meet Sunday.

Competing under a broiling sun on a football field that had no cinder track, the Americans failed to win only three events. Bob Kane, Cornell sprinter, lost by three yards to Raymond Boisset, Paris university student, in a 300 meter dash in :34.4, and Jack Torrance, Louisiana State shot putter, and John Lyman of Stanford, trailed Emile Winter, Olympic star, in the discus.

Bill Bonthron of Princeton spotted the Frenchman, Jatteaux, 110 meters in a 1,500 meter handicap and failed to beat him only by a step in the slow time of 3:58.

Torrance, Percy Beard of the New York A. C., Ben Eastman of San Francisco, Eulace Peacock, Temple university freshman; Cornelius Johnson of Compton [Cal.] Junior college, and two relay teams all turned in easy victories, with Peacock winning both the 100 meters and the broad jump.

ALL-STAR SQUAD GATHERS; BEGINS PRACTICE TODAY

back, whose unerring skill as a drop kicker may be the factor which will defeat the Bears, took his first workout on the ping-pong table at the Wrangler house, a game at which Paul seems mighty proficient. In his gallery was Quarter Back Joe Laws of the University of Iowa, who you will recall directed the Hawkeyes last fall when they bounced the Boilermakers out of a share of the Western conference championship.

The fraternity house seemed fairly alive with quarter backs when Cliff Montgomery of Columbia, star of the Rose bowl battle last New Year's, put in his appearance.

Dave Cook, Illinois full back, another of the 200 pound plus giants; Walter Manekis, Chicago's valued guard, and Bob Jones of Indiana went into a huddle in one corner of the fraternity living room. Jones spent two hours yesterday morning in Jackson park with a friend who had driven him from Bloomington, Ind., while they waited for repairs to their automobile. The machine had skidded on the wet pavement and lost a front wheel in a scrimmage with the curbstone.

Sauer Is Well Again.

George Sauer, whose vote in the national poll was eclipsed only by Ed Krause, Notre Dame tackle, reported that he was feeling chipper, ready to play his usual smashing game despite a recent operation for appendicitis. Krause was one of the late arrivals, but Tom [Kitty] Gorman, center, and Nick Lukats represented the Irish delegation. Eggs Manske, the lightweight of the line men, popped into every group and as Northwestern's contribution to the all-star team, played host to the visitors.

Irrepressible Mike Mikulak, Oregon's plunging full back, led the chorus of greetings for the Pacific coast delegation. Aaron Rosenberg and Homer Griffith of Southern California, and Adolph Schwammel of Oregon State arrived only a few minutes before Fred Canrinus of St. Mary's and Bill Smith of Washington.

Football was the general topic of discussion but with noticeable absence of the personal pronoun. Other subjects ranged from what Rosenberg thought of the movies [he's an assistant director with a film company] to "When do we practice?" and "Can I get some tickets for the game?"

Measured for Uniforms.

The members of the squad were measured for their game uniforms yesterday by Charlie Sidebotham. Training regulations will be announced today after a meeting of the coaches. Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, was on hand yesterday while Head Coach Noble Kizer, of Purdue, arrived in the afternoon. Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, is expected in a day or so while Coach Jimmie Crowley of Fordham, will arrive from New York today.

Practice, at least for the present, is open to the public. Luke Johnsos, former Northwestern player who is one of the Bears' star ends, was threatened with expulsion yesterday at Dyche stadium as an enemy scout, but when Luke explained he'd left his glasses at home and couldn't see across the gridiron without them, the order was rescinded.

YEA, TEAM!

That shout will go up from thousands of throats at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31 when the All Americans of 1933 battle the Chicago Bears in football's greatest spectacle.

HANDICAP GIVES WEETAMOE FIRST PLACE IN CRUISE

Newport, R. I., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Vanitie led the three candidates for the defense of the America's cup home to Newport today from the annual cruise of the New York Yacht club, but it was not officially credited with a victory, for the old and now ineligible cup contender of twenty years ago is required to concede nearly 7 seconds a mile to the newer boats.

This handicap threw it into third place and Weetamoe finished first and Yankee second in the official scoring.

Rainbow, Harold Vanderbilt's new cup aspirant, did not finish. After finding itself becalmed and hopelessly astern off Sakonnet, its canvas was furled and it was towed to its mooring.

GIANTS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH PIRATES

Take First Game, 5-4; Lose Second, 4-3.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Giants and the Pirates defied the rain for nearly two hours today in their efforts to play a double header and finally broke even.

The New Yorkers won the first game, 5 to 4, on the strength of a four run rally in the first inning, which was subjected to the long delay because of a thunderstorm. Pittsburgh rallied to take the second, 4 to 3, as Waite Hoyt beat Hal Schumacher to gain this third victory in four days.

OTT GAINS FOUR POINTS; ALLEN OUT OF BIG SIX

Mel Ott broke his batting tie with Ethan Allen yesterday and reduced the big six to its normal size. The young Giant veteran smacked four hits in seven times up against Pittsburgh to lift his average four points to .353 while Allen remained idle. Charley Gehringer was the only other big six member to improve his average, adding one point with two hits in four times up. Bill Terry regained third place, first in the National league, by holding his loss to one point while Paul Waner dropped five and Lou Gehrig four. Terry hit three times in nine attempts.

MOON MULLINS—KNEE ACTION

the ninth when Dykes doubled and Hopkins singled.

The A's third run, which tied the game for the third time, came in the sixth. Foxx singled, and reached second when Hayes took Higgins' roller and chose to throw him out at first instead of tagging Jimmy. This was costly, for McNair hammered a single to left to score Foxx.

SECOND GAME

The Sox stirred up a lot of fuss in every inning but the second, third and ninth, but they had no punch at all. When it was all over they had twelve left on base and only one run. This came in the eighth inning, and the Chicagoans should have made more.

With the score 2 to 0 against them, Dykes walked and Hayes singled off Dietrich's pitching hand. Hopkins, trying to sacrifice, popped to Dietrich, and this proved to be the play that cost the game. Conlan was sent up to hit for Shea, and did, cracking the first pitch to left center and bringing Dykes home. Lyons, batting for Tietje, fanned, as did Swanson.

Shea Goes Wild.

Dib Williams accounted for the first run when he swatted a homer into the left field upper deck in the first inning. The Athletics' other run was scored in the sixth. Williams walked and Johnson singled to right, putting Dib on third. Tietje then tightened, Foxx and Higgins popping up, but here the Macks' base running did something their bats couldn't. Johnson set sail for second, and after bluffing a throw there Shea threw past Hopkins, trying to catch Williams. Dib scored on the error.

The Sox passed up such scoring opportunities as these: Three on in the first and Hayes fanned; two on in the fourth, with Hopkins and Shea unable to do anything about it; two left in the fifth when Foxx made a great stop of Appling's line smash for the final out; two on in the sixth, when Tietje fanned.

PLAY TWO MORE TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 15.—George Earnshaw will go after another $500 tomorrow, when he pitches for the White Sox in one of the games of the doubleheader with the A's. Earnshaw is to receive a $500 bonus for every game he wins above ten. He now has won eleven. Ted Lyons will operate in tomorrow's other game. Joe Cascarella and Al Benton are the probable workmen for the Athletics.

Chief Bob Johnson, early season home run sensation, hasn't hit for the circuit since July 17. On top of that he is getting few base hits and is in danger of dropping under .300.

Newspaper men here are moaning because the A's outsmarted themselves and lost title to Catcher Erickson, Chicago boy with the Colonels. The A's gave the Colonels title to Ray Radcliffe and another player named Detore for the right to purchase Erickson. Judge Landis, however, stepped in and called a halt and the A's will not be permitted to buy Erickson. The Sox are reported to be after this fellow.

Writers here also are high in their praise for Radcliffe and are of the belief Connie Mack was wrong in letting him get away to the White Sox.

Mary Greet Harris Carries Helen Jacobs to Three Sets

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., staged an uphill battle to gain the quarter-final round of play in the 47th annual United States women's tennis singles tournament today. Holder of the national title for the last two years, Miss Jacobs came from behind to eliminate Mrs. Mary Greef Harris, Kansas City, Mo., 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

HELEN JACOBS.

Becoming desperate when Mrs. Harris seemed able to return the famous chop stroke Miss Jacobs had used in defeating other opponents, the national champion took off her rubber soled shoes and played in stocking feet shortly after the first set started. Mrs. Harris continued to play brilliant tennis and took the first set, 5-7.

Out Come the Spikes.

Miss Jacobs again complained of the slippery surface in the second set and tournament officials granted her permission to wear spiked shoes. Mrs. Harris then also obtained permission to don spikes. Miss Jacobs began to send cannonball drives across the court and won the second set, 6-2, in 12 minutes.

The crowd which attended the matches, despite the cloudy and humid atmosphere, then watched Miss Jacobs flash championship form in winning the third set and the match, 6-3.

Others advancing to the quarter-finals included Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, Mass.; Baroness Maud Levi, Minden, Nev.; Freda James, England; Elizabeth Ryan, Santa Monica, Cal.; Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn.; Katherine Stammers, England, and Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, Cal.

Miss Fulton Loses.

Miss Ryan, who has competed in England for several years and still makes her home there, found little difficulty in defeating a Chicago girl, Helen Fulton, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss James, who last year with Betty Nuthall won the doubles championship, entered the quarter-final round when she triumphed over Marianne Hunt, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Nuthall was eliminated in the singles play yesterday.

The results:

Elizabeth Ryan, Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Helen Fulton, Chicago, 6-1, 6-3.
Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. Penelope McBride, Short Hills, N. J., 6-2, 6-1.
Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., defeated Theodosia Smith, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2.
Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, Mass., defeated Mrs. Ether Bartosh, Los Angeles, 6-1, 7-5.
Baroness Maud Levi, Minden, Nev., defeated Bonnie Moler, Los Angeles, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.
Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., defeated Mrs. Mary Greef Harris, Kansas City, Mo., 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.
Katherine Stammers, England, defeated Katherine Winthrop, Boston, Mass., 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Jacobs vs. Miss Ryan.
Miss Palfrey vs. Miss James.
Mrs. Andrus vs. Baroness Levi.
Miss Babcock vs. Miss Stammers.

Francis Shields Defaults Match in Newport Tourney

Newport, R. I., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A bombshell in the form of the default of the defending champion, Francis X. Shields to J. Gilbert Hall, today stunned the Newport casino tennis field into comparative idleness. Only three singles matches and 12 doubles competitions were decided.

Shields' default was due to a leg injury suffered in England and aggravated on shipboard. However, it did not prevent him from keeping his doubles engagement, in which he teamed with Sidney Wood to beat Fred Boggs and Dr. William Rosenbaum of New York, 6-1, 6-4.

Bryan Grant of Atlanta, the new national clay court champion, gained a place in the semi-finals with a five set victory over Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-2.

Wood defeated Jack Tidball, 6-2, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

In the doubles George Lott and Lester Stoefen defeated Dean Mathey of New York, and Thomas Flynn, Bayside, Long Island, 6-2, 6-1, in a second round match, and then overwhelmed Martin Buxby, Miami, and C. J. Challiss Jr., Dallas, Tex., 6-1, 6-1.

DEANS STAND BY FOR CARDINALS' DISTRESS CALL

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The fined and suspended Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, stood by tonight for an S O S from the Cardinals. Instead of departing on an announced fishing trip to Florida they remained in St. Louis, confident the Cardinals cannot get along without them for long.

But Sam Breadon, club president, insisted he would have no honeyed words for the brilliant young pitchers. "The next move is up to the Deans," Breadon insisted, adding that he would stand squarely behind Manager Frankie Frisch and make no advances to the "rebels."

Pay for Two Uniforms.

The brothers went to the Cardinal office today for their semi-monthly pay checks. Dizzy received another shock when he found he also had been penalized $36 as the cost of two uniforms he is said to have destroyed yesterday when Manager Frisch informed him he had been fined $100 and suspended.

"I don't think that was nice," Dizzy said. "I was mad and lost my temper when I tore the uniforms but they weren't destroyed. They could have been mended."

Martin Turns Pitcher.

The fines resulted from the failure of the Deans to accompany the Cardinals to Detroit for an exhibition game Monday and the suspensions followed a row with Frisch when the manager told them of the fines.

The shortage of Cardinal pitchers brought an announcement from Frisch that Pepper Martin, third baseman, would be given a chance to work on the mound.

"I gotta high, hard one," Martin told Frisch. "I think it will fool the batters."

HORSESHOE STARS COMPETE TODAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

More than fifty horse shoe pitchers from Chicago parks and recreation centers will start tossing ringers this morning against star players from surrounding states in the World's Fair horse shoe pitching tournament at the Brook Hill farm, 33d street and Lief Ericksen drive.

The tournament, which is open to amateur men players, will start at 10 a. m., when the eliminations will be run off to pick the players who will compete in the singles and doubles championship matches. The finals will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Among the contestants will be 20 selected from the various Chicago parks, including John Calao, 18 years old, who won the national amateur championship in 1931 and who now represents the south parks; George Miller also of the south parks, Joe Greenberg and Frank Sisulak of the west parks and representatives of Lincoln park and the Northwest parks.

Entrants from out of town include Henry Wolf of Waukesha, Wis., Harry Wright of West Union, Ill., E. R. Zimmerman of Lombard, Ill., Steve Morton of Gary, Ind., Felix [Red] Cadou of Toledo, O., and Henry Dussault, Milwaukee.

Londos' Victory Over Shikat Starts Reign as Champion

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Fifteen thousand sat through a drizzle of rain which fell intermittently in the Philadelphia National league baseball park on the night of June 6, 1930. They saw Jim Londos, then 33 years old, realize the dream of his boyhood days when, after more than an hour's tussle, he pinned the shoulders of Dick Shikat to the soggy canvas. He had beaten the recognized champion of the National Boxing association and in turn succeeded to the throne.

JIM LONDOS.

"Mr. Stanley Isaacs, president of the National Boxing association, has requested me to notify you officially that the wrestling committee, through its designated chairman, has reported that it is awarding to your wrestler, Jim Londos, the title of heavyweight champion of the world. We are sending you the belt significant of the championship."

Now for the Rest!

So wrote George E. Kearns, secretary of the N. B. A. to Ed White and no letter ever was more welcome. It was official approval, the consummation of Londos' ambitions. Yet in the eyes of many followers of the sport Londos remained a pretender. To dispel the belief of those who persisted in rallying to the cause of Strangler Lewis and Gus Sonnenberg, the ex-Detroit and Dartmouth football player who had belted Lewis with flying tackles for a decision, was the remaining task of the "Greek god" and his astute manager.

Time has worked in their favor. Sonnenberg eventually lost his claim to the championship, and one by one Londos caught up with rival behemoths and felled them. All except Lewis. There was no titular claim involved, but Manager White scorned Lewis' challenges just as the Strangler had evaded Jim a few years before.

Doesn't Fear Headlock.

That argument, one of the most bitter and oldest in modern grappling, will be settled on the night of Sept. 20 at Wrigley field. Baldpate Lewis, a wily strong man whose dizzying headlock has made mighty men squirm in anquish, boasts that Londos won't be able to take it.

"The headlock isn't particularly dangerous," Londos says. "The pressure may raise a mess of cauliflower, but it won't disable an opponent."

What's This, Strangler?

Well, well, Mr. Lewis. Did you hear that? The headlock isn't dangerous, and all the years you've spent groveling on the canvas using your brawny arm for a nut cracker has been wasted.

Modestly Londos asks credit for developing two wrestling holds which have served him well and have caused as many an argument over their legality as Lewis' headlock, which if permitted to slide downward by a few inches becomes a "strangle hold." One of these, the so-called Japanese toe hold, was used by Londos to defeat Shikat for the title. It is said to be adapted from the art of jujutsu, which places a premium on intelligent study of the frailties of the anatomy.

This Gets 'Em Dizzy.

The other, also a Japanese derivative, is akin to the strangle hold. By applying pressure with the wrists and forearms to the side of the neck an opponent is rendered dizzy, and thus in a semi-conscious condition is as a lamb for the slaughter.

This "unconscious" hold, according to White, started Jim Browning on his way to defeat recently in New York.

The technique of the trade makes good reading, but the mistakes of Londos' opposition, the so-called herd of performers who ranged themselves counter to Londos and the N. B. A., helped solidify Jim's position as champion as much as Jim's victories. The spectacle of a comparatively unknown Henri de Glane, who won a decision from Lewis in Montreal on the allegation that Lewis had momentarily turned cannibal and clamped his ivories on De Glane's quivering flesh, is an instance.

Help! Help! A Bite!

De Glane had won the first fall. Again the boys locked in close quarters when De Glane set up a piercing shriek.

"This guy is biting my arm off," he yelled to the referee.

Sure enough, investigation showed the telltale marks and there was no course of action except to disqualify Lewis. But this is only half of the story. In rebuttal, Lewis is alleged to have offered that De Glane had concocted a nefarious plot, that in the enthusiasm of the moment he had reached for the nearest arm, which he supposed belonged to his oppressor, and had taken a smart bite at his own extremity, and De Glane was declared the winner.

This episode probably could not have occurred in a "shooting match," as the boys term those contests which are on the up and up. Naturally, Londos need fear no such unethical tactics. In fact, the champion is not at all bothered with the prospect of meeting Strangler Lewis. Fortune and fame are his and now he claims satisfaction from the one outstanding wrestler of world reputation whose shoulders he never has leveled to the mat.

FAVORITES SHOW LIKING FOR THAT HAWTHORNE MUD

Public Choices Dominate Rainy Day Program.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Favorite players who have been growling at everybody and everything that came near them lately because the public choices at Hawthorne have appeared more willing to kiss the eighth pole than to step into the charmed circle and say "good afternoon judge" had nothing to snap or snarl about as they wended their way out of the old west side track last night.

It would have been a fine evening to do some genuine growling. The weather was dark and dreary and most of the customers were soaked to the skin as a result of the downpour of rain which had come down throughout the running of the eight race program.

Favorites Win Consistently.

Still everybody except the small minority of longshot players appeared to be happy—and why not?—for the favorites had been splashing through the mud to victory from the time the program opened until it ended. It would have done anybody's heart good to have watched the skilled handicappers and the favorite players pat themselves on the chest and remark "What wise men we turned out to be." Lady Lamarne from the Brentwood stables of Rogers Caldwell started the favorite players out on their greatest field day of the Chicago season when she came up from behind and won the first race from Jascha owned by J. H. Manheimer of Chicago by half a length.

From then on the afternoon became a riotous affair among the favorite players, who for the first time were making the parimutuel cashiers work overtime.

Eperanay Wins Easily.

The rain increased in its intensity as the afternoon wore on. The harder the raindrops pattered down the faster the favorites ran. They were winning by from three to eight lengths most of the afternoon.

Following Lady Lamarne's triumph in the first race the choice Eperanay, owned by John Marsch of Chicago, came along and made a show of his field in the second race. Heavily backed Cloudet won the third event just as easily. Roman Soldier from the barn of Max Hirsch all but ran away from his rivals in the Idle Hour purse, which came fourth on the program.

Then along came Blue Day to capture the fifth. It was the fourth victory in six starts that he has scored. He let Brown Witch lead him until the field started to wheel into the stretch. Then he moved up and went on to win by five lengths with Hoops rallying slightly in the stretch to be second, Glynson was third.

Favorites Continue to Win.

There was no stopping the favorite players by this time. They wagered their bank rolls right back on Wise Ways and made him the choice in the Wheaton purse at 6½ furlongs. The race was only about 10 seconds old when Wise Ways dashed up on the outside and took the lead. He was never headed.

Evergold, Slapped, and Mr. Joe offered challenges but they were to no avail. Wise Ways went on and on and was two lengths in front of Slapped when it ended with Mr. Joe in third place. Wise Ways had run 6½ furlongs over the muddy course in 1:20, which was remarkable time.

Six straight favorites had thundered home before one was finally left far back with the rear guard. Chrysostom, from the stable of John J. O'Byrne, not so heavily backed, but nevertheless the favorite, finished out of the money in the mile and a sixteenth event. Carbon was the winner by a length from Siskin, with Battling Girl third. Carbon had his backers and was at 5 to 1.

ILLINOIS OWNERS SEEK HANDICAP STARS FOR RACE

Fear Hadagal, Watch Him May Come West.

Several Illinois turf men are endeavoring to purchase handicap stars to carry their silks in the Illinois owners' handicap, which will be run on the closing day of the Hawthorne season. All are wondering if Watch Him, the Saratoga handicap winner belonging to Mrs. John Hertz, and Hadagal, victor in a $5,000 stake at Narragansett Park last Saturday, which races for Warren Wright of Chicago, will be sent here for the contest. They will feel a bit more secure in their chances of victory if these two Chicago stars remain away.

Col. Matt J. Winn is working out details for the Lincoln Fields early autumn meeting with the members of the Illinois racing commission. An idea of the program to be offered at the track near Crete will be announced later this week.

The extensive Cattell stable, owned by Mrs. L. M. Walker of Lexington, will ship to Hawthorne late this week. There will be two candidates for the Hawthorne juvenile championship race in the shipment.

REORGANIZATION OF 25 E. DELAWARE HOTEL COMPLETE

Bondholders Now Hold Title to Property.

Bondholders of the seventeen story, 25 East Delaware apartment hotel now own that property, according to the H. O. Stone & Co. bondholders' protective committee, which states the reorganization is virtually completed. Ownership was secured through the purchase of the equity, junior liens, and redemption from foreclosure sale.

The property has been operated on behalf of the depositors since April 26, 1933, when the receiver was dismissed. Net operating income from that date to May 31, 1934, was $32,355, showing a slight margin over fixed charges, estimated at $28,825 for the thirteen months.

Trust to Hold Title.

Title is to be placed in a liquidation trust and certificates of beneficial interest are to be issued to the depositors of the $1,087,700 of bonds participating in the reorganized property, as soon as the procedure under the federal securities act can be determined. The original issue totaled $1,200,000, of which $112,300 has been retired during the reorganization.

The trust is to be administered by three trust managers, two of whom are to be selected from depositors. Avery Brundage, chairman of the committee, will act as third trust manager until the bondholders are ready to proceed alone.

Detail Reorganization Cost.

The following expenses were incurred by the committee from its inception in 1930 to May 31, 1934, according to the report: Taxes and penalties paid by the committee, $52,707; taxes and penalties paid by the receiver, $11,270; reserves for taxes and penalties, $40,100; purchase of equity, junior liens and furniture, $10,970; committee fees, 1930 to 1934, $22,588; committee's attorney's fees for the same period, $5,647.

For the retirement of nondeposited bonds and coupons $19,135 was paid; redemption from sale for mechanic's liens, $38,318; foreclosure expenses, $38,917, of which $35,443 was paid by the receiver. Funds have been borrowed for these and other expenses, and the plan provides for a $205,000 mortgage to be placed on the property later.

The building had a 65 per cent occupancy when taken over, but during the 1933 season of A Century of Progress, after $9,000 was spent in furnishing additional apartments, the occupancy rose to 88 per cent. This year, as of July 1, occupancy was 78 per cent.

BROADWAY HOTEL REORGANIZATION ASKED IN COURT

Reorganization of the 4145 Broadway Hotel company is sought in a crditors' petition filed in the United States District court under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy law. According to the petition liabilities are approximately $1,400,000, and the main asset is the apartment hotel valued at $800,000.

Similar reorganization petitions were also filed by the Travel Guild, Inc., 180 North Michigan avenue, with liabilities in excess of $275,000 and assets of $299,000; the 2063 Lawrence avenue Building corporation, with liabilities of $134,000 and assets of $32,000; the Milwaukee-Cuyler building corporation, with liabilities of $630,000; and the G. A. Soden Co., wholesale and retail jewelry concern, 58 East Washington street, with liabilities of $179,000 and undetermined assets.

An involuntary petition for ordinary adjudication in bankruptcy was filed against the Arlington Cemetery association on behalf of nine creditors. No estimate of assets or liabilities is given in the petition, which states the cemetery association has been in receivership for some time in the state courts.

GOLDBLATT BROS. BUY PLOT FOR STORE ADDITION

Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., chain department store firm, yesterday purchased 125 feet of frontage on 91st street, adjoining their South Chicago store at 91st street and Commercial avenue. On this property, according to Maurice Goldblatt, president of the company, a large addition is to be erected.

"Although details are not quite completed, we plan to erect the most modern and efficient department store building possible," he said. "The number of floors, the type of architecture and other details have not yet been determined."

The frontage just purchased was acquired recently in two parcels. Seventy-five feet were bought from Lewis and Bertha H. Brenner. From the trustees of the Julius Oppenheimer estate the remaining fifty feet were purchased.

It is estimated more than 100,000 persons directly interested in banking will hear the exercises as they are assembled in chapter meetings throughout the nation.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, announced today that $41,688 had been abated to Bruce L. Hoover of Chicago because of overassessments in his 1925 income taxes. Hoover was dealing in investment securities at the time.

Wheat Exports for Week Total 3,161,307 Bushels

Exports of wheat, including flour, from United States and Canadian ports, as reported to Dun & Bradstreet for the week ended Aug. 4, totaled 3,161,307 bushels compared with 3,100,955 in the preceding week and 3,741,702 in the same week last year.

START HEARINGS ON REAL ESTATE BONDS HERE SOON

Sabath Committee Plans Sweeping Study.

BY AL CHASE.

Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, chairman of the "select committee to investigate real estate bondholders' reorganization," said yesterday that federal hearings probably would start in Chicago next week. They will be held in the United States courthouse. New York had asked that the federal inquiry be held in that city first, but Mr. Sabath decided they should be inaugurated here.

Headquarters have been established in the new United States Postoffice building, and according to Mr. Sabath, investigators have been operating from that base for several weeks in a study of several bondholders' committees. In addition answers to questionnaires sent to all committees are now being received.

Evidence Accumulated.

"If our evidence is prepared so that we can go ahead in a dignified and proper manner, we probably shall start our federal hearings next week," said Mr. Sabath. "We have accumulated a lot of evidence and now have eight people in Washington and some here as well as in Detroit and Milwaukee assemblying and analyzing this data. We don't want to waste any time."

One investigator already has spent three weeks in an exhaustive study of the books and records of the Schiff Trust and Savings bank bondholders' committee, of which Abe Aronson is secretary. According to Mr. Aronson the investigation has been both careful and intelligent.

Mr. Sabath has appointed an advisory committee of sixteen Chicago attorneys to aid in the federal hearings. These are Charles F. Clyne, Walter Fackler, Isadore Ferguson, Samuel P. Gurman, Le Roy Hackett, Maclay Hoyne, Newton Jenkins, George S. Lavin, E. C. Loew, Barratt O'Hara, Sylvester E. Quindry, F. Gerald Thomas, David K. Tone, Lloyd C. Whitman, Edwin M. Wood, and J. G. Zelezny.

Attorneys Meet Tomorrow.

A conference between Mr. Sabath and these attorneys is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in the law offices of Sabath, Perlman, Goodman & Rein, to discuss the procedure of the federal hearings.

Mr. Sabath's committee is composed of Everett M. Dirksen, of Pekin, Ill., Thomas O'Malley, Milwaukee; Claude A. Fuller, Arkansas; John J. O'Connor, of New York; Francis D. Culkin, of New York, and James J. Connolly, of Pennsylvania. Dirksen, Culkin and Connolly are Republicans. All are attorneys except Culkin and O'Malley.

VALUE OF ILLINOIS BUILDING PERMITS IS HIGHER IN JULY

Building reports from sixty-five Illinois cities show an increase of 43.8 per cent in the total estimated expenditures for new construction during July compared with June. The 985 permits issued call for a total cost of $2,407,974, which is more than double the total of $1,154,318 in July last year. Actual permits issued in July represents a decline of 43.8 per cent compared with June.

The increase in total estimated expenditure for the month was contrary to the seasonal trend. Records of the Illinois department of labor covering the last thirteen years show an average decline from June to July of more than 5 per cent.

Comparisons disclose that Chicago estimated expenditures in July, 1934, were 276.8 per cent higher than those for July, 1933. This sharp increase was caused by new nonresidential and addition, alteration, and installation projects.

CLARKE, REINERT GET ALEXANDRIA HOTEL'S LEASE

Robert E. Clarke, former manager and still an owner of the Hyde Park hotel, and also manager for several years of the Chicago Beach hotel, and Lewis A. Reinert, who has managed the Sheridan-Plaza, Cooper-Carlton, and other hotels, have leased the Alexandria hotel, at the southwest corner of Rush and Ohio streets, for ten years at a term rental of $252,000. The Lehmann estate is lessor. A. L. Kirk was broker.

Extensive improvements are contemplated by the new lessees throughout the seven story hotel. A new and modern grill is to be installed on the Rush street side. McGuire & Lull operated the Alexandria for the last twenty-five years.

Golf Course Concern Asks Court for Reorganization

The Chicago Golf Course Builders corporation, owners and operators of a golf course at 123d street and Bell road, yesterday filed a reorganization petition in the United States District court under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy law. According to the petition assets are approximately $213,000, consisting mainly of real estate and buildings. Liabilities are listed at only $78,000, but the corporation is unable to meet its current obligations.

July Corn Grind Reported as 5,721,252 Bushels

The Corn Industries Research Foundation reports the total July grind of eleven refiners at 5,721,252 bushels, a decrease of about 13 per cent from the July grind of 1933. For the first seven months the total grind of the industry was 38,574,449 bushels, against 44,572,975 for the same period last year, a decrease of 13 per cent.

Caterpillar Tractor Profit for July Totals $315,850

Caterpillar Tractor company yesterday reported July sales of $2,002,382 and net profit of $315,850. Sales for the first 7 months of the year totaled $11,169,396 and net profit amounted to $2,377,380.

TRADERS FEAR ACTION BY U. S. ON FOOD PRICES

Grain traders are watching the statements of government officials on the food situation with unusual interest. There is a general feeling that if the government attempts to make a scapegoat of the speculator it would have a temporary depressive effect on prices of all commodities. The administration is committed to a policy of giving the producer a better price for his products, and it is felt that any governmental action toward further discouragement of the speculator would defeat this end. It is apparent, however, that the plan for a national food survey has contributed to the nervousness of the grain markets.

"If the public is not inflamed by unfounded accusations of profiteering we will all come through this crisis with a minimum of suffering," B. W. Snow, crop expert for Bartlett, Frazier & Co., said yesterday. "But if the public becomes alarmed by official threats against 'profiteering' before there is any evidence that it exists, or is even possible, it may start food hoarding with all of its attendant evils."

The statement of the President yesterday that he did not believe that there had been any big advance in food prices brought some reassurance to the grain trade.

The fundamental factor that all the principal grain crops will fall far below normal production has been the big influence in the recent advance in the grains, and in the long run will govern the course of the market regardless of other factors, most traders believe.

Good rains were reported yesterday in some sections of the Illinois and Iowa corn belts. The rains came, however, just when estimates on the production in the two states were being drastically reduced. Much of the damage done cannot be mended regardless of weather conditions prevailing from now on.

The amount of corn released from government seal through repayment of loans varies in different sections. The advance in corn prices, however, has accelerated the movement from the cribs and brought heavy selling in the market. This selling, however, has been easily absorbed.

Iowa will have little or no oats for the commercial trade, according to S. A. Steensen, J. E. Bennett's representative. The harvest and threshing is over in the state. The corn crop has been holding its own since the recent rains, Steensen adds, and the northern half of the state will produce a normal crop. In the southern half the condition ranges from partial to total failure, he states.

WATER SHORTAGE IN MANY ILLINOIS FARM DISTRICTS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The shortage of water for domestic use and stock is a critical problem for many Illinois farmers, the weather bureau said today, in reporting further crop damage from drouth and high temperatures during the week ending yesterday. Describing the worst drouth area as extending northwest from the Kaskaskia river, the crop bulletin said:

"Soy beans and legumes are generally doing well; pastures are mostly greening, although short. In the drier areas there are some reports of stock going hungry. Potatoes, truck and fruit are generally a poor crop. Corn continued to deteriorate on account of heat and chinch bugs. Fall plowing is making good progress. Cotton is doing well and heavily fruited in the Cairo area."

The report by Meteorologist E. W. Holcomb said temperatures were seasonable late in the week, following extreme heat, while general showers fell Saturday, but were light in the northeast.

VALUE OF GRAIN TRADE IN JULY TRIPLE STOCKS

Dollar volume of grain trading in July exceeded that in stocks nearly three times, according to the brokerage firm, Fenner & Beane. Volume in grains, wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley—amounted to $1,206,016,385 on the Chicago Board of Trade, against $1,160,032,158 in June, according to the compilation. Activity on the New York Stock exchange for July aggregated $458,153,749, against $433,443,999 in June.

Wheat accounted for the largest total, the July turnover exceeding $884,000,000. Corn trading amounted to $255,000,000; oats, $38,000,000; rye, $26,000,000, and barley, $729,000.

For May, June, and July board of trade volume was $3,348,849,563 compared with $4,488,291,419 in the same three months last year. The decline in stocks was much greater in proportion, this year's total of $1,474,318,381 comparing with $7,972,000,5551 in 1933.

WHEAT EXPERTS URGE FLEXIBLE WORLD QUOTAS

Favor Cultivation Cut of 13,000,000 Acres.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Wheat experts from fifteen countries grappled today with their task of devising means to reduce world acreage and fix export quotas for the next cereal year in the second day's meeting of the wheat advisory committee. John Van A. MacMurray, the American minister to the Baltic states, again presided over the session.

The delegates agreed, following a general debate this afternoon, that while the small 1934 crop in the United States would improve the present situation as to surplus stocks, nevertheless international coöperation to adjust the wheat supply to demand would be required for the next year to prevent new burdensome accumulations of surplus.

Wheat experts, including Americans, also concurred in agreeing that there should be more elasticity in fixing export quotas in order to prevent a recurrence of last year's difficulty when Argentina insisted on boosting its quota because of an especially high acreage yield.

Acreage Is Reduced.

It was revealed in a report on the general situation by A. Cairns, secretary to the committee, that 13,000,000 fewer acres have been sown in wheat during the last year, but despite this decrease the carryover stocks will still be much above normal.

Cairns' report showed that the world wheat stocks on Aug. 1, 1934, amounted to 1,140,000,000 bushels, as compared with 1,120,000,000 bushels on Aug. 1, 1933, and as compared to the average world carryover stocks for the years 1922 to 1928 of 625,000,000 bushels.

Efforts toward acreage reduction have shown results, Cairns continued, although the object of the wheat agreement has not been fully attained. Present estimates of acreage sown for the 1933 to 1934 crop, compared with the acreage in wheat during the basic agreement period, show a reduction of 5 per cent in Argentina, 15 per cent in Australia, 10 per cent in Canada, and over 12 per cent in the United States.

Europe Also Acts.

Percentage reductions also were noted in the acreage of European grain producing countries, according to Cairns' report.

Today's discussions did not approach one of the major objectives of the wheat agreement, which is to bring about an increase in wheat prices. One of the most complex situations is still provided by Argentina, which exceeded last year's export quota and again this year declares that it will "stand by its right to a quota that will contemplate delay in negotiations at a time when sowings could have been reduced with reasonable efficiency."

DEPOSIT 'OR ELSE,' IS TVA EDICT ON POWER FIRM DEAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15. — David E. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, said today, shortly before he sailed for England, that unless practically all of the $7,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds of the Tennessee Public Service company, subsidiary of the National Power and Light company, are deposited by Aug. 21 there will be no extension of the date. TVA has offered to buy the power distribution facilities at Knoxville, Tenn., which it will in turn sell to that city.

Mr. Lilienthal declared that Knoxville is impatient for early supply of TVA power from Muscle Shoals at the low rates and will not allow the deal to be delayed. He said he saw no advantage in extending the time for deposit of the bonds, and that unless a substantial amount was deposited on Aug. 21 there was little likelihood that many more would come in.

"We are not going to play around any longer with the company," he said, adding that the TVA had made a fair offer to purchase the properties and is ready to start operations.

Recently the TVA made a cash offer of $6,088,000 on condition that bondholders would turn in their holdings at 96½, the issuance price. He said that about half of the oustanding bonds had either been deposited or intention to deposit them had been signified.

NEAR FAILURE SEEN FOR EAST NEBRASKA CORN

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—A. E. Anderson, chief of the federal and state division of crop statistics, said today the corn crop in eastern Nebraska, except for the extreme northern portion, war nearly a total loss while spring wheat would run about seven bushels per acre, the same as the state average. Only the northwestern and extreme southwestern portions have a chance for a partial crop of corn, Anderson said.

In Douglas county there will be practically no corn, Anderson reported. Wheat in Douglas county will equal and probably slightly surpass the state average and forage will run a little better than elsewhere.

The entire state corn yeld was estimated by Anderson's department Aug. 11 as 51,000,000 bushels compared with 234,000,000 last year and a five year average of 230,000,000.

Places 1934 Lumber Use at About 15 Billion Feet

On the basis of consumption figures for the first half of 1934, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association estimates total 1934 consumption at the equal of 15,500,000,000 feet, compared with 14,600,000,000 feet in 1933.

American Lime & Stone Co. Makes Sinking Fund Deposit

Bankers' Trust company, trustee for American Lime and Stone company first mortgage sinking fund bonds, announced yesterday that $206,867 has been deposited for the purchase of the bonds for the sinking fund.

WHEAT SLUMPS, BUT RECOVERS PART OF LOSS

Corn Market Shows Strength.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat prices encountered another severe decline yesterday, but recovered part of the loss when reports were relayed from Washington indicating the administration is not planning to curb legitimate speculation in commodity markets.

The market had been in a state of nervous agitation over the possibility that further curtailment of speculation might be attempted. This apprehension and the pronounced weakness in foreign markets brought out heavy selling of wheat early in the day. Corn was comparatively strong throughout the day, and final quotations were slightly higher.

September Wheat Hits $1.00⅛.

During the break yesterday the price of September wheat dropped to $1.00⅛ a bushel, or more than 10 cents under the high quotation reached last week. When trading ended wheat futures were down 1 to 1⅝ cents a bushel, and the September contract was quoted at a cent above the low price of the day. Final prices on corn futures were unchanged to ¼ cent higher with the September delivery bringing 75¾ cents a bushel. Oats were weak with all futures closing moderately lower, but rye and barley showed small gains.

Heavy selling in the wheat pit was apparent during the break in prices. One commission house was reported to have sold around 5,000,000 bushels. Selling came into the corn pit in heavy volume also, but the market easily absorbed offerings and rallied briskly. Prior to release of the President's statement on the food situation rumors had circulated on the exchange floor that the government contemplated taking half of speculative profits on stocks and grain through a special tax. The rumor spread rapidly and contributed to the general upset.

Foreign Markets Weak.

The sharp decline in the Liverpool and Rotterdam markets, where wheat fell around 3½ cents a bushel, coincided with reports of general rains in Australia.

More favorable weather was reported over a large area of the Iowa and Illinois corn territory yesterday, and scattered showers were received in the northwest. Extensive deterioration which has taken place in the crop since the last government report was shown in a report by Nat C. Murray, statistician for Clement, Curtis & Co. The Murray report estimated the crop depreciated 136,000,000 bushels since the government placed the total at the abnormally low figure of 1,607,000,000. The report suggests a crop of 1,472,000,000 bushels.

The Iowa crop was estimated at 240,000,000 bushels, against the government's Aug. 1 forecast of 261,000,000. The prospective yield in Illinois was placed at 175,000,000 bushels, compared with the 210,000,000 bushels predicted by the government report.

Dollar Rallies Buoyantly on Gold Export

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—A rousing rally in the dollar today followed the demonstration of this country's readiness to give up gold to protect its currency which had been provided by the withdrawal of $1,000,000 in bullion from the federal reserve bank by the Guaranty Trust company for shipment to France. The transaction, the first arbitrage export of gold from this country under the new gold standard, was carried through today by the departure of the metal on the Manhattan. The same ship carried $279,100 gold to Belgium, which was also shipped as an arbitrage operation in foreign exchange.

Action Removes Doubts.

The reaction to the news of the gold exports indicated how deep had been Europe's previous doubts about the good faith of the new gold standard. The franc fell to 6.65½ cents and closed at 6.66 cents, down 2¼ points net and fully 4 points below the gold export point. On the basis of these prices for the franc, the dollar showed an advance to 99.73 per cent of parity and closed at 99.60 per cent of parity, up 38 per cent.

Sterling cheapened rapidly, falling to $5.07⅞ and closing at $5.08, off 1½ cents net. All other important currencies declined against the dollar.

Guilders were 25 points lower at 68.52 cents, Belgas lost 8 points to 23.72 cents, and Swiss francs were off 12 points to 32.98 cents. The Canadian dollar dropped to a premium of 2 7-32 cents, a loss of 5-16 cent; marks were down 3 points to 39.67 cents, lire off 3 points to 8.67½ cents, Japanese yen 12½ points lower at 30.12 cents, and Scandinavian exchanges 6 to 7 points weaker.

Further Exports Unlikely.

For the time being it appeared unlikely that any further gold exports would be made. In any case, it was indicated that, in view of the alacrity with which the treasury had licensed exports of the metal further weakness of the dollar would be sharply checked at the lower gold point by sales of francs on the part of banks anxious to reap a profit through exports of gold. In view of this situation, it was felt that foreign speculators would be held in check, knowing that whatever profits they might make from bearing the dollar would be limited to the gold export point.

The price of gold in London gained 1½ pence to $35.18 an ounce, the highest price since last February.

SCHACHT RAPS OLD REGIMES FOR PILING DEBTS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and minister of commerce, today bitterly attacked the treaty of Versailles and the previous German governments under which he worked. He declared that " in seven years the old system resulted in the accumulation of a bigger foreign debt than the United States incurred in 40 years for the development of her great national wealth."

Schacht repeated the pledge that German exporting firms will receive necessary raw materials. Meanwhile, Germany's foreign trade figures, published today, show that the total turnover has slumped further. Significantly, exports declined more than imports despite drastic restrictions on imports of raw materials. Imports are 3 per cent lower at $145,000,000. Exports are down 5 per cent at $128,000,000. The adverse balance of $17,000,000 is thus $2,000,000 more than in June.

German importers were notified that their foreign currency allotments for September will remain at the same level as in August.

The aggregate income of the German people for the second quarter of 1934 amounted to $3,000,000,000, according to an estimate of the official German Institute for Business Research. The figure represents an increase of $240,000,000 over the preceding quarter.

CANADA OUTPUT OF NEWSPRINT IN JULY UP SHARPLY

Montreal, Que., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Production of newsprint in Canada during July totaled 208,238 tons against 180,387 in the same period last year, according to the News Print Service bureau. This was an increase of 27,851 tons or 15.44 per cent.

For the seven months ended with July, Canadian production was 1,468,871 tons against 1,074,874 in the first seven months of last year, an increase of 36.65 per cent.

United States and Canada combined produced 284,422 tons in July against 259,869 last year, a gain of 9.4 per cent. For the seven months the combined total was 2,043,540 tons against 1,610,858, an increase of 26.86 per cent.

BANKHEAD WANTS PEGGED COTTON PRICE AND NO TAX

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Suspension of all processing taxes and pegging the price of cotton at the present 13 cent level was recommended to President Roosevelt today by Senator Bankhead [Dem.-Ala.]. Bankhead, a members of the senate agriculture committee and author of the compulsory cotton control legislation, stated emphatically at a White House conference that the cotton control program would be carried through. Secretary Wallace joined in the meeting which took up every phase of the agriculture situation.

Bankhead said he thought suspension of processing taxes would have a good psychological affect although he favors the principle of the tax. The suspension could be made on the ground that not as much money would be needed to finance cotton marketing and control next year, Bankhead said.

He proposed that cotton be "pegged" by government loans to cotton producers as was done last year and said he thought the "pegging" would carry the cotton price over the "usual sagging during the period of marketing."

U. S. BELIEVED TO BE BUYING SILVER ABROAD

Force London Price to Peak Since '29.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—The steady rise of silver in London which carried it today to the highest price since Dec. 27, 1929 at 21¾ pence an ounce has convinced Wall street that the United States treasury is actively engaged in buying silver abroad. Today's London quotation, equal to 46.02 cents an ounce, represented an advance of 5-16 pence an ounce since last Thursday when nationalization of silver was proclaimed here. It is a gain of 1 5-16 pence since Aug. 1.

It has been no secret that the treasury has bought silver abroad since the passage of the silver purchase act last June, but indications of steady buying in the past week which seem to be contained in the rising course of the London price have attracted fresh interest.

They may mean, according to some bankers here, that the treasury is moving directly toward the objective of a 25 per cent proportion of silver in the monetary stocks of the country.

Course of Action Unknown.

It has been a matter of conjecture in Wall street whether the administration had intended this 25 per cent ratio as an ideal objective which would probably never be realized or as a goal to be attained swiftly at whatever cost, within the limits provided in the act which prohibit purchases of silver at a cost of more than $1.29 an ounce.

The course of silver price and the amount of silver which the treasury will be able to secure below the statutory price of $1.29 will depend to a large extent on what opinion the world forms of the treasury's true objective. Up to now the conception of a 25 per cent admixture of silver in monetary stocks of the country has been regarded at home and abroad as designed to placate the silver bloc.

There has been little expectation that this country would actually seek to realize the objective. It had been felt that the treasury would continue purchasing silver in amounts sufficient to keep down the demands of the silverites but far below the volume actually required to build up its holdings to the equivalent of one-third the $8,000,000,000 of monetary gold held, as would be necessary to establish a 25 per cent ratio.

May Encounter Difficulty.

If the world becomes convinced that the United States really wants silver and is not merely trying to jack up the price of that metal as a "sop" to the silver interests, the treasury may find it difficult to buy the metal some bankers believe.

In addition to the controversy over a double commission for liquidation of silver contracts held by banks, the question of whether a federal sales tax must be paid on those transactions also is involved, it was learned today. Nobody connected with the Commodity Exchange, Inc., appears to be certain whether a tax must be paid to the government or not. The question has been referred to Washington for an official interpretation of the revenue laws.

In the meanwhile some brokers connected with the exchange have billed the banks for sales taxes in addition to the double commission, while others have refrained from mailing their customers any notices pending clearing up of the uncertainty regarding the applicability of the tax. The tax is at the rate of 3 cents per $100 of value, which, of course, is charged to the customer.

BOSTON STORE REORGANIZATION TAX IS DROPPED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The board of tax appeals ruled today Mrs. Mollie Netcher Newbury of Chicago, trustee of the estate of the late Charles Netcher, need not pay an assessment of $342,704 in 1923 income taxes, nor a $85,676 penalty.

The bureau of internal revenue had assessed the claim, asserting the estate profited $3,655,518 in a reorganization of the Boston Store in Chicago, and assessed the penalty for alleged failure to file an income tax return on time. The board upheld her contention that no taxable gain resulted from the reorganization.

The petitioner exchanged 4,999 shares of stock in the Boston Store of Chicago, an Illinois corporation, for 9,998 shares of stock in the Boston Store of Chicago, a Delaware corporation, which took over assets of the Illinois concern, and $3,655,518 in cash. In upholding the petitioner the board ruled that, inasmuch as the stock of the new corporation had no readily realizable market value at the time of the exchange, that therefore no taxable profit could have accrued.

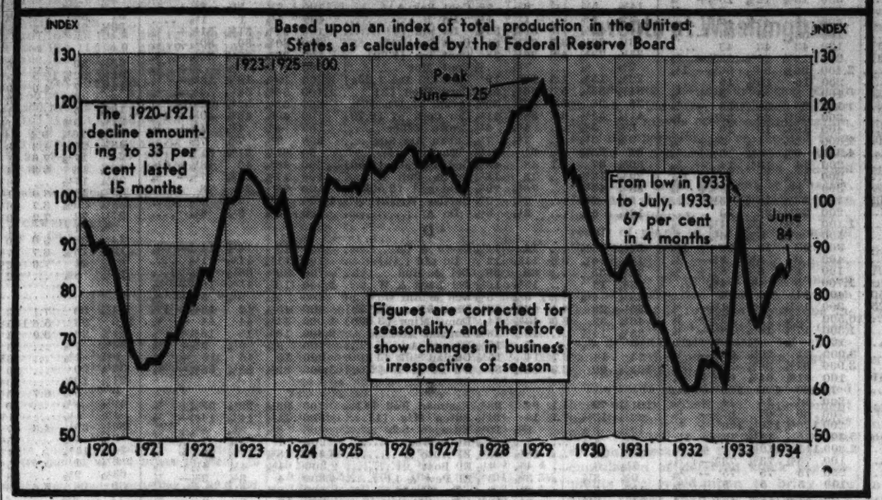

All Time Hide Trading Record Is Established

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—An all time record was established today in trading of hide futures on the commodity exchange, when sales aggregated 9,480,000 pounds, representing a total of approximately 176,000 hides and a value of more than $750,000. Prices opened as much as 30 points below the previous closing, but advanced shorply during the day, carrying values as high as 55 points above Tuesday's level.

American Commercial Alcohol Earnings Rise

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—American Commercial Alcohol corporation and subsidiaries had June quarter net income of $245,262, equivalent to 94 cents a share on the capital stock, against $56,338 or 28 cents a share in the June quarter last year.

Industrial Production Passes Seasonal Peak —Declines Moderately

Use of Power Here Sets New Seasonal Peak

Production of electricity in the United States last week was 1.9 per cent above a year ago, compared with a 0.5 per cent gain the preceding week. Output in the Chicago area was 4.8 per cent above 1933 and the highest since the week ended March 3.

The national total, according to the Edison Electric institute, was 1,659,043,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,657,638,000 kilowatt hours in the preceding week.

Chicago Sets High for Season.

Chicago output at 101,574,000 kilowatt hours reached the highest level for this time of the year in the history of the Commonwealth Edison company. This is the second time during the summer that such a record has been set. The rise is attributed to abnormally hot and dark weather.

Output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district follow:

Week ended—	1934.	1933.	Pct. Incr.
Aug. 11	101,574,000	96,905,000	4.8
Aug. 4	99,148,000	97,650,000	1.5
July 28	101,514,000	97,350,000	4.3
July 21	99,418,000	96,754,000	2.8

Losses from the corresponding week a year ago compared with declines reported for the preceding week are: New England, 5.9 per cent against 8.6 per cent; central industrial, 3 per cent against 2.6 per cent; and Rooky Mountain, 3.7 per cent against 1.5 per cent.

1,131 BANKS WILL MAKE LOANS FOR HOME REPAIRING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Federal Housing administration announced tonight that 1,131 banks, with total resources of over eight billion dollars, had signed contracts to make loans for property improvements and repairs.

The banks have agreed to make loans of from $100 to $2,000 in the first stage of the government's campaign for home modernization and new building. The government insures against loss up to 20 per cent.

The administration said the population of cities served by the institutions amounted to over 87,000,000. New York led the states with a total of 211. In New York City 22 banks had signed contracts.

The list by states follows:

Alabama, 18; Arkansas, 12; California, 67; Connecticut, 32; Colorado, 7; Delaware, 6; District of Columbia, 18; Florida, 12 Georgia, 24; Illinois, 50; Indiana, 37; Iowa, 23; Kansas, 13; Kentucky, 19; Louisiana, 12; Maine, 7; Maryland, 5; Massachusetts, 30; Michigan, 18; Minnesota, 35; Mississippi, 12; Missouri, 30; Montana, 4; Nebraska, 5; Nevada, 1; New Hampshire, 5; New Jersey, 95; New Mexico, 4; North Carolina, 34; North Dakota, 1; Ohio, 73; Oklahoma, 7; Oregon, 8; Pennsylvania, 78; Rhode Island, 5; South Carolina, 3; South Dakota, 1; Tennessee, 11; Texas, 18; Utah, 2; Vermont, 15; Virginia, 22; Washington, 11; West Virginia, 14; Wisconsin, 36; Wyoming, 5.

Arizona and Idaho were unlisted by the administration.

SURPLUS RELIEF TO RETAIN HIDES OF DROUTH STOCK

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Federal Surplus Relief corporation today announced it would use all hides and skins from animals purchased by the Farm administration in drouth areas and process them for relief needs.

The action resulted after negotiations for a corporation, using a $10,000,000 commitment from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to remove the hides from the immediate market failed.

The corporation announced that hides now on hand and to be received in the immediate future will remain in storage for the present pending formation of plans for their disposition through relief channels.

3 Board of Trade Seats Sold; Price Down $900

Three memberships on the Chicago Board of Trade were sold yesterday. The last sale was made at $8,100. Earlier sales were made at $8,500 and $8,000. Early this week a membership sold for $9,000.

CHICAGO EXCHANGE SEEKS REGISTRATION UNDER CONTROL LAW

Michael J. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Stock exchange, yesterday sent letters to all corporations with securities listed on the exchange asking that they file temporary registration applications with the exchange before Sept. 12 so that they may be submitted to the securities and exchange commission by Sept. 15 as required by the recent federal legislation.

In his letter, Mr. O'Brien pointed out that the exchange is making application for registration as a national securities exchange under the act passed by the last congress.

Mr. O'Brien called attention to the fact that the commission's rulings forbid trading after Oct. 1 in securities not registered with it. He pointed out, however, that corporations need file at present only such reports as they regularly prepare for stockholders and the exchange.

The governing committee of the exchange yesterday approved removal of four issues from its listings and ratified the transfer of a membership to Charles W. Weis Jr., Rochester, N. Y., partner of Graham & Co.

The issues removed were: $4,000,000 in 4 year 6 per cent gold notes represented by participation certificates of Central German Power company of Magdeburg; $450,000 in 7 per cent serial gold notes of Iowa Electric Light and Power company; 104,000 shares of participating preference stock no par value of National Terminals corporation, and 81,600 shares of no par class A stock of Middle Western Telephone company.

LITTLE CHANGE EXPECTED IN CAR LOADING TOTAL

Revenue freight loadings for the week ended Aug. 11 were practically unchanged from the preceding week, preliminary reports indicate. A total of about 610,000 cars is forecast, compared with 611,298 in the week ending Aug. 4.

In the corresponding week of 1933 loadings increased from 613,112 to 622,759. Compared with that total, last week's loadings would be down 2 per cent. In the week ending Aug. 4 the decline was 1.5 per cent from the 1933 level.

Small increases in trafic, compared with Aug. 4, were recorded by most of the early roads, including the Santa Fe, Milwaukee, North Western, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Burlington, and Gulf Coast lines among the western carriers and the Chesapeake and Ohio and Nickel Plate in the east. These gains were barely offset by losses on the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Norfolk and Western, Wabash, Pere Marquette, and International Great Northern.

Previous years show no clear seasonal trend between the first and second week of August. In 1933 there was a rise of 10,000 cars; in 1932 a gain of 16,000; 1931, a drop of 22,000; 1930, a drop of 14,000; 1929, a decline of 13,000; 1928, a decline of 5,000; 1927, a gain of 26,000. In five of the last ten years there has been a rise at this season. The average of ten years was an advance of 0.3 per cent.

Reserve Bank Makes First Industry Loan

The first actual cash to be disbursed in the Seventh federal reserve district in the reserve board's nation-wide campaign to aid industry took place yesterday when three checks totaling $101,500 were sent to three companies —two in Chicago and one in Iowa. Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago declined to disclose the names of the companies getting the money.

It was learned, however, that two of the advances were inconsequential —one being for only $800. The one larger loan amounted to more than $90,000.

Up to the end of last week only $28,000 had actually been disbursed in the country as a whole in the loan drive which was hailed as an effort to aid industries having need for capital, thereby contributing to employment.

Advisory Group Approves Loan.

The granting of loans in the Chicago reserve district, which embraces the greater parts of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa, is in the hands of an advisory committee which passes on the applications. Max Epstein, chairman of the board of the General American Transportation corporation, is chairman of the committee which confers with the reserve bank officials once a week.

At the close of last week the committee had approved 27 applications involving a total of $1,635,000. Following approval by the committee, directors of the reserve bank must add their sanction, following which appraisers for the board examine the property of companies asking loans to see there is a good chance of getting the money back.

Doubt Success of Drive.

Considerable skepticism has been expressed in the financial district regarding the success of the loan drive. Financial authorities point to the fact that the banks are loaded with money which they would be only too glad to lend provided the security was good. The federal reserve is no more anxious to make poor loans than the banks.

The Chicago district so far has had the best record in the loan campaign, with the New York district second. In the latter district loans totaling about $1,000,000 had been approved by the advisory committee up to the end of last week.

B. F. Goodrich Reports Net Increases During 6 Months

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—B. F. The figures are after charges and taxes and loss of $93,058 in foreign exchange. This compares with profit of $870,577 in the first half of 1933, which included profit of $2,303,798 arising from the purchase of company bonds, $746,126 arising from appreciation in foreign exchange and after deducting depreciation, interest, taxes and approximately $650,000 of non-recurring charges.

Railways Lose Move to Block Pension Law

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—An assessment of $125,000 for administrative expenses incident to operation of the new railroad retirement act was levied upon the railroads of the country today by the federal board recently set up to carry out the law.

Issuance of the order was the first to be promulgated by the board. It followed the refusal of Justice James M. Proctor in the District of Columbia Supreme court, to grant a temporary injunction restraining operation of the law pending legal action by the major railroads of the country seeking its complete annulment on constitutional grounds. The roads estimate enforcement of the law will add $60,000,000 to their operating costs on an annual basis.

Proctor Gives Reasons.

Justice Proctor held that no showing had been made to justify the issuance of a restraining order forbidding the pension board to take action under the law. The court was informed that the board proposed to issue the order calling for maintenance money from the railroads and another order asking for the names of railroad employes who will have reached the age of 70 by Feb. 1, 1935, and who must retire from service at that time.

Neither order, the court decided, would inflict serious damage on the railroads. Justice Proctor said the roads were free to ask for a restraining order against other orders that might be issued.

Will Apply Law.

Justice Proctor indicated that he will push the case to a conclusion in the lower court as soon as possible, so that a final decision might be obtained from the Supreme court of the United States. In the meantime, the pension board will proceed with its preliminary work of applying the law. After hearing the case on the merits the lower court will decide whether or not a permanent injunction should be issued forbidding further action by the board. A hearing will be held in September.

R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, headed a counsel committee acting for 150 railroads which had attacked the pension law on the ground that it violated the commerce clause of the constitution and also the fifth amendment by depriving the carriers of property without due process of law.

RFC AIDS NORTH SHORE BANK TO PAY 25% DIVIDEND

Depositors of the Hubbard Woods Trust and Savings bank will receive another dividend of 25 per cent within a week or ten days. Preparation of checks amounting to almost $45,000 was begun yesterday. This will bring the total distribution to 55 per cent, or nearly $100,000.

Money for the current payment was obtained through a loan of $22,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, collection of $18,000 on stockholders' liability, and other receipts.

The Hubbard Woods receivership has one of the better records in Cook county closed bank cases now. More than 80 per cent of all money collected has gone to various classes of creditors, compared with the county average of 68.3 per cent. In addition to the dividend, $42,200 has been paid in preferred and secured claims. Total receipts have amounted to approximately $170,000. Attorneys for the receiver have received $3,500 for services from the bank's closing on Feb. 16, 1932, to Jan. 1, 1933. Fees since that date have not been disbursed.

AVIATION CORP. REPORTS LOSS FOR HALF YEAR

Consolidated net loss of the Aviation corporation and its subsidiary companies for the six months ended June 30 was $1,144,634, compared with a profit of $321,057 for the same period of last year, it was reported yesterday.

Mail revenue for the period was $719,709 compared with $2,665,525 for the first half of 1933; passenger revenue was $748,366 compared with $805,022 in 1933 and total transportation revenue was $1,530,137 compared with $3,523,261 for the period in 1933.

The number of revenue passengers carried was 42,909 during the period compared with 48,506 for the 1933 period.

AM. TELEPHONE DECIDES TO PAY USUAL DIVIDEND

Distribution About $42,000,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—A $42,000,000 cash dividend distribution to holders of American Telephone and Telegraph company stock was voted by the board of directors today. It represents a quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share on the 18,662,275 shares of stock outstanding. The dividend is payable Oct. 15 to shareholders of record Sept. 15.

The decision of the directors to maintain the regular dividend rate was no surprise even though it was generally known that the company was not earning its dividend. Again the company drew upon surplus. The statement for the first half of this year revealed that the Bell system as a whole had earnings equal to $3.32 a share on American Telephone stock. This compared with $4.50 a share paid in dividends.

Installations Rise.

This comparison of per share earnings, however, did not fully reflect the important gains made by the system in the matter of telephone installations. In the first half of 1933 the system lost 612,000 telephones, but it gained 190,000 net in the first half of this year. The fact that July brought a net loss of telephones was not regarded as a reversal of the trend, as July is normally a poor month.

The American Sumatra Tobacco company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents. Crown Willamette Paper company voted $1 on account of accumulations on its $7 cumulative first preferred stock. This payment on arrearage is the same made in the last quarter, leaving accumulations of $10.50 a share.

Declares $1 Extra.

Great Western Electro-Chemical company declared an extra disbursement of $1 on the common stock.

Helena Rubinstein, Inc., declared dividend of 25 cents per share of accumulations on the $3 dividend preference stock, reducing arrearage to $4.50.

Directors of the Texas corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the capital stock. American Cigar company authorized its usual quarterly dividend of $2 on the common stock.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL PROFIT RISES 400 PCT.

Net profits of International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., for the six months ended June 30 were $10,012,642, compared with $1,862,888 for the same period in 1933. After provision for preferred dividends, the profit for each three months was equal to 62 cents a share, according to a report mailed to stockholders last night.

While total income jumped from $4,519,188 to $14,967,665 for the six months, taxes skyrocketed to a 1934 figure of $1,595,574. This is almost six times the amount paid during the first half of 1933.

The balance sheet reflects purchase of additional shares of the Ontario Refining Company, Ltd., and further reduction in the outstanding debenture stock of British subsidiaries. More than 5 millions was involved. Despite these outlays and the two dividends amounting to almost three millions, cash increased to $15,961,243 as of June 30, compared with $14,085,610 on Dec. 31, 1933.

STOCKS UNEVEN IN FEATURELESS MARKET SESSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—There was little in the outside world's doings to stir the stock trader's pulse today and market operations provided little in the way of headline material. Speculators tried without great success to work up a "boomlet" in building construction shares, using the wide newspaper publicity of the home loan activities of the banks and the government as a prodding pole. The declaration of the regular quarterly $2.25 a share dividend on American Telephone and Telegraph stock attracted some interest to the utilities group, but outside of these divisions the list was content to drift. Closing figures were mixed, with the leaders generally slightly under their previous finals. Silver mining issues came off the worst, due to profit taking by traders who had ridden them up on the latest surge of inflationary enthusiasm. U. S. Smelting gave up more than 2 points and the others sagged proportionately.

Brings Fresh Buying.

Announcement of the telephone dividend action brought enough fresh buying into the stock to boost it about a point. The board's action has been generally anticipated, but the street has met with so many disappointments in its calculations in this New Deal era that it breathed easier when the question was settled. Some commentators had been looking forward to the dividend action as a factor of considerable importance in determining the market's immediate future. Other shares of the group held firm.

Buying in the building shares sector centered in Johns-Manville and American Radiator. These leaders failed to attract much attention, however, the view apparently being taken that the gap often is wide between a bank loan and an order for building shares.

Transit Issues Strong.

New York subway and elevated stocks and bonds again were active and strong. The market is trying to guess what might be had from unification, with the city arranging the prices, and doubtless the higher prices go before plans are drawn up the better the terms that can be obtained. Motor shares were firm, but farm implements were depressed. Tobacco shares had a good rise on assurance from the government that the crop surplus was no more.

Steel shares drifted, being hurt somewhat by poor publicity in the trade journals.

Railroad shares experienced a few uneasy moments on news of the refusal of the court to grant the temporary restraining injunction order sought by the railroads against the new pension law. Leading carriers such as Atchison, New York Central, and Southern Pacific dipped 1 to 2 points on that news in the early afternoon, but later rallied.

ZION NET PROFIT DECLINES DURING FIRST SIX MONTHS

Receivership operation of Zion Institutions and Industries, Inc., for the six months ended June 30 resulted in a net profit of $28,979 as compared with $71,087 for the first seven months of the receivership beginning June 1, 1933. The Zion group has reorganization pending under terms of the amended bankruptcy law, the appointment of Fred E. Hummel, 100 West Monroe street, as trustee being made permanent on Aug. 6.

The decline in net is attributed to "unusual competitive price conditions" in the candy and baking industries that previously were profitable. Effort is being made to increase prices and promote sales, Mr. Hummel said.

Amounts due creditors are placed at $695,863. This does not include claims of holders of Zion Estate notes of $547,288 and of Zion Institutions and Industries [Wilbur Glenn Voliva] notes of $161,182, liability for both of which is being contested.

PROPOSAL TO PEG COTTON LIFTS FUTURES $1 A BALE

A recommendation made to the administration by Senator Bankhead that the government peg cotton at a minimum of 13 cents per pound, and a statement by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. G. Tugwell that the burdensome surplus had been nearly wiped out, started a buying movement in that commodity yesterday which sent prices up nearly $1 per bale.

Scattered liquidation developed at the start owing to uncertainty regarding developments at Washington, but this vanished later. The government weekly crop summary was construed as decidedly bullish on conditions in Texas and Oklahoma. Closing trades were at net gains of 11 to 18 points here, and 12 to 17 points in other markets. Spots advanced 15 points with New Orleans, 13.45 cents; Galveston, 13.35 cents; Houston, 13.40 cents, and New York, 13.60 cents per pound. Prices follow:

LARD RECOVERS EARLY LOSS; STOCKS INCREASING

Early weakness in grains led to free selling of lard futures by commission houses, but the offerings were absorbed by new buyers and, with lack of pressure from hedgers and packers, the losses were generally recovered. The close was unchanged to 5 cents lower. Liverpool lard advanced 3d to 1s 6d. Continued upturn in hogs had considerable influence on sentiment, which continues largely in favor of higher prices.

Local lard stocks increased 1,400,000 pounds during the first two weeks in August and an aggregate of 135,600,000 pounds, compared with 126,700,000 pounds last year. Stocks of meats decreased slightly and are less than half of the supply on hand last year. Dry salted bellies for future delivery reflected the good demand for cash meats and closed 12½ cents higher with prices in new ground for the season. Cash lard closed at $8.27; loose at $7.75; leaf at $8, and bellies at $11.80. Prices follow:

SELLING WAVE CAUSES DROP IN BUTTER, EGG FUTURES

A wave of selling sent butter futures off ½c and eggs ⅝c on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Potatoes were unchanged.

Butter and eggs were opened slightly lower and sold off sharply, at one time showing losses equal to all of the previous day's gains. Near the close buyers became more numerous, and the market rallied. Rain over the production states coupled with talk of the possibility of some government restriction on prices of foods, although no mention has been made of any specific commodities, had some effect at the start. Later, buying developed on continued bullish statistics.

Sales: Butter, 118 cars; eggs, 220 cars; potatoes, 7 cars. Prices follow:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—Listed bonds made further strides on the road to recovery today, with United States government bonds again assuming leadership. Volume totaled $12,360,000, par value, against $12,988,000 on Tuesday.

Treasury issues jumped 2/32ds to 14/32ds of a point, with the Federal Farm Mortgage and Home Owners' Loan issues mounting 6/32ds to 14/32ds of a point for the day. Dealers reported much of the short interest in the market sought cover.

Corporate Bonds Strong.

Domestic corporation bonds took their cue from the market for government issues, many climbing 1 to 6 points. A feature of the day was the sharp rise in obligations of Interborough Rapid Transit and Manhattan Railway, reflecting reports that progress is being made toward transit unification. The I. R. T. issues jumped 1¼ to 6 points, establishing a new high for the year for each issue. Manhattan Railway first 4s moved up 2⅛ points and the certificates 4 points.

Best average gains in the domestic corporation list were scored by the utility issues, with the rails and industrials gaining in that order.

Foreign Loans Dull, Lower.

Foreign loans continued dull and were a shade lower. German government 7s and 5½s were both down half a point and French government liens closed easier. Latin American issues fluctuated within narrow limits.

The recovery in domestic bonds was extended on the curb exchange, with the maximum gains ranging up to more than 6 points. Foreign loans showed better strength than issues of this classifications on the big board.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today. The only sales reported was 18,000 bags of excess Philippines for September shipment at Bwmye to an outport refiner.

The undertone was easy and nearby Cubas were offered at concessions of 2 points from last spot sales, or at 3.32c, but refiners showed no general interest above 3.25c.

Fluctuations in futures were confined to a range of 1 to 2 points and after an early decline of 1 point on some positions, there was a partial rally on covering and increased outside buying of distant positions, with the market closing 1 point net lower to 1 net higher. Sales were 17,350 tons. Prices:

Investors' Guide: Have you any information as to the earnings of Mohawk Hudson Power in New York?—W. L. M.

STEEL OUTPUT DROPS SHARPLY TO 22 PER CENT

Industry Is Mystified by Events at Washington.

Reflecting the disturbances within the steel industry, attributed in part to recent moves of the administration, tin mill operations have receded from 65 to 52 per cent of capacity, while steel ingot production has dropped from 27½ to 22 per cent of capacity, Iron Age states. The tin plate division had experienced a sharp spurt as a result of plans to can a large part of the drouth area cattle.

It is said that the steel industry "makes no pretense of understanding the nationalization of silver, although fearing that it forbodes dangerous inflation." In the scrap market there is a growing disinclination to sell because of the possible advantage of holding commodities.

The trade is said to have abandoned hope of any substantial improvement in orders during this month, but looks for a rebound in September. The operation of seasonal forces and the accumulation of deferred stock replacements are relied upon to bring this about rather than any extraordinary measures initiated by the government.

Certain Demands Improve.

A certain trace of improvement has been noticed in the demand for a number of leading rolled products, including strips, tubular products and sheets, but no broad buying movement for replenishment has yet developed. Bookings in certain market centers have fallen to the lowest level since the depression set in, it is reported. At other points specifications are running well above those of July, although it was a low month.

It is expected that the federal housing program may result in the movement of fair quantities of cast iron pipe, merchant pipe, radiation, ranges, heaters, and sheet metal gutters and leaders.

Operations are down 5 points to 14 per cent at Pittsburgh, 2 points to 29 per cent at Chicago, 15 points to 37 per cent in the valleys, and 14 points to 10 per cent in the Cleveland-Lorain district. Ford is sustaining the high rate of 76 per cent at Detroit, and output elsewhere is substantially unchanged.

Delay New Models.

Motor car builders have delayed introducing new models due to the continued public acceptance of the current models. Confidence on the part of the industry is shown by the action of General Motors in going ahead with the construction of a Chevrolet assembly plant and a Fisher body plant at Baltimore, with a capacity of 80,000 units a year.

Ford company is operating all of its open harth furnaces this week and is storing large quantities of semi-finished steel and bars. Present accumulations are estimated at 50,000 to 80,000 tons, which is somewhat of a mystery to the steel trade, since it is believed that initial operation of the Ford continuous sheet mill is yet some months off. It is indicated that Ford may be using this means of emphasizing independence of the steel trade and disapproval of code price advances.

The Iron Age composite for heavy melting steel has receded from $10.33 to $10.17 a ton, a new low for the year, due to a break in the scrap market at Pittsburgh. Pig iron and finished steel composites are unchanged at $17.90 a ton and 2.124 cents a pound, respectively.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

The municipal bond market yesterday was reported as being stronger in feeling, with little action displayed, however. One dealer stated that buying continues to be selective, with the chief interest centering on high grade short term maturities. Long term bonds of the state of Illinois showed some improvement yesterday, being offered on a basis to yield 3.35 per cent, compared with 3.40 per cent on the preceding day.

An issue of $120,000 St. Joseph, Mo., refunding bonds was purchased yesterday by Halsey, Stuart & Co. at 106 for 4½ per cent bonds. The bonds, which mature from 1939 to 1954, are being offered at prices to yield 3 to 3.75 per cent. The Harris Trust and Savings bank and the Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, made the second highest bid with an offer of 103.77.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. purchased $135,000 of Oswego, N. Y., 3.90 per cent emergency relief bonds for 100.16. Maturing from 1935 to 1944, the bonds are being offered at prices to yield 1.50 to 3.80 per cent.

City of Chicago corporate tax anticipation warrants Nos. 1036-A 94-100, levy of 1932, and Nos. 1428 to 1430, levy of 1929, were called for payment yesterday by R. B. Upham, controler. Interest on the warrants will stop on Aug. 22.

Officials of the city of Yonkers disclosed that approximately 54½ per cent of the 1934 tax bills have been paid and that collections to date total about $6,875,000. The city now has $212,000 available in cash and may make payment of half a month's salary to city officials and employés in about a week.

The village board of East Rockaway, Long Island, N. Y., authorized the sale of an issue of $14,000 of bonds for the installation of a drainage system.

The city of Cisco, Tex., which has been in default on its bonded debt totaling approximately $4,800,000 since 1929, is now considering a new debt readjustment plan which has just been submitted by the bondholders' protective committee. The plan calls for the issuance of 30 year refunding bonds for the past due principal and interest, with a graduated scale of interest beginning at 1 per cent for the first year.

The city of Boston, Mass., awarded a new issue of $1,000,000 of temporary loan notes, dated Aug. 17 and due Dec. 17, 1934, to the Marine Trust company of Buffalo. PEOPLES TRUST DEFENSE GROUP PICKS LAWYERS

The law firm of Seyfarth & Leonard, 208 South La Salle street, has been retained to represent the stockholders defense committee of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank in contesting the suit of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company to recover $5,576,041 under stockholders' liability.

Robert Olson, president of the Central Paving company and chairman of the committee, made the announcement yesterday. He said the committee now is functioning actively with the support of a large number of the stockholders.

The action arose out of the closing of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank when a loan of $16,421,642 was negotiated with the Continental bank to pay depositors in full. The latter bank contends that collateral proved to be short five and a half millions, including interest. The "defense committee" has raised the question of whether the Continental bank properly may be considered a creditor and eligible to sue for stock liability.

PLAN TO SURVEY SEED NEEDS OF ILLINOIS FARMS

Conservation Committee Is Announced.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—A state-wide emergency plan to survey the available supply of farm seed in Illinois and to ascertain the probable future seed needs of farmers in the drouth stricken counties of the state was launched today with the announcement of a state seed conservation committee by W. L. Burlison, acting dean of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

The appointment of the committee marks the first step in an effort to help farmers in western and northern Illinois who have been unable to harvest sufficient crops to supply seed for their 1935 plantings. Those who will serve on the committee are W. W. McLaughlin, director of the state department of agriculture; W. E. Riegel, prominent farmer of Tolono, and J. C. Hackleman, chief of crop extension at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Faces Serious Shortage.

"Illinois is faced with one of the most serious feed and seed shortages in her history," said Dr. Burlison when announcing the committee. "Prolonged, severe drouth in the west and the continued hot, dry weather in our own state have resulted in severe crop losses which in turn are certain to cause a shortage of seed for the 1935 crops.

"Crops most seriously threatened are oats, barley, and tame. In sections of the state the corn, oat, and barley crops of 1934 were among the shortest in history. This, together with the relatively small seed reserves on many Illinois farms, emphasizes the importance of hasty action in order to conserve the already short supplies."

Estimate Spring Needs.

It is estimated that before planting time next Spring Illinois farmers will need approximately 11 million bushels of oats and a million bushels of corn to plant their 1935 crops. In addition, they will need some 2,250,000 bushels of soy beans and cowpeas to be seeded for the production of grain. Other tame hay seed needs will be 12 million pounds of clover and timothy, 10 million pounds of sweet clover, and 1 million pounds of alfalfa.

The committee, points out Dr. Burlison, will not buy or sell seed. Acting in coöperation with local and county farm groups, it will attempt to list all possible sources of seed supplies in the state and to ascertain the probable needs of farmers in the drouth areas. Farmers who do not have enough seed for their needs and do not know of possible sources will be asked to register their wants with county farm advisers.

Likewise, those who have a surplus of good seed from either 1932 or 1933 crops will be asked to list it with the county farm adviser, who in turn will notify the state conservation committee.

ISSUE FURTHER UTILITY BOND DEPOSIT CALL

The committee representing first lien bonds of the United Public Utilities company, subsidiary of United Public Service company, is asking for deposit of a sufficient additional number of bonds for the required two-thirds to give effect to a plan of reorganization under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act. Holders are requested to make deposit before Sept. 30, 1934.

The United States District court for the northern district of Illinois, eastern division, has taken jurisdiction over the property of the company and of United Public Service company, and in an order entered Aug. 7, 1934, has tentatively, and subject to final confirmation, declared the proposed plan to be fair and equitable and has directed that steps be taken to present the plan to the creditors and security holders of the company.

HOGS CONTINUE RAPID RISE ON SHORT SUPPLIES

Prices Near 3 Year Peak; Cattle Improve.

Hogs soared to new high levels in lively fashion yesterday as available slaughter supplies at all leading packing centers continued to drop and some of the main distributing points were confronted with the shortest stocks of fresh pork they have experienced in many months. Advances of 15 to 25 cents here carried quotations to the highest levels in almost three years.

Including the processing tax, packers paid the highest August prices in four years and almost three times what hogs cost them at the low time of the depression in the hog market, in December, 1932. In this time the farmers' return per cwt. have been more than doubled.

Selected 220 and 260 pound butchers cost $8.40 yesterday, of which the farmer obtained $6.15, as against a top of $4.65 a year ago yesterday. These hogs were comparable to the kinds selling to packers as low as $3 twenty months ago, which was the 54 year low for hog prices. Current prices indicate advances of $1.30 to $1.50 in less than three weeks and gains of $2.40 to $2.55 compared with seven weeks ago.

Fresh Pork Rises.

Including the tax pork is being moved on a basis of $3.75 to $3.95 higher live costs than in August, 1933. Fresh pork loins yesterday sold up to 17 cents, equaling the highest price since September, 1933. This cut of the hog has gone up 36 per cent in three weeks influenced by cooler weather and the shorter supplies at all points.

There has been a decrease of 29 per cent in the receipts of hogs at the eleven markets this week compared with a week ago and supplies are running among the lightest on record for this season of the year. The total for the first half of the week shows a decrease of 25 per cent compared with a year ago.

Yesterday's bulk of hogs cost within a range of $7.25 to $8.30, tax included, with the farmers' returns ranging from $5.00 to $6.05 for the bulk. Of the $7.85 average paid by packers, farmers obtained $5.60.

Cattle Tone Is Better.

Generally there was a better tone to the cattle trade here yesterday, but little if any price improvement was found except in a meager share of the good kinds selling at $8.50 and above. However, better action was noted in most of the classes eligible to sell at $6 and above. Some of the lower grades indicated a show of strength at the start, but this was replaced later by weakness and slight declines were uncovered in the later rounds in sales of grassy stock. Cows continued to drag at the week's 50 to 75 cents decline, some sellers carrying stock since Monday that went over again unsold because of the condition of the trade in butcher stock.

Choice Steers at $9.

Choice 1,200 to 1,243 pound steers topped the price list at $9, while the bulk of corn fed stock sold at $5 to $8, comparatively few getting above the top figure. Numerous sales of grassy natives and southwesterns were made at $4.50 and below.

The movement of government cattle into Chicago dropped off abruptly yesterday and comparatively small supplies are reported for today, but normal quotas are being handled at other big centers it was reported.

Lamb prices dropped 15 to 25 cents at the opening yesterday, but reacted later and all of the loss was recovered on the afternoon rounds. In fact, the top for the day at $7.10 equaled the highest sale made on the preceding session. City butchers bought selected natives at this figure, while packers did most of their trading around $6.75.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was easier, closing 6 to 15 points net lower with sales at 136 contracts, including 58 exchanges from September to March at 44 points difference.

Realizing and commission house selling, with less demand from refining interests, the barely steady lard market and the setback in grains accounted for the unsettlement.

The late rally in cotton and the further sharp advance in hogs were ignored. Bleachable spot, nominal; September closed $6.73; October, 6.76c; December, 6.95c; January, 7.03c, and March, 7.15c.

MEN
AN OPPORTUNITY WHERE MEN ARE MAKING $100 A WEEK

DO YOU BELIEVE IF GIVEN A CHANCE YOU COULD SUCCESSFULLY OPERATE YOUR OWN BUSINESS? ARE YOU INDUSTRIOUS ENOUGH TO WORK DAY AND NIGHT TO MAKE $5,000 A YEAR?

Here in Chicago we have men representing this company who are in their own business, financed by us, and many are earning a percentage profit of from $35 a week to as high as $916 in four weeks.

Our products are patented and come close to selling themselves. Our electrical hygiene unit is by far the most outstanding — however, we sell airconditioning, concealed heating, electric mixers, etc.

Our Company is rated in millions and operates all over the world and has grown by leaps and bounds because of its unique method of distribution, extremely profitable to our dealers and leaving almost no resistance to the sale.

The men we desire to interview do not have to be business men or salesmen. Our only requirement is good appearance, sincerity, and a willingness to work hard and learn.

Our expansion program will create business opportunities for a few men this week. We have nothing to sell you—you can't invest anything but your time and we want you to know straight from the shoulder that we feel you will consider our business the most outstanding opportunity you have ever investigated.

APPLY THURSDAY, 10 TO 12 NOON, SUITE 206.

MEN.

If you live on the South Side or South Side Suburbs, let me set you up in a profitable business of your own, backed up by our prosperous company.

I have been in this territory exactly eight months and have already set one hundred and eighty-seven men up in business for themselves between Cadillac, Mich., and Mattoon, Ill., and still have thirty-four opportunities left.

I am in control of this territory of a business unique in character merchandising an electrical unit that has no competition, for which there is an ever increasing demand.

If in a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable and trustworthy, and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable. Many of our associates are earning as much as $50 on a percentage basis in a single day, and after they become experienced handling our business received a sizable monthly income, not regulated by the seasons, as ours is a year round business.

Selling experience not necessary, for if you are selected you are thoroughly trained at no expense to you. Some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us.

We stand all the expense of your business, such as rent, light, heat, telephone, help, etc., and in addition to giving you merchandise on open account, carry all of your time payment paper.

You do not invest one cent with us. We finance everything.

Our business is depression-proof, as same has increased every month of the last four years, with 1933 our busiest year. We have thousands of satisfied customers in the territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer, and if you can meet the above requirements, you will be granted a personal, confidential interview, which will quickly determine our mutual interests.

Apply Thursday, between 1 and 3, Suite 404 Maryland Bldg., 741 E. 63d-st. [1 block east of Cottage Grove]. Ask for E. T. Lovell.
